MONDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1989/RABIUL AWWAL 2, 1410 AH

High Performance technology from Japan

TIRES CENTER CO.

P.O. Boz 26191 Safut 13122 Kowalt Tel. 4830915-4830939. Telex: TYRCENT 44473 KT. FAX: 4838140

20 PAGES 150 FILS

NO.7677

African lore Amir in song

NIAMEY, Oct 1, (Kuna): HH the Amir of Kuwait Sheikh Jaber Al Ahmed arrived in this West African nation for a three day visit with which he ends a five-state four that has taken him to Iraq. France. Guinea and Mali.
The Amir, along with the delegation accompanying him, was greeted at the airport by Niger's President Col. Ali Saibou.

The Arab guests was also accorded a colourful popular reception to the tunes of African songs and folklore dances. Saibou later visited the Amir at his residence in the capital where they held talks on bilateral relations and ways of enhancing them and also issues of mutual confern.

Kuwait nod to N-pact

KUWAIT, Oct 1, (Kuna): Kuwait today welcomed the positive co-operation of representatives of the Lebanese people in their current meeting in Tair, Saudi Arabia and hoped that the constructive step would yield positive results.

Planning Minister and acting State Minister for Cabinet Affairs Dr Abdul Rahman Al Awadi told reporters that the cabinet hoped that the expected results would contribute in reaiising aspired-for national Lebanese entente and restore peace and stability to the sisterly state.

Awadi noted that the cabinet has followed with interest the current Tail meetings held at the invitation of the tripartite Arab committee on Lebanon to discuss means of ending the tragic

Situation in the Arab country.

Other political issues and developments on the Arab and international levels were tackled during the weekly meeting held under chairmanship of acting Premier and Foreign Minister Sheikh Sabah Al Ahmed, Awadi went on. The cabinet endorsed a number of draft laws including one approving the international treaty on non-proliferation of nuclear arms, another on the special protocol for marine pollution resulting from exploring and exploiting the continental shelf and economic, commercial and technical agreement with Morocco, the minister elaborated. Another draft law approving the by-laws of the standardisation and measurements authonty was approved.

They listed to reports by a number of ministers on their Activities abroad including one by Oil Minister Sheikh Ali Al Khahfa on Opec's recent monitoring committee meeting in Geneva which approved a one million barrels per day increase in the organisation's overall production.

Sheikh Ali told the cabinet that Kuwait expressed reserva-tions over the quota sharing system, Awadi underlined.

Lanka tables election offer

COLOMBO, Oct. 1. (AP): The governing United National Party said today it was willing to dissolve Parliament and hold new elections if that would help restore peace.

A government statement said the party's working committee made the recommendations to President Ranasinghe Premadasa in hope that the moves would end bloodshed in Sri Lanka.

The President's reaction was not immediately known.

Sn Lanka is caught between guerrilla wars by Sinhalese militants and the radical Tamils. More than 11,000 people have been killed since Tamil insursency for a homeland started in 1983.

Sinhalese militants launched their uprising against the governmeni two years ago after Colombo signed a peace accord aimed at ending the Tamil insur-gency. More than 5,000 others have died in the Sinhalese back-

(Tartler Report Page 7)

Niger greets Amir in song MPSCASI over Syria

Session stormy: Faisal

TAIF, Oct 1, (Agencies): Lebanese lawmakers clashed over Syria's military involvement in their country as they met today in Taif under a new Arab League effort to end 14 years of civil war. In Beirut, police said Christian army units and Syrian-backed Druze militiamen fought a 15-minute battle around the strategic mountain army garrison of Souk Al Gharb.

No casualties were reported in the duel, which strained a week-old, Arab League-brokered ceasefire between Christian forces under Army commander Gen. Michel Aoun, and Syrian troops and their allies. Sixty-two members of Parliament, 32 of them Christian and 30 Muslim, are in the mountain resort of Taif for the deliberations, which began yesterday and were expected to drag on for several days.

Chip off the old block

Ferdinand Marcos, Jr. spoke of unity among the people of the Philippines in his address to the United Filipino Council of Hawaii, his first public appearance since the death of his father Ferdinand. (Reuter wirephoto) (See Page 5)

Let the court decide: Cory

Protest for Marcos' return

MANILA, Oct 1, (Agencies): President Corazon Aquino said today she would follow any Supreme Court order to allow the return of Ferdinand Marcos' body, but was confident the justices would support her ban.

Meanwhile, about 1,000 Marcos supporters marched through Manifa streets and then held a nighttime vigil in front of the military headquarters, urging Aquino to allow Marcos' body to be brought back from Hawaii for

Marcos died on Thursday in Honoluly at age 72. Aquino banned the body from returning on national security grounds and asked the US Federal Aviation Administration to prevent any aircraft from violating her order.

Attorneys for Marcos said they would file a motion tomorrow asking the Supreme Court to reconsider its Sept 15 decision dismissing a petition to allow Marcos to come home. Marcos had lived in exile in Hawaii since he was ousted as president in a popular uprising three years ago that propelled Aquino to power.

In an 8-7 vote, the high court agreed with Aquino that the former president's return "poses a serious threat to national interest. Marcos' lawyers hope the justices will reconsider now that the former president is dead and since the vote on first consideration was so close. "I will certainly respect the decision of the Supreme Court," Aquino said in her weekly nationwide radio programme

today. "And I believe they can arrive at the best decision possi-

She said the ban would be con-tinually reviewed but "at this time there is really nothing so far to make me change my original decision, which is not to allow the return of president Marcos' body.

In a statement today, opposi-"exhaust all peaceful and legal means" to bring home the body of their late leader.

The statement by Marcos' New Society Movement and the Nacionalista Party of Vice-President Salvador Laurel claimed public entition favoured the burial of the former president in the land of his birth."

Following a meeting at the presidential palace yesterday Sen. Neptali Gonzales said Aquino ordered the ban after receiving unspecified intelligence information "of a national security nature." Imekta Marcos is barred from leaving the United States because she has been indicted on racketeering charges in connection with the alleged embezzlement of Philippine government funds. Despite government fears of unrest, the few pro-Marcos rallies since his death have been peaceful. Today, about 1,000 loyalists carried banners in a downtown park urging Aquino to reconsider the ban. They later marched to Camp Crame, headquarters of the Philippine Constabulary, for a Eleven of the 99-seat chamber's surviving deputies did not show up for the meeting, called by a three-member Arab committee as part of a new peace plan for Lebanon.

Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Saud Al Faisal conceded there was a stormy session last night, but added: "We do not regard this as disturbing in any way. In fact it is a healthy sign that all views are aired and opinions expressed."

The sessions are being held behind closed doors at the plush conference palace in Taif, east of Jeddah. Reporters are barred from approaching any of the participants.

Conference sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said that the Syria-Iraq feud, haunted the meetings today.

Aside from the largely Christian-Muslim division at Parliament, internal differences within both camps also appeared Parliament members Najah Wakim, a pro-Syrian leftist and Abdul-Majid Rafie', a reputed pro-Iraqi politician from north Lebanon, "electrified" today's deliberations after an argument over the Syrian presence, the conference sources said.

Ironically, Wakim is a Greek Orthodox Christian, and Rafie' is a Sunni Muslim. Christian deputies had agreed before flying to Taif to veto any attempt to discuss political reforms unless a timetable for a Syrian withdrawal from Lebanon is first worked out.

Damascus has said it will not consider a withdrawal until its Muslim allies are given an equal share of power with the Christians in political reforms they have been demanding since the start of the civil war in 1975.

Muslim parliamentarians argued today that Syria should stay in Lebanon until Israel which invaded the country in 1982 withdraws from a border strip, about six to 10 miles deep, it occupies.
Addressing supporters in Beirut today, Aoun said: "We shall accept nothing now that we have rejected in the past because our demands are indivisable... we have waged war to achieve

He said: "Our only essential goal is to liberate our land and reestablish sovereignty over Lebanon's entire territory. We shall not compromise the blood of our martyrs."

At least 929 people were killed and 2,741 wounded in the latest round of violence, by Lebanese police count.

Blacks challenge homeland system

UMTATA, South Africa, Oct 1, (Reuter): Anti-apartheid leaders joined tribal chieftains in an unprecedented challenge to Pretoria's black homeland policies at the funeral of a tribal chief in the black Transkei homeland today.

And in Orange Free State, tens of thousands of blacks in one of South Africa's poorest townships held a protest march against a government olan to deprive them of citizenship and put them under homeland rule.

Sheer bad luck Police barred newly arrived East Germans from the West German embassy on Sunday, just hours after the last train filled with East Germans from the embassy left for the West.

Czechoslovak police moved in overnight, blocking the approach to the iron front gate and to the back-vard tence that had served as the main entry point to the embassy compound.

Police led off one young man who tried to scale the back fence. Another succeeded, joining an unspecified number of other East Germans still

Picture shows an East German couple hugs their baby after arriving at the Bavarian city of Hof. About 3,000 East Germans were allowed to leave their country on four trains coming from Prague via East (See Page 7)

Kuwait's

US envoy

fears for

Intifada

WASHINGTON, Oct 1 (KUNA): Kuwait's Ambassador to the United States Sheikh

Saud Nasir Al Sabah has expressed fears that the current flurry of diplomatic activity surrounding the so-called election plan is solely aimed at quelling the Palestinian uprising and not directed at their bringing about

Israeli withdrawal or peace in the

In a major policy statement here yesterday before hundreds of Arab-American leaders and elected officials from across the US, the Kuwaiti diplomat also urged the Lebanese to "give peace a chance" if Lebanon is to emerge as an independent and the Arab League effort) might not lend itself to a second chance," Sheikh Saud said.

In his keynote address, the Kuwaiti envoy to the US described the current flurry of political and diplomatic activity towards the so-called election

plans in the occupied territories

as a "semblance of movement" and nothing more than "a shadow of confusion" where a distinction still remains to be made "between rhetoric and action, real intentions and actual

Sheikh Saud also reminded his audience that "in the excitement of the moment, there is a tendency - especially here in Washington — to forget that all the current diplomatic activity would have been literally non-existent today had it not been for the two-year-old Palestinian uprising — the intifada."

He added, "it took the stone-throwing and heroic actions by Palestinian youth and civil disobedience by a whole population to draw the attention of the world to the plight of the Pales-tinians under Israeli occupa-

According to Sheikh Saud.

"the sole objective (of the current elections plan) is not peace or withdrawal, but a mere attempt by Israel to quell the Palestinian uprising and to return the occupied territories to the status quo as they existed prior to the

If the current flurry of cruption of the intifada."

"The current opportunity (by

Middle East region.

unified country.

progress.

tion."

Dhaka visiting

DHAKA, Oct 1, (Agencies): Pakistani Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto arrived today on a threeday visit to Bangladesh, the first by a Pakistani head of government in 15 years. Bangladesh was part of Pakistan until 1971, when it became a sovereign nation after a nine-month war of liberation. Benazir and her husband, Asif Zardari, were welcomed and cheered by hundreds of thousands of people who lined up along the 14-kilometre (nine-mile) route.

Bhutto

She was received by President Hussain Muhammad Ershad at the airport.

Benzir is scheduled to hold talks with Ershad tomorrow. She will travel to the northern town of Jaipurhat to lay the foundation stone of an orphanage Benazir said that Pakistan was determined to help achieve a political solution in Afghanistan. Speaking at a banquet in her honour that was hosted by Ershad, she said, "We shall continue to work for creation of conditions in that country which will enable millions of refugees to return home in dignity and honour.

"We shall continue to work for settlement which allows the Afghan people to exercise their inalienable right of self-determination." Officials said the two leaders would discuss repatriation of 250,000 Biharis, who call them-selves stranded Pakistanis because they supported Pakistan during the 1971 war.

Pakistan says it is still waiting for enough funds to transfer such a large population squatting in camps in Bangladesh to their chosen homeland in Pakistan.

Benazir and Ershad may also discuss the question of assets worth billions of dollars belonging to Pakistan before Bangladesh

Crime of passion

cheers Boy stabs principal

THE principal of Jaber Al Sabah Secondary School in Umm Al Haiman Area was stabbed several times by a secondary student of the school. The incident which took place yesterday, resulted in the principal, identified as Khalil Bahour, being taken to the Al Adan Hospital for treatment.

Eyewitnesses said that the student who arrived early in the morning went to the principal's room to discuss a report written about him by a teacher complaining of his misbehaviour.

It is reported that the principal asked the boy to postpone the discussions until the arrival of the teacher. The boy seemed to have been angered at the postponment and is alleged to have taken a paper-cutter from his pocket and stabbed the principal in the stomach and both hands.

Medical sources reported that the principal received a 15-cm long cut in the belly, including a deep 7-cm long cut on the left hand that severed the nerves. The stomach injury needed 15 stit-ches. The victim Sunday morning was transferred to the Razi Orthopaedic Hospital for further treatment.

Security men rushed to the scene and arrested the 15-yearold suspect. Abdullah Alluqman, director of Ahmadi Educational Area later visited the scene of the crime.

Meanwhile, an educational source at the Ministry severely deplored the act and described it as "an attack on the entire educational body." The source said that the action reflects the low esteem teachers in the society are held.

The accused has been referred to the minors jail for further investigation. Minister of Education Anwar wished him a speedy recovery. The principal told a Seyassah reporter who visited him at Al Razi Hospital yesterday that while he was in his office at 7.00 am on the day of the incident, the student, Nayef, walked into his office and said that one of the teachers had prepared a report on him that could lead to his dismissal from school and that he wanted the principal to intervene.

Al Nouri visited the injured principal at the Al Adan Hospital and

Khalil Bahour

The principal said "I reassured him that he would not be dismissed and that I would personally request the teacher to forgive the incident. However he came close to me and stabbed me in the

He added "I immediately left the office and called for help, and the social studies teacher rushed me to hospital."

Investigations revealed that the suspect student was in love with a girl but his father had refused him permission to marry.

Egypt breaks new ground in sex-change ruling

Sally, a student, was expelled from a male-

CAIRO, Oct 1, (Reuter): Egypt's first publicised sex-change operation was both justified and legal, a state prosecutor ruled today.

His decision ended months of wrangling over the case of 25-year-old Sally in an intensely conservative and mainly Muslim coun-teachings and modern medicine. After undergoing surgery early last year, only medical college run by Egypt's highest religious authority, Al Azhar.

The case made headline news in Egypt and exposed fiercely-argued areas of conflict between conservative interpretations of Islam's

Giza prosecutor Aysar Fouad told Reuters

by telephone he had rejected a charge by Egypt's Doctors' Union that the operation was criminal and contravened both medical ethics and Egypt's Muslim values.

Sally would now be officially recognised as a female and not a male. She would be able to change the sex on her birth certificate and other documents.

diplomatic activity does not yield any positive results, it is not because the Palestinians are not (Continued on Page 7)

US sets up fund for exinternees

WASHINGTON, Oct 1, (UPI): The Senate, responding to the plea of a decorated war hero. Senator Daniel Inouye, Democrat of Hawaii, to do "the right thing," have voted to set up a protected fund to begin paying reparations to Japanese-Americans confined to internment camps in World War II.

Rejecting the warning of Sen-ator Jesse Helms, Republican of North Carolina, that it was violating the budget deficit reduction law, the Senate voted 74-22 to set up an entitlement programme in the federal budget starting in October 1990 to begin paying each camp survivor up to $20,000 each.

More than 50,000 Japanese-Americans, many given only 48 hours notice, were forced from their homes and placed in remote interment camps in the western United States because of the government's concern about their loyalties after Japan bom-bed Pearl Harbour. They lost their property and many died under harsh camp conditions while their sons fought with distinction in Europe.

"History now shows that their only crime was that they were born of parents of Japanese ancestry," Inouye said.

Inouye lost his right arm in fighting in Italy in the war and received the Distinguished Service Cross for heroism. As a youth in Hawaii, he volunteered for the army, unaware of the roundup of Japanese-Americans until he met their sons in training camp on the mainland.

To this day I look back in awe and disbelief," he said to a hushed gallery of visitors, "that they would nonetheless stand up and take the oath to defend the country that was mistreating

Congress voted in 1988 for the government to apologise to the estimated 60,000 survivors and authorised a maximum $20.000 payment to each internee for a total cost of about $1.2 million.

SPECIAL CHARACTERISTICS

Contains all essential plant nutrients.

SAUCI OROUP for Construction Material

Ideal for all plants, all vegetations, all grain fields

Promotes rapid plant growth.

Retains water.

A natural, safe product.

Sales in Soudi Arabia and other countries

DC-9 mistaken as Libyan

Ex-spy's hypothesis on 1980 crash

ROME, Oct 1, (Reuter): A former Italian secret service official has said investigations into the mysterious crash of a passenger airliner in 1980 should include the possibility that it was mistaken for a Libyan plane and

"The hypothesis that an attack was attempted on a plane flying from Tripoli to Warsaw carrying a VIP, for example the Libyan leader (Colonel Muammar) Khaddafi. should be taken seriously." General Ambrogio Viviani said in an interview to be broadcast on Italian radio tomorrow.

An advance copy of the interview with Viviani, a former section head of the Italian secret service, was released yesterday. Controversy over the crash was revived last week when two air force radar operators said that contrary to previous official testimony, the DC-9 was visible on military radar in Sicily when it went into a steep dive.

One of the radar operators told an inquiry last week that he had been told a VIP plane from Tripoli was flying along a route closed to where the DC-9 crashed into thesea, killing all 81 people on board.

His testimony has fuelled allegations of an official cover-up and revived speculation that the DC-9 was shot down in error by an Italian or foreign fighter pursuing an aircraft carrying a senior Libyan figure such as Gadaffi.

Earlier this year, the Italian Defence Ministry said there was no evidence that the Italian Air Force was involved in the crash.

In the interview, Viviani said he was sceptical of statements that the US aircraft carrier Saratoga, anchored northeast of the crash site off Naples, saw nothing on its radar screens.

Wake up lazy!

A friendly peck on the ear from a red-crested duck failed to wake a dozing hanging-bellied pig enjoy-ing his atternoon sun bath at Madrid zoo. The duck soon tired of the pig's company and wandered off.

Grudge may be behind Rogers' van blast

SAN DIEGO, California, Oct 1, (AP): A federal inquiry into the bombing of a van driven by the wife of the skipper of the USS Vincennes has shifted the suspected motive from terrorism to a possible personal vendetta, a newspaper reported today.

Investigators are concentrating on an individual who may have had a grudge against the ship's captain, the Los Angeles Times reported, adding that international terrorism hasn't been ruled out as

Authorities initially interpreted the bombing as a terrorist retribution for the mistaken downing of an

"The Organic Fertilizer for an excellent planting Season."

D) (CO) (PO) 5

 Helps to convert intertile soil into fertile soil. Functions to promote the trace elements

Increases the water retention capacity of sandy soil, thereby preventing sand erosion. And also

BROTHERS GROUP CO. For Trading and Contracting

Tel. 4831811 - 2-3-4 --- Fox: 4817837 --- Telex: 44807 CONSTCO present in soil.

Manufactured by ARABIAN ORGANIC FERTILIZER PLANT CO.

Made in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

helps clay soil ventilate.

Iranian commercial jetliner by the Vincennes, an Aegis-class guided missile cruiser coammanded at the time by Capt. Will Rogers.

Rogers' wife, Sharon, was alone in the van and narrowly escaped injury when it was destroyed

The Times, citing four unnamed sources, said investigators believe the attack may have been the result of an unnamed individual's animosity toward Capt. Rogers. Two sources said the suspect was an American citizen.

Pan Am blunders: Bonn refutes

FRANKFURT, West Germany, Oct 1, (AP): The West German government dismissed this week as "pure speculation" a British TV report alleging West German investigators committed major blunders before the Pan Am bounbing over Scotland in December.

The British Broadcasting Corp. current affairs programme "Pan-orama" earlier had said that one of the major blunders allegedly made by the West Germans was the release of the suspected bomb maker two months before the Pau Am plane was blown up.

"This (report) is pure specula-tion," chief government spokes-man Hans Klein told reporters in Another high-ranking govern-ment official said that nine months after Pan Am flight 103 was blown up over Lockerbie, US, British and West German investigators still have "no clear knowledge" about who may have been responsible for the Dec 21 attack that killed 270 people. Hans Neusel, the No.2 official in the Interior Ministry, also repeated West German doubts that the bomb had been loaded onto the Pan Am plane in Frank-

All 259 people aboard flight 103 from Frankfurt to New York via London were killed, along with 11 people on the ground in Locker-bie.

The flight changed to a Boeing 747 at London's Heathrow air-

Neusel said there was no evidence whether the bomb had been placed aboard the plane in Frankfurt or London and investigators were still in the dark about the kind of detonator used.

In an interview with Deutschlandfunk radio station, Neusel bave found no links between members of a radical Palestinian grou arrested in West Germany is October 1988 and the Pan Am bombing two months later.

"According to the current standpoint of all investigating auth-orities in Scotland and England, in the United States and West Germany, there is no clear knowledge about the perpetrators or about a group," Neusel said.

But he said the attention of investigators was focusing on the radical, Syrian-backed Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command.

West German authorities arrested 16 suspected PFLP-GC members last October but quickly released 14 of them.

Two are still in custody in connection with other bombing charges, including Hafez Kassem Dalkamoni, a top aide to PFLP-GC leader Ahmed Jabril.

In a US television interview last April, Jabril denied that his group had any role in the Pan Am bombing. But he said Dalkamoni often built and used the type of bomb that blew up flight 103. The BBC programme said that igators were convinced that PFLP-GC masterminded the attack. The group has long been the prime suspect.

Among those released in West Germany after the October raid was a Jordanian, Marwan Khreesat. The Panorama programme said Khreesat is a known bomb maker and is widely believed by British and US investigators to have made the Lockerbie bomb and several others.

The programme said Khreesat was now in hiding in Jordan and that the West Germans apparensed the man because he was a double agent who was also working for Jordanian intelligence.
The West German magazine

Stern had a similar report in April. -

Runcie (left) embraces Pope during vespers ceremony at San Gregorio Church. (Reuter wirephoto)

Paisley supporters disrupt sermon

Runcie joins mass

VATICAN CITY, Oct 1, (Reuter): Anglican Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie, ignoring earlier jibes from Protestant dissidents, today became only the second holder of his office to attend a papal mass.

The leader of the world's 70 million

Anglicans, whose remarks on papal primacy within a re-unified Christian church have stirred controversy, had a place of honour on the steps of St Peter's Basilica.

We must never take our separation for granted ... we should never allow our divisions to become tolerable, or worse still, comfortable," he said before the Vatican service at which Pope John Paul led a ceremony for the beatification of 29 people.

The walls of our division do not reach as high as heaven."

Runcie's first official visit to the Vatican has become highly controversial because of his... remarks about the primacy of the Pope. England split with Rome in 1534 over King Henry VIII's refusal to accept papal authority. At joint vespers with the Pope yesterday

Runcie appealed to Anglicans to consider accepting some kind of papal primacy in a reunified church. The Pope stressed that his office had to be more than just that of a figurehead. During the Vatican service, Runcie and the Pope embraced during the exchange of peace in front of the pontifical altar and at the end of the mass they walked side by side into Christendom's largest church. Earlier today, Runcie's sermon at Rome's Anglican All Saint's Church was disrupted by three supporters of Northern Ireland preacher Ian Paisley who called him "archdemon." "Lord archbishop. Your visit and your place at the (papal) mass today is a betrayal of the Protestant reformation," shouted the Reverend Brian Green, general secretary of the British Council of Protestant Christian Chur-

Green, the Reverend David Cassels, the council's vice chairman, and the Reverend David Larner, its treasurer, took off their black clerical jackets to reveal T-shirts which read: "Runcie is a traitor to Protestant Britain."

Ushers hustled the three out of the church and an unperturbed Runcie carried on with his Italian police checked the three men's passports, as well as that of Paisley, who waited for them at their nearby hotel. A Vatican security official said Italian police later made Paisley understand that they did not want him to try to go to St Peter's Square for the papal mass. It was the second time Paisley or his followers have protested against the Rome visit, which, ends on Monday.

In his sermon at the Anglican church Runcie kept up the theme of reconciliation between Anglicans and Catholics. He said it was a scandal that Anglicans and Roman Catholics must celebrate two eucharists to worship one

He told reporters after the earlier service that words on papal primacy.

In the most significant passage of his trip so far, Runcie said at the last night Vespers: "Could not all Christians come to reconsider the kind of primacy the bishop of Rome exercised within the early church, a presiding in love for the sake of the unity of the churches in the diversity of their mission?" Pope today beatified 26 priests, friars and seminarians killed by left-wing republicans forces during the 1936-1939 Spanish civil war. The 26, the latest group of Spanish civil war martyrs to be beatified, were killed between July 23 and Oct 23, 1936.

Video piracy menaces

Asia still the hub

TOKYO, Oct 1, (AP): Quicker than Robin could say "Holy smokes, Batman" counterfeit copies of the smash US movie hit surfaced in the black markets of Thailand. Although efforts to scuttle video piracy have recently strengthened in Asia, it remains the world's hub for counterfeit popular entertainment, copyright experts said yes-terday at a seminar sponsored by the third Tokyo international Film Festival. Video piracy, the illegal taping of copyrighted videos, cost the US film industry 102 billion yen ($740 million) last

Copyright experts and government officials from several Asian countries, including Japan and Hong Kong, reported recent success in controlling heavy video piracy within their borders.

But China, where a video-cassette recorder costs 22 times an average workers' annual income, is only now beginning to face the problem, said Dai Qun, director of the office of the film bureau. China has 26,000 theatres where videotapes are shown to the public - the same number as movie theatres.

In Thailand, video piracy is uncontrollable because copyright laws are not enforced, said Lursak Thavornvanit, director of the Thai Intellectual Property Protection Organisation.

"Barman' surfaced on the Thai black market just days after its US release," he told an audience of about 400 mostly Japanese video makers and distributors.

"It's very difficult for anyone to do a legitimate business because the pirates are so good and so efficient at managing the market, and no one can afford to pay for the legitimate tapes," he said.

Pirated videos, which first appears in 1983, have been illegally duplicated or dubbed, either from legitimate copies or from movie or television screens.

They are sold or rented in video stores at a fraction of the cost of legitimate copies or shown in public places such as hotels and restaurants without payment to the copyright owners, usually the film's producers.

In Tokyo, a legitimate video tape rents for about 1,000 yen ($7), while a pirated copy costs bout 280 yen ($2).

Japan's video watchdog group says the number of shops offering pirated videos has plummeted in the last two

Some 60 per cent to 70 per cent of the 12,000 video stores in Japan sold pirated videos in 1987, but that number has declined to 30 per cent, due mainly to tougher enforcement of copyright laws and a beefed-up law that makes it illegal to possess pirated tapes, says Tomobiro Tohyama, legal director of the Japan Federation Against Copyright Theft. Figures from the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. show a $987 million loss globally to the US film industry from video piracy and trade restrictions in foreign countries. It estimates that piracy will be responsible for 40 billion yen ($285 million) in losses to the Japanese film industry this year. American movies are popular fare in Japan, the US film industry's largest export target. Last year, almost three times as many US films were shown here as Japanese films, according to the MPAA.

The top four grossing films in Japanese history are "ET," "Star Wars," "Jaws," and "Ghostbusters," according to industry statistics.

US entertainment, America's second largest export, has netted $5 billion annually overseas.

In Asia, the hub of the world's illegal video production, "Rambo" can be seen in isolationist Burma and "The Last

Calls to overhaul grants for US schools abroad abroad programme in response to pressure from the Congress. "My interest is in getting people to

WASHINGTON, Oct 1, (AP): Several key members of Congress say it's time to overhaul a $35 million grant programme aimed at helping US-sponsored schools and hospitals

Their assertion is backed up by

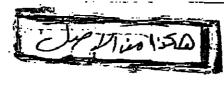

Bingo Day 13

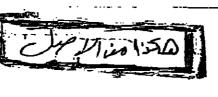

internal State Department records that show administration officials routinely bend the rules in the rethink the programme," said Con-gressman Lee Hamilton, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on the Middle East, the region where many of the programme abuses are Hamilton and Congressman

David Obey, both members of the opposition Democratic Party, recently showed their displeasure with the 28-year-old programme. They ordered the Agency for International Development, which runs it, to with-draw a $1.5 million grant intended for an ultra-orthodox Israeli school that trains teachers for other

Congressman Dante Fascell, also a Democrat and chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, has acknowledged he intervened to help an Israeli school get a grant, but said he now believe the now believe said he now believes the process is out

Thomson dies in sleep

NEW YORK, Oct 1 (AP): Composer and music critic Virgil Thomson died in his home yesterday after a long illness. He was Thomson died in his sleep in the room at Manhattan's Chelsea Hotel where he had lived almost 50 years, said his secretary, Jay Sullivan.

Thomson had a long career as a composer of operas, ballets, orchestral and choral works, as well as film scores and incidental music for plays. He won the Pulitzer Prize for music for his score to the documentary film "Louisiana Story," in 1949 — the only time the Pulitzer has been awarded for a movie score. He worked with several different styles, deriving inspiration

Thompson learned to play piano at age 5 and worked as a from such sources as Baptist hymns and 19th century popular church organist as a teen-ager. In 1922, he graduated from Harvard University and moved to Paris, where he studied with famed music teacher Nadia Boulanger and met the iconoclastic composer, Erik Satie, who was a great influence on him.

Location:

Facilities:

out from the club.

Membership:

Time:

Rd.

REOPLEANDREAGES

FORT WAYNE, Indiana: A 225-pound (102 kg) convenience store clerk foiled a robbery by sitting on a man who demanded cash, then got three customers to take over while he called police.

The clerk, who asked that his name not be used, said the unarmed man threatened to kill him if he did not open a cash drawer carly Wednesday at the Amoco Food

"I said, 'hey, hit the door'," the clerk said. "That's when we started tossing and turning. Stuff was flying everywhere. Before that, the place was looking great. I had just waxed the floor.

The clerk said the man, who weighed about 150 pounds (68 kg), just wanted to forget it" when he found himself on the bottom of the pile. (AP)

LEETSDALE, Pennsylvania: A lost boa constrictor named for rock star David Bowie is back in the ciastroom again. His return to biology class at Quaker Valley high school ended a three-week "vacation" for the snake that bothered this suburb of Pittsburgh.

Someone had "borrowed" David without permission from Ed Schroth's Laboratory, and that same person brought him back, the teacher said this week. No questions were asked, and no reprimands were

David's disappearance prompted nervousness among some nearby residents, who called Schroth to complain about the possibility they might be bitten or chocked to death. But the 6.5 foot (1.98 metre), 19pound (8.6 kg) bo a is small by snake standards and non-venomous, Schroth said. (AP)

Target archery

The Kuwait Archery Federation invites their archery range at the Hunting and Equestrian Club, which is off the 6th Ring

Olympics sized outdoor archery range up to 90 metres. Full sized indoor target range for 25 metres. Full equipment can be hired

Open to all. KD1.000 at the gate each time or KD10.000 for a whole month regardless

4-7 every day except Monday but different

For further information

Please telephone 4717270 ext. 31

between 4-7

of how many times you shoot. A 500 fils shooting charge is levied and hiring of classes are held each day. A detailed schedule can be obtained from the club.

equipment costs KD1.250.

KUWAITI INTERESTS

anyone interested in trying out this sport, to

Older women neglect PAP test

Cervical cancer

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct 1 (Reuter): A study of US women over 40 have developed advanced cervical cancer showed that most never had a PAP tests or waited more than three years between tests while a second study indicated that the tests are keeping down the US rate for the disease.

According to a study released by the US Centres for Disease Control (CDC) about 65 per cent of the women surveyed between the ages of 40 and 69 diagnosed with "invasive" cervical cancer - a form which is frequently fatal - neglected PAP tests.

By contrast, only 15 per cent of women under 39 who developed invasive cervical cancer reported that they had never had a PAP test or had put off having additional tests for more

Overall, the rate of cervical cancer deaths has dropped by 70 per cent since PAP tests were introduced in the 1950s, according to the American Cancer Society.

In a second survey CDC said that cervical cancer accounts for less than three per cent of deaths from cancer among American women, according to the most recent statistics. It is the 11th most common cause of cancer deaths in the United States.

BOYS TOWN, Nebraska: Educating youngsters about drugs and alcohol should be the key in any anti-drug effort, says Boys Town's 16-year-old mayor.

As mayor, Randy McBride said he is able to be more visible to teenagers who may need support fighting drugs, gangs and other problems.

The drugs and the games, they're not just hurring each other. They're hurting the lives of moocent people," McBride, a senior at Boys town high school, said recently.

"This is a bad time for us

(teenagers) because the lure of drugs is so strong and the underground world is really getting bad." (AP)

BEVERLY HILLS, California: Cesar Rossero, Walter Matthau and other celebrities marvelled at film director Billy Wilder's art collection prices the works are expected to bring at auction.

"Marvellous" enthused actor and art connoisseur Vincent Price. "I just wish I could afford them." The paintings which have been hung in Wilder's Wilshire boulevard apartment, are to be auctioned by Christie's in New York in November. Bidders are expected to pay from $5 million to $7 million for a work by Picasse, $1.5 to 2 million for a Mire painting, and between $1.5 to 2 million for a Balthas nude.

"The insurance got too high," added the director's wife, Audrey. " don't worry about theft, but I was concerned about fire. We lost a lot of good things in a fire in Billy's office at Goldwyn Studios." (AP)

NEW YORK: Marlon Brando's performance as a trial lawyer battling South Africa's apartheid system in "a dry white season" won approval from the man considered to be the inspiration for the role.

"He's a great actor, and I was truly moved," George Bizos, a lawyer who has handled some of political cases, said.

Bizos represented Nelson
Mandela in 1963 when the nationalist leader was sentenced to life in prison, and was involved in the inquiry into the death of black activist Steven Biko in 1976.

Bizos, who was attending a conference this week examining a post-apartheid constitution for South Africa, said the film portrays "a compressed reality" of life in the country. (AP) DENVER, Colorado: A couple who won a $6.5 million lottery jackpot put off claiming their prize for a few days. They first had to take care of Forrest and Edna Hiller of Arvada learned today they had won, but did not turn in their ticket until Tuesday so they could cook and can a six-month supply of homemade spaghetti sauce.

"Our tomatoes were at a crucial point where we had to take care of them, or we would have lost them," said Hiller, a 66-year-old retiree. He picked up the newspaper today and checked the numbers. There, just like a bolt out of the blue, those beautiful numbers showed up," he said. "I began to shake a little ... and then I went up to where she was," he said of his 74-year-old wife. "I was a little frightened to know how to tell her for fear she might have a heart attack or something... "Finally, I just broke down and said, well, we hit the big one."

On Tuesday, the couple, who have been married 33 years, received their first annual payment, $123,500 after taxes.

The remaining progressive payments will be made over 25 years, with the last to total $295,347. That payment will come when Hiller is 91 and his wife 99.

TOKYO: Japan's Prince Aya, who left on Tuesday to resume graduate studies in zoology at Oxford University in England, will marry his fiancee next June, the imperial household agency says.

The 23-year-old prince, second son of Emperor Akihito and Empress Michiko, will wed Kiko Kawashima, also 23, in late June. But the exact date has not been set, an agency official said.

Prince Aya is second in line to the throne after his elder brother,

Crown Prince Narshito. He is to resume his second year of study at Oxford's St John's College in mid-

On Sept 12, the 10-member imperial household council, led by Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu, unanimously approved the engagement of Prince Aya and Miss Kawashima. They first met four years ago on the campus of the private Gakushuin University in Tokyo, where Miss Kawashima is in a graduate course in psychology.

The wedding had to wait at least until after January, the end of a one-year mourning period for Aya's grandfather, Emperor Hirohito.

LONDON: Rolling Stones guitarist Keith Richards said he overcame his heroin addiction because he did not want his children to be embarrassed by repeated police raids.

"I was on the run all the time," Richards said about his drug-taking years in the 1970s when he lived with German actress Anita Pallemberg and their two children.

"My kids were growing up getting used to letting in hoards of policemen. There was a knock at the door. Is it room service or is it the cops?" he told British Broadcasting cops?" he told British Broadcasting Corporation radio.

The 45-year-old Richards, known as "the wildest Rolling Stone," was interviewed in New York. The group is on a 41-concert tour in north America. (AP)

EVERGLADES NATIONAL PARK, Florida: Two American kestrels, the product of a surprise union of two injured birds in captivity, have been set free for a life in the wild.

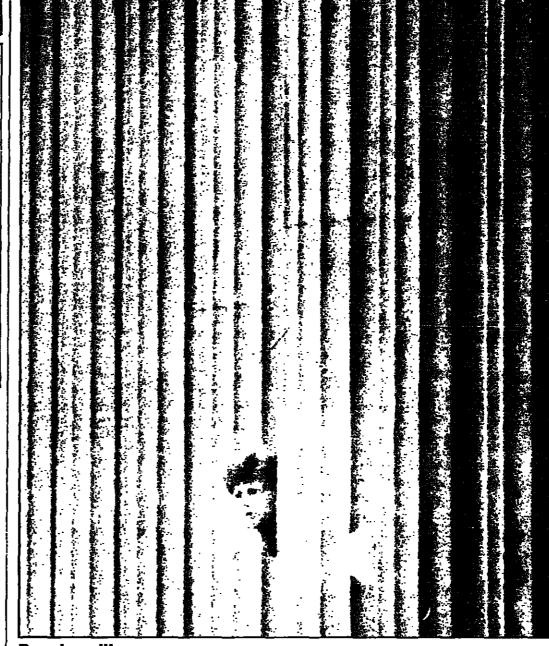

The chicks' parents had been expected to languish in their home at Dreher Park 200 in West Paha Beach, but turned out to be very

"We never expected them to reproduce," said Gail Schneider, zoo executive director. "They came into captivity as adults. That's considered pretty stressful for them. So we didn't pay any attention to their breeding behaviour. And then, lo and behold, the female was sitting on eggs." (AP)

GDANSK: Poland's two living Nobel Prize recipients held a warm reunion, with peace prize laureate Lech Walesa saying the works of literary winner Czeslaw Milosz "shaped me and a whole

Milosz, the poet-essayist who won his Nobel in 1980 after having fled Poland in the 1950s, has long been a supporter of Walesa and critic of communist cultural controls. His books were banned throughout the East Bloc but in recent years became available in Poland and several other countries.

"I was in jail several times for (the deas contained in) Mr Czeslaw Milosz's books," Walesa said.
The two first met in Poland in 1981, during Solidarity's first brief
16-month legal existence that preceded a martial-law crackdown. Walesa received his Nobel two years

Peeping pillars

هكذ اهن الأصل

A young visitor to London's National Portrait Gallery sticks his head out from between a series of pillars lining the front of the gallery. The young man was taking time to look out over Trafalgar Square while queuing up outside the building. (Reuter wirephoto)

Oral sex can spread Aids virus

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 1, (UPI): The first two cases of oral transmission of the Aids virus has been documented by a research team at the San Francisco health department authorities said yesterday.

"The bottom line is that if people have bargained that oral sex is what they're going to do and stay uninfected, we now have direct evidence that it can happen," said Dr George Rutherford, director of the city health department

Although the findings are based on interviews with subjects and not on hard scientific evidence, researchers are "absolutely sure" the gay men studied had contracted the human immunodeficiency virus through oral sex, Dr David Werdegar, city health director, said.

"There have been a lot of questions about oral sex. This indicates it definitely is a risk," Werdegar said. The two cases of HIV virus were turned up during outine blood tests of a large segment of the community's high risk bisexual male population, Werdegar said.

Followup interview determined that the infected individuals' only exposures to three Aids virus were while they performed oral sex on other men, he said.

Protests, pickets against abortion

WASHINGTON, Oct 1 (UPI): Police arrested hundreds of antiabortion activists in Pennsylvania and Wisconsin yesterday during a series of national demonstrations organisers had hoped would be the largest and most peaceful in the movement's Pickets and prayer vigils in most of the estimated 120 cities targetted by anti-abortion forces were conducted without incident throughout the afternoon despite numerous arrests. Some protests fizzled out altogether.

Over 200 chanting demonstrators were arrested in front of two Pittsburgh abortion clinics, and police arrested another 100 protesters at two other clinics in Philadelphia.

Police said 134 people demonstrating in front of the affiliated medical services clinic in Milwaukee were cited for disorderly conduct, trespassing and blocking an entrance.

In Vancouver, British Columbia, a rally outside an old courthouse drew an estimated 1,000 onlookers as organisers called for the federal government to enact a new anti-abortion law.

In Michigan, at least a dozen anti-abortion protesters were arrested at a demonstration outside of a womancare clinic in the Detroit suburb of Lathrup village.
The anti-abortion movement has traditionally scheduled its strongest protest action for the end of September before the Supreme Court reconvenes on the first Monday in October.

Demonstrations yesterday ranging in size from a dozen people to several hundred were held in front of clinics, hospitals and planned parenthood offices from coast to coast. It was the first time the anti-abortionists had targetted planned parenthood, a family planning group base in New York.

Anti-abortionists in Pheonix were met by about 125 abortion rights supporters outside a planned parenthood clinic, but police said the confrontation was

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

For all Education Ministry teachers to buy NATIONAL appliances in easy instalments for 4 months beginning from 1/11/89.

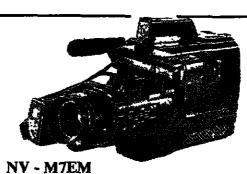

HOW NICE IS LIFE WITH IT ...!

DISTINGUISHED AFTER - SALES SERVICE

Available at all accredited National distributors

Camera video operates with system of VHS tape. Supplied with self focal adjustment for recording and display with possibility for operation with VHS and displaying recorded tapes in advance with same system. Continue display for 4 hours. In addition to an opening for lens 1/1000 and 1/500 of a second. Photographing with faint light. Many other appendixes related to the camera.

NV-MC 6 Camera video operates with system of VHS tape with selfadjusting for recording and display with high fidelity picture specifications (HQ). It records date and time automatically. Quick search about scenes with three different ways of operating through an electrical transformer, car

General agent:

n — junction of 4th Ring Road and Ghaza), Stree

battery and normal battery.

National Panasonic Technics

professionally trained in real estate management is being sought for this position, to manage among other properties the exclusive Massaleh Towers Residential

If interested and feel capable to fill one of the above positions, kindly apply to the address below.

JOB OPPORTUNITY

A self motivated individual, experienced in research and

Economist/Financial Analyst:

His responsibilities shall include:

m Development of an information bank.

financial news-letter.

development.

financial analysis is required to fill this position.

Take part in the production and editing of our

M Advise profit centres and carry out studies related to their activities, in financial services and property

Property Management Supervisor:

An individual that is self-motivated, experienced and

All resumes should include a personal photo and a copy of the latest education certificate.

شركة العسانة الكؤيتية للاستمار المتالي (شيد)

P.O. Box 719 Safat, 13008 Kuwait Tel: 2429635/6/7/8 Fax: 2419713 / Tix: 46608 Deal KT INTERNATIONAL

Fighting

in West

continues

Peru's premier, cabinet resign

LIMA, Oct 1, (AP): President Alan Garcia named his Foreign Minister Uillermo Larco Cox, to be prime minister yesterday replacing Luis Alberto Sanchez who resigned on Thursday.

Garcia said that Larco Cox has served as Garcia's prime minister, and is one of four to hold the post in Garcia's fouryear-old government.

Sanchez, who became prime minister on May 15 of this year, resigned on Thursday to launch his candidacy for re-election to the Senate. He was required by the constitution to resign by Oct 8 to be eligible for next April's election.

In a traditional gesture, the rest of the 15-member cabinet offered their resignations following Sanchez' departure. Garcia said he would name the new cabinet within the next few days after he confers with Larco Cox. Most of the members are expected to be reconfirmed.

There have been numerous cabinet changes since Garcia took office in 1985. He has had six finance ministers, including Cesar Vasquez Bazan, who holds the post now.

Critics have accused Garcia of not allowing his cabinet ministers much say in running their departments and complain the numerous changes in ministers have not resulted in significant policy changes.

Peru is suffering its worst economic crisis of the century, with huge budget deficits and annual inflation running at more than 5,000 per cent. The government is also fighting two leftist insurgent groups, and is locked in battle with drug traffickers.

Celebrated novelist Mario Vargas Llosa is widely favoured to succeed Garcia, whose term ends on July 28, 1989. Garcia is ineligible for re-ejection.

Micaragua: Violeta Barrios de Chamorro has been registered as the presidential candidate of an opposition coalition that will be President Daniel Ortega's main competition in the Feb 25 election.

Mrs Chamorro, publisher of the opposition coalition newspaper La Prensa, arrived at the Supreme Electoral Council with a 15-vehicle caravan of suppor-

"We're going to win," she told reporters as she registered as the candidate of the United National

Lawyer Virgilio Godoy was registered as the vice-presidential candidate of the 14-party

■ El Salvador: El Salvador's leftist guerrillas expect a complete halt in aid from Nicaragua in the wake of last month's Central American peace accords, but they say they will still be able to maintain themselves as a fighting

'We expect the Nicaraguans to comply with the peace accords not 100 per cent, but 101 per cent," said Miguel Saenz, a mem-ber of the Farabundo Marti National Front's politicalmilitary commission, in an inteview with the Associated

Wenezuela: Acting Interior Minister Nerio Rauseo has ordered an investigation into allegations of phone-tapping of government officials which appeared in a local newspaper, officials said.

Rauseo has ordered the Department of Intelligence (Disip) to look into the accusations made by the newspaper, El Diario de Caracas.

According to the report, the editors of the daily received a folder stamped 'top secret' with transactions of telephone conversations of people at the top levels in politics, including the president.

■ Mexico: President Carlos Salinas de Gortari begins his first official visit to Washington at a time when US-Mexican relations are stronger than they have been

Salinas said he hopes the closer ties will translate into economic "Mexican nationalism no longer has to feed on anti-US feelings," said an official close to the president. "Anti-Americanism is no longer a valid issue in the Mexican political debate."

■ The Mexican attorney-general's office has begun an inves-tigation into the assassination of a well-known defence lawyer and a spokesman termed 'speculation' reports that he was connected to the Colombian cocaine cartels.

Carlos Morales Garcia, known for defending accused major drug dealers, was shot to death on Thursday as he drove away from a court appearance with accused drug lord Felix Gallardo. Unidentified men in a van fired 10 bullets into him.

Cocaine warehouse looted

Bizarre footnote to historic seizure

LOS ANGELES, Oct 1, (UPI): Looters and scavangers ransacked the warehouse where authorities made the world's biggest drug bust, carrying off Mexican ceramics and other merchandise stored with the 20 tonnes of cocaine seized by federal agents.

INTERNATIONAL

Authorities said a rollup steel door was left unlocked at the warehouse in Sylmar and the looting began about 4.30 am yesterday (1130 GMT), just after the last of the cocaine had been taken away. Dozens of people tore through stacks of boxes of cheap statues, velvet paintings and Mexican pinatas before igents returned in the afternoon and locked the warehouse.

"There's no obvious method of entry, no sign of forced entry. We just have to assume they pushed the door open," police officer Brett Papworth said.

"There has been a steady stream of people all day long. They're just thrillseekers in my opinion," said Keith Burgess, who worked through the night at a business next to the warehouse and saw the swarm of looters carrying off the goods that had provided a cover for the drug-trafficking business.

A Drug Enforcement Administration spokesman said nothing of evidentiary value was left behind after authorities removed the

The looting or souvenir-hunting served as a bizarre footnote to the historic seizure and arrests announced on Friday. The 20 tonnes of cocaine -- about five per cent of the world's annual production — was given a retail value up to $20 billion. Cartons containing more than $10 million in cash also were seized in the operation, which began just days ago with a tip from a neighbourhood businessman who noticed suspicious activity. Police in Huntington Park, one of the suburban cities whose officers joined in the raid, said last night seven people had been arrested, including three in Las Vegas. DEA spokesman Raiph Lochridge said the three men, including a father and son, were arrested on Friday at the Flamingo Hilton.

Agents from Los Angeles and Las Vegas-arrested Carlos Tapia Ponce, 68, his son, tractor Edwards Tapia Ponce, 14, and Hector Hector Eduardo Tapia Ponce, 34, and Hector

Tapia, 66, about noon. Authorities said all three were from Los Angeles. Carlos Tapia Ponce was identified as a former Mexican customs official.

Deputy district attorney Curt Hazeli told the Los Angeles Times that Carlos Tapia Ponce had rented the warehouse and was the apparent director of the huge drug-smuggling operation.

The three are scheduled for arraignment in Los Angeles federal court on Monday on drug trafficking charges.

Identifies have not been released on the other four suspects, who are Spanish-speak-ing and claim to be from Mexico, police said.

Cartel

keeps up wave of bombing

BOGOTA, Oct 1, (Agencies): A suspected leading drug trafficker has been arrested in Ecuador in the biggest success of Colombia's five-week old crackdown on drug barons but a wave of bombings continued in the Colombian

Evaristo Porras is said to be close to the chieftains of the Medellin Drug Cartel and is believed to be sought by the United States for extradition on drag-trafficking charges.

He was being held in the town of Tulcan in northern Ecuador about 15 km (10 miles) from the Colombian border where he was arrested on Thursday, an Ecuadorean government official in Quito told

Porras's arrest could not be

The Ecuadorean spokesman said no details of the arrest would be released but added Porras, believed to be in his 40s, would be handed over to Colombian auth-

In-1984, Porras was detained in Colombia and sentenced to two years in jail for illegal possession of firearms. He appealed the sen-tence and was freed two months

In January 1987, he was again arrested in the Caribbean Island of San Andres on the charge of illegal possession of firearms. A after, saying there was no case

Porrass's name first appeared ister Rodrigo Lara Bomilla.

in 1984 on a cheque for one million pesos ($12,000) written to Justice

The ploy later appeared as an attempt to discredit Lara Bonilla, who was murdered a few mouths ordered his release shortly immediately confirmed by Colombian authorities in Bogota.

denters vesterday.

orities soon.

Gun-toting worker

Chan Bourn, 26, a worker at a sack factory, poses with his Soviet-made machine gun during a militia practice. Khmer Rouge guerrillas say they plan to try to take Battambang now that the Vietnamese troops have pulled out of Cambodia. (Reuter wirephoto)

Czechs tipped as Nobel winners

Woman may get literature prize

STOCKHOLM, Oct 1, (Reuter): Two Czechoslovak dissidents are tipped as likely winners of the 1989 Nobel Peace Prize, while woman for the first time in 23

Nobel watchers say former Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek, veteran of the 1968 "Prague Spring" movement, and playwright Vaclav Havel could emerge as winners when the peace prize is announced in Oslo on Thursday.

Also in the running are former Nize bombs exploded in US President Ronald Reagan Colombia during the night, seven of them in the capital Bogota, and Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev, nominated for their police said yesterday.

The explosions were the latest of 91 bombings across the country 1987 Intermediate Nuclear Forces (INF) agreement to scrap in crisis after three members submitted their resignations, usually gives short notice of when it will Experienced observers, noting that no woman has won the prize

since German-Swedish writer

Nelly Sachs in 1966, say long-standing candidates Nadine

Gordiner of South Africa, US

author Joyce Carol Oates or East

Germany's Christa Wolf might be in the running.

name the literature laureate.

medium-range nuclear missiles.
The Nobel prize in medicine in the past five weeks. No one claimed responsibility for the attacks which slightly injured seven people but the blasts were believed to be drug-related. will be announced in Stockholm on Oct 9, in economics on Oct 11. and in physics and chemistry on In Bogota, three bombs damaged five secondary schools, Oct 12 Sweden's Academy of Letters, shattering windows in nearby buil-dings and injuring two teenage girls and a wome Two other bombs hit a savings bank, causing heavy damage, and a car workshop.

In the southern city of Cali, home of a cocaine cartel rival to the one from Medellin, two bombs exploded at two supermarkets injuring six people.
The latest blasts occurred also six hours after Colombian President Virgilio Barco, addressing the United Nations General Assembly in New York, asked the mity to do more to fight the drug trade which he called a "social plague."

Urging the community of nations "to choose sides" since there were "no boundaries to the narcotics conflict," Barco asked for a crackdown in Europe and United States on suppliers of the chemicals used to proce The presidents of the world's three largest cocaine producing countries — Colombia, Bolivia and Peru — will meet in a Peruvian desert oasis next month to decide on joint anti-drug strategies, official sources said yesterday.

"There haven't been any leaks, at least not yet, so I have no inside information," one Swedish newspaper culture editor said.

three million Swedish crowns ($455,000), a 20 per cent rise from last year thanks to high investment returns on the money Swedish dynamite inventor Alfred Nobel left in his 1896 will.

Norwegian state television correctly predicted last year's peace prize winner — the United Nations peacekeeping forces. This year the network and several Oslo newspapers are bet-ting on Hajek, and Havel, a pla-

Both hit the headlines as Czechoslovakia marked the 20th anniversary of the so-called 'Prague Spring" last year.

Hajek was foreign minister in the government which ruled briefly in 1968 before Soviet tanks rolled in.

Havel known for his work with the Charter 77 human rights group, was released from jail in May this year after serving half of an eight month sentence for inciting political protests in January. The sentence met international condemnation.

The five-member committee that awards the peace prize works under strict rules of secrecy, and has only said that it is concentrating on four of the

Cambodia ARANYAPRATHET, Oct -1. (Agencies): Heavy fighting continued in western Cambodia today as the Vietnamese-lucked government brought in misor-cements to face a drive by noncommunist resistance forces, resistance officials and military "Reports from the front indicate the forces of (Cambodian leader) Heng Samrin are bringing up reinforcements," said leng Mouli, a top official of the Khmer People's National Liberation Front.

"We might have to stop our advances if there are a lot of reinforcements. It depends on the commanders in the field," be said in a telephone interview leng Mouli said military reports showed the KPNLF offensive launched yesterday morning had made quick initial progress. He said troops cap-tured at least 10 government positions and large quantities of weapons, including a tank, three artiflery pieces, seven mortars and more than 400 light

Earlier, top KPNLF military officials said their troops had captured the district town of Thmor Punk and penetrated some defences of the key crossroads town of Sisophon in Battambang province. The same officials could not be reached

Military sources at the border said the fighting, along a 30 mile (48 km) stretch from 12 miles to 25 (20 to 40 km) inside Cambodia, was continuing. The low rumble of artillery fire could be heard from the nearby Thai border town of Aranyaprathet.

One military source at the border said the quick victories of the initial push came because the illtrained Heng Samrin forces agreed to accept payments to abandon their positions before the assaults. That account could not be confirmed by other sour-

An officer of the Heng Samrin government, interviewed at a border market point yesterday, expressed little concern at the claims of major advances by the registance.

"We are prepared. We have plenty of weapons. We will draw them in and cut them off with attacks from the rear," said the

All border trading points bet-ween Thailand and Cambodia were closed today and several Thai villages close to the border were partially evacuated when shells from the fighting landed nearby. Military sources said the Chinese-backed Khmer Rouge guerrilla group had joined the KPNLF in a pincer attack on Sisophon, but details of the fighting were not clear. Earlier, Abdul Gaffar Peang-Meth, assistant to the KPNLF commander-in-chief Gen. Ak Sutsakorn, had denied any knowledge of co-ordination with the Khmer Rouge, which is blamed for more than one million deaths when it ruled Cambodia from 1975 to 1979.

The offensive was launched less than a week after Vietnam proclaimed the withdrawal of its last troops from Cambodia. Vietnam said the troops were no longer needed because the government installed after the 1978 Vietnamese invasion was now & strong enough to defend itself.

A number of Khmer Rouge guerrillas have been killed in southern Laos, the official Cambodian news agency SPK said today.

The guerrillas were killed a week ago in Champasak province of southern Laos, which borders Cambodia and Thailand, the report said.

Pistol-man arrested

MANILA, Oct 1, (AP): An American teacher was arrested today after airport customs officials found two pistois and about 100 rounds of mition in his luggage, police

Jess Walstra, 55, an Illinois native who teaches handicapped children, was arrested after arriving on a flight from California, said Julius Peralta,

A Customs investigator.

Walstra was jailed after preliminary charges of illegal possession of weapons were filed, Peralta said. Officials quoted Walstra as saing he has come to the Philippines for meetings with the Department of Social Welfare and Development. But he told officials he decided to bring a local section of the social welfare and Development.

bring along two .22-caliber pistols after reading of rampant lawlessness in the Philippines, the officials said. Walstra was the third American arrested in the past month for allegedly trying to bring guas and ammunition into the country. In addition, a Filipino Congress-man, Rep. Nicanor de Guzman, was charged with illegal weapons possession after customs seized 319 weapons from his luggage after a flight from California. He was suspended for 60 days by the House of Representaives and is awaiting trial.

Taking a quick break A young Colombian soldier holds his head in his security check point in Bogota. (Reuter wirephoto) hands as he takes a quick break from manning a

DC child mortality rate high

169 drug babies die

WASHINGTON, Oct 1, (Agencies): Washington DC infant mortality rate increased by nearly 50 per cent in the first half of the year because of a surge in babies born to cocaine-addicted women, said the Washington Post yesterday.

An estimated 169 infants died before their first birthdays during the first six months of 1989, an infant mortality rate of 32.3 deaths per 1,000 live births, according to the Post. By contrast, the infant mortality rate for all of 1988 was 23.2 deaths per 1,000. City health professionals said they had been expecting a rise in infant mortality because of the epidemic use of crack cocaine, which can prompt premature labour and other foetal problems. But they said they were stunned by the extent to which the problem is accelerating and said it reflected a virtual breakdown of family structures in some parts of the city.

They said the rising infant mortality rate also reflects to a lesser degree the impact of last year's congressional cutoff of all public abortion funding in the Many cocaine-abusing mothers, who previously might have had an abortion, are now carrying their pregnancies to term and are having babies who are quite sick and at high risk of death.

recently has caused dozens of overdoses and one death and is overwhelming hospitals, offi-At least 42 people have over-dosed on the Mexican black tar heroin since Friday morning, and doctors are barely able to handle all the patients crowding the hallways, said Dr Ronald Dieckman, emergency room physician at San Francisco General Hospital, where 38 of the victims were treated.

The emergency room staff heard about the other victims by canvassing other hospitals. Ambulance drivers reported additional uncounted cases, Dieckman said.

"It appears to be the influx of a large amount of an extremely powerful drug dumped into the bay area. Over the weekend we were overwhelmed," Dieckman said. Typically two or three overdoses would have occurred in that period, he said. All of the patients had stopped man, whose name the hospital did not release, died of an overdose. Others have sustained brain damage as a result of oxygen deprivation to the brain. An extremely potent form of heroin that appeared in the city Dieckman said. The staff has been too busy handling the crisis to complete an accurate count of the injuries, he said. "Some of these patients are the chronic street users, but we have also seen a whole number of occasional users who are coming in and are overdosed on it," Dieckman said.

Customs agents near the Dutch border intercepted two West Germans trying to smuggle in LSD soaked into stickers bearing the image of Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, authorities said.

Agents at the Elten-Emmerich border crossing found 130 sheets of LSD-treated paper with Gorbachev's image stamped on to look like decals, according to the regional customs office here. Two West German workers with the civilian service, the government's alternative to compulsory military service, were taken into custody after a search of their sports car turned up the contraband.

General Rosas honoured in death as a symbol of unity in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct I, (AP): The body of a general who ruled violently in the 19th century was brought back to Argentina yesterday and honoured as a symbol of unity.

The casket of Gen. Juan Manuel de Rosas, wrapped in the blue and white Argentine flag and with a red poncho and cavairy saber on top, arrived aboard an Air Force plane from Paris and was flown by helicopter to Rosario, 300 kilometres (188 miles) north of the capital, for two days of ceremonies.

Rosas exercised iron rule over a confederation of newly independent and rebellious provinces from 1835 until he was ousted and sent into exile in 1852. For decades nationalists have hailed him as a hero, and liberals have condemned him as a bloody

The government hoped bringing back Rosas' body as a symbol of unity would belp resolve Argentina's modern problems. The body was later taken on a navy boat with a military escort to Buenos Aires for burial there today.

"We cannot construct a true fatherland atop hatred between brothers," President Carlos Menem said yesterday in a nationally televised welcoming speech at a Rosario monument marking the spot the Argentine flag first flew in 1812.

'In welcoming Rosas," Menem said, "we are saying goodbye to an old, wornout, anachronistic and absurd country, a country of failure, hatred and

"We are saying that there is no more time nor place for a country where thinking differently is motive for death and persecution," said Menem flanked by Rosas' descendants, officials, church leaders and uniformed military officers.

Bloch may be sacked

WASHINGTON, Oct 1, (Kuna): The State Department is weighing the dismissal of Felix Bloch, the diploant under suspicion of espionage, but has run into difficulty because a vital piece of evidence may not be usable in a personnel decision.

officials said yesterday.

According to the New York Times, the officials said at issue is a surreptitiously recorded conversation in which Bloch, the former No. 2 diplomat at the United States embassy in Vienna, told hs wife that he had received money from the Soviet Union for

Bloch was suspended with pay from his post in the State Department in June and has been the subject of an intense FBI inquiry that has as yet resulted in no charges.

As in any personnel action, Bloch would have the right to

■ Leftist and human rights groups vowed Friday to obtain a million signatures opposing President Carlos Menem's proposal to pardon military officers accused or convicted of human rights abuse.

MANILA. Oct 1, (Reuter): Support is growing for a referendum on the future of US military bases in the Philippines, with political analysts seeing it as a way of undercutting senate opposition to continued American presence.

Ramon Mitra, Speaker of the House of Representatives, says the house will pass a bill this week calling for a national referendum despite opposition by influential members of the senate. Leaders of the powerful Roman Catholic church have also voiced support for the

"I think the people should be consulted," Cardinal Jaime Sin, Archbishop of Manila, told reporters on Friday, adding he believed many Filipinos supported retention of the President Corazon Aquino agreed to hold talks with Washington on the future of the bases in December, after US President George Bush formally asked her to open negotiations in a letter last week. US Vice-President Dan Quayle delivered the letter and said after a meeting with Aquino he was confident the United States would secure a new lease for the Clark Air and Subic Bay naval bases which would guarantee them a long existence. The lease on the basis, America's largest off US soil, expires in 1991. Washington sees them as important for the stability of Asia. But at least half the Philippine Senate, which must ratify any new treaty, opposes the bases and some have called for an immediate US withdrawai.

Aquino, who will meet Bush in November, has not stated her opinion but Defence Secretary Fidel Ramos says he favours a gradual withdrawal, possibly over 10 years. Mitra, a close ally of Aquino, proposed the referendum and said on Friday that the President would ask senators to reconsider their opposition to the proposal.

for this stand. She has agreed to it in principle and most likely she will ask the senators to look at the proposal with an open mind," he stated.

Political analysts see the referendum as a way of putting pressure on the Senate as opinion polls show a majority of Filipinos support the bases.

Son vows to bring Marcos body home

Flags to fly at half mast for three days

HONOLULU, Oct 1, (UPI): The son of former Philippine president Ferdinand Marcos said his father's body will be returned to his homeland eventually even though President Corazon Aquino has

"He will be brought home. If it takes — I don't know — years, he will be brought home," Ferdinand Marcos Jr., nicknamed "Bong Bong," told reporters after a speech to the United Filipino Council last night in

Asked whether the body would lie in state in the Marcos hillside home overlooking Honolulu until then, Marcos Jr. said that had not yet

A Constitution of the cons

Scramble for leadership

Note the Care

) 1: 50

i delay

* 3°#

i fress

, F

. . .

1. S. S.

2 (N

.....

1 15

 $(-10^{-3}$

المعلاء سر

1811

And the second s

"There have been several suggestions that he be put somewhere temporarily, none of that has been decided," he said.

Marcos, whose 20 years in power were marked by greed and corruption, died early Thursday of cardiac arrest after being hospitalised since January with a multitude of medical problems. Doctors said lung and kidney failure as well as a widespread infection contributed to the heart

Philippine President Corazon Aquino, thrust into power by the "people power" revolution that ousted Marcos in 1986 and sent him, his family and many supporters into exile in Hawaii, ruled out the possibility of Marcos's burial in the island nation, saying "the wrongs of the past have to be

But in a conciliatory gesture, she ordered flags flown at halfstaff over all government buildings for three days and on the still unspecified day of Marcos's burial. We have constantly tried to make them understand that our return does not necessarily imply trouble or an attempt to destabilise the government," Marcos's son said. He said the country's troubles are due to its many factions, of which the Marcos loyalists are one. "Until we are allowed to return home to mend the wounds, I don't think the real unity will actually be achieved," he said. In his speech to the council, an umbrella group of more than a hundred Filipino organisations in Hawaii, Marcos Jr. called for unity among the Filipino factions in Hawaii as well as the Philippines.

"The military is divided against itself," he said. "Business works for political leaders as opposed to development of the "Political decisions by our leaders in the Philippines today are made not for the good of the nation but to maintain their position and to continue to feed the revenge they feel they must exact from my family," he said. Marcos Jr. praised his father's 20-year rule, saying "he took a feudalistic, regionally divided nation and made it strong, so that it took its place upon the world stage firmly entrenched in the 20th century. He built the economy and just as importantly, he gave Filipinos a nationalistic identity they could be proud of and willing to die for."

"There are those who feel that he had wronged them or somehow made them suffer," Marcos Jr. said. "This is perfectly natural. You cannot build a nation without making some Marcos's son said he wanted to extend "a hand of fellowship" to all the elements of the Philippine society. "Let us now move forward together, united and strong, to further the progress of our beloved nation," he said.

Moderator and longtime Marcos loyalist Joe Lazo referred to Ferdinand Jr. as "the future president of the Republic of the Philippines," but Marcos's son said he had no political aspira-tions. "I would not deny any request of that nature, but I don't foresee it by now," he said. Marcos's body is still on public view in the Marcos home and is to be moved to Nuuanu memorial park mortuary on Monday to Thursday. A mass is scheduled on Friday at St. Theresa's Catholic church.

State leaders say Hawaii law is unclear on how long the body can remain unburied, and the matter may wind up in court.

"There is nothing that would prohibit the temporary display of a body in a private home if it does not create a health hazard or a misance," Attorney General Warren Price said. A court ruling may be needed to define "temporary," he said.

Rally to protest crackdown

More than 3,000 people marked the 40th anniversary of communist rule in China today by joining in rallies to protest the military suppression of the spring prodemocracy movement in Beijing.

The three-hour rally, organised by the Hong Kong Alliance in support of the patriotic democratic movement memory of those who died when student-led prodemocracy demonstrations were put down in Beijing,

Picture shows a group of activists shout slogans on their march to New China News Agency, China's defacto embassy in the British colony Oct 1. (Reuter wirephoto)

US offer a headache

offer by the United States to increase military co-operation with this tiny island republic could strain Singapore's ties with its neighbours Malaysia and Indonesia

There was no official reaction today from Kuala Lumpur or Jakarta to the report of an offer by the administration of US. President George Bush to send a small number of jet fighters on a temporary basis.

A high-level Pentagon official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, told the Associated Press in Washington that under the proposal, "a small number of people - 100 or less" would be

It was front-page news in Singapore, where the Ministry of Foreign Affairs expressed surprise at the report.

The offer came as the US administration prepared for potentially difficult talks with the Philippines on extending the lease of six US military bases, due to expire in September 1991.

The presence of US bases in the Philippines long has posed a dilemma for the non-communist Association of Southeast Asian Nations, which groups Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, Thailand, the Philippines and While Ascan supports the 217 held in S. Australia

Base protest ends

NURRUNGAR, Australia, Oct 1, (AP): Police arrested more than 200 protesters at a US-Australia military communications base in South Australia state today, the final day of the protest.

Police said 217 protesters were arrested inside the Nurrungar base's outer security zone today, bringing the arrest total during the five-day protest to 490. The demonstrators view the base, located 500 kilometres (360 miles) northwest of the state capital of Adelaide, as a possible target for a nuclear attack. Reporters were not allowed to cover the protesters' march from the second security gate to the main complex.

Base security was tightened yesterday, and 50 unarmed Australian soldiers were brought in to help control the protesters. South Australian police confirmed the use of mace by one security force

Army spokesman Major Boert Joske said South Australian police requested assistance late Friday night because some of the protesters had managed to overrun the outer security zone of the base.

There were unconfirmed reports by protesters that five of their group had managed to infiltrate the base, and that one of them disguised as a US Air Force staff member had attempted to enter the base command centre.

creation of a zone of peace. freedom and neutrality, and calls for the ouster of all foreign bases, it also wants continuation of some kind of US security presence, which has allowed the region's economy to boom.

Asean itself is not a military pact, although bilateral exercises take place between armed forces of the gorup. Singapore belongs to the five power defence arran-gement, which obliges Britain, Australia and New Zealand to consult in case of an external threat to Singapore or Malaysia, both former Britsih territories. A small Australian unit is based in Malaysia, and New Zealand recently brought home an infantry battalion from Sin-

"Singapore is prepared to host some US facilities to make it easier for the Philippines to con-tinue to host the US bases there," Brig. Gen. George Yeo, the Min-ister of State for Foreign Affairs, told Parliament on Aug 4.

Papa ... san syndrome

Politics all in the family

TOKYO, Oct 1, (AP): Loyalty is a prominent virtue in Japan. And when it comes to politics, voters often transfer their loyalties from father to son. The tradition has brought forward such a large number of second-generation politicians — sons, stepsons and sons-in-law of former lawmakers that some critics say Japan's political scene is begin-ning to look like a family affair.

A former bureaucrat, Hajime Morita, says he never dreamed about becoming a politician, but his plans changed when he married a daughter of late Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira. "Without inheriting my father's political assets, I could never have become a politician," said Morita, who was elected to the Lower House of Parliament in 1982 after his father-in-law died. "It was relatively easy for me to enter politics because of my father's political establishment. But I can't imagine how hard and expensive it would be to become a politician without the same assistance I got from my father-in-law. Critics say the practice, which has been facilitated by the Liberal Democratic Party's dominance, blocks new blood and thought from reaching the government. The party has been in power so long since 1955 - that many of its veterans are now retiring or dying. And their sons inherit, among other things, a political machine, voters and a seat in parliament. While some also may inherit political expertise, critics say the phenomenon means politicians are increasingly different from ordinary people.

"The second-generation politicians are likely to widen the mental gap between politics and the public," said Atsuo Ito, an LDP official who has written a series of articles on political reforms. "It makes people feel that only 'peculiar people' can become politicians."

Currently, 115, or 38 per cent, of 297 governingparty politicians in Parliament's Lower House are either sons, stepsons, grandsons or sons-in-law of politicians. Among them are sons of at least eight past prime ministers.

A record number of second-generation politicians advanced to the cabinet that Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu named in August. Six of the 20 cabinet ministers are sons of former lawmakers. Foreign Minister Taro Nakayama became the fourth in his family to serve as a cabinet minister. His father, mother and younger brother were leg-islators, and all have held cabinet portfolios.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Mayumi Moriyama, the highest-ranking woman in the government, is the widow of Kinji Moriyama, a onetime transporta-

Whether the phenomenon will continue to grow is questionable. The Liberal Democrats are at record lows in popularity following a series of scandals, introduction of a widely disliked sales tax, and import liberalizations that angered farmers who were steady voters for the party. Morita said some second-generation politicians are expected to lose in the next election because many won office in the Liberal Democrats' 1986 landslide, "and many voters seem to feel so little was done by them. Nonetheless, about 20 governing-party lawmakers say they will not seek another term in the next elections, and in more than half of those cases, their sons are expected to run for their seats. "Let's not say second-generation politicians are all inferior to first-generation politicians, but I can't deny the fact that some of them had made it to parliament too easily," said Takayoshi Miyagawa, president of Seiji Koho Centre, a prominent research firm. "The trend is sending a bunch of incompetent politicians into the Diet. "The LDP's long dominance made Japanese politics into a sort of family affair of a small group of people," the analyst said. "Many politicians nowadays do not work for the people but only worry about the interest of the family."

But some in the second generation, like lchiro Aisawa, a once-term lawmaker who succeeded to his father's seat in the Lower House at age 32, argue that it's not as easy as people may think.

Security tight on Chinese N-Day

BEIJING, Oct 1, (Agencies): China celebrated the 40th anniversary of communist rule today with song, dance - and warnings that there can be no deviation from the socialist road.

Beijing was filled with red flags set against a perfect blue autumn sky as hundreds of thouands of people, riding bicycles or crammed buses, streamed to parks for free entertainment. Security forces mounted their biggest operation since the army crushed student demonstrations in June to safeguard official celebrations.

Senior leader Deng Xiaoping. 85, and top officials watched an extravangaza of fireworks and dancing in Tiananmen Square where four months ago troops and tanks ended the most serious anti-government protest since the 1949 communist takeover.

Deng, who disappeared for more than three months during the summer, looked in reasonable health and applauded the show. Diplomats had not expected him to attend it.
In Sun Yat-Sen Park, named after the founder of modern China, groups of workers filed in order past an imposing exhibition featuring Deng's life.

Thousands of police and sol-diers patrolled the streets and parks in jeeps, on bicycles and on foot, some in riot gear and many with automatic rifles and electric

In late afternoon, they sealed off more than a square mile (2.5 square kilometres) around Tinanmen Square, where the top leaders were expected to attend an evening dance and fireworks programme. Only people with special passes were to be allowed into the area to watch. The square has been under military guard since troops stormed the city June 3-4 to clear student pro-democracy sters from the central Beijing

Earlier Sunday, a 300-member military band entertained carefully selected groups in the square with renditions of "In Praise of Our Motherland" and other patriotic songs.

Messages

A flower arrangement in the centre of the 40-hectare (100 acre) square shows a huge rising red sun, representative of the Communist Party, surrounded by 11 sunflowers, symbolising China's 1.1 billion people.

Political messages were omnipresent as China recalled the day 40 years ago when Mao Tse-Tung, having defeated Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalists, stood on the rostrum of Tiananmen gate and declared the founding of the People's Republic of Banners in parks and hanging from office buildings warned people of the evils of "bourgeois liberalisation" or favouring Western ideas. Others congratulate the nation for quelling the turmoil and terrevolutionary rebellion," the official description of the massive student-led protests for democratic reforms this spring.

The Communist Party's official People's Daily, in a national day editorial, stressed that history has shown that "only socialism can save China."

"What happened in Beijing not long ago was bad. But in the final analysis it is beneficial to us because it made us more soberminded," Deng told a North Korean official.

"China's social order has returned to normal," Deng added, quoted by the official New China News Agency. China's state-run media portrayed the festivities — the biggest since the revolution -- as a celebration of communism and a return to normality in Beijing.

In another corner of the square surrounding the temple, a fourpiece band was playing tangoes while festival officials tried, with little success, to coax onlookers to show their skills.

At Zhongshan park, next to the Forbidden City, 1,000 doves were released in a gesture of peace and goodwill to people around the world.

About 5,000 demonstrators turned out in Hong Kong in the rain today to criticise Beijing's brutal crackdown on the democracy movement on the 40th anniversary of communist rule in China time being to avoid mass demonstrations for fear they may lead to violence, provoke a public backlash and ruin chances for the body's return. The fact that Marcos designated no clear-cut succesbe buried here even before Aquino restated her ban. Kaifu passes first test with victory in by-election attempts against Aquino.

in the 1992 election.

TOKYO, Oct 1. (Reuter): Japan's Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu won a crucial parliamentary by-election today, ensuring his own re-election as party chief and hence premier later this month.

MANILA, Oct 1, (AP): Ferdinand Marcos' death has set off a scramble for leadership of his movement, and some mainstream politicians are seizing the issue of his body's return to win support among the late president's ollowers. Marcos died on Thursday in Hawaii, where he had hved since his ouster in the popular uprising three years ago that propelled Corazon Aquino into the Aguino banned the return of the 72-year-old former leader's body, citing national security. Marcos suppor-ters plan to ask the supreme court on Monday to overtura the ban.

But the decision to ban the body is controversial.

Deeply ingrained Filipino tradition demands that the dead be buried in their homeland.

Six pro-Aquino senators in the 23-member Senate one pro-requing senators in the 13-member Senate oppose the ban, and opposition to it is also strong in the 200-tent House of Representatives. Last Friday, Aquino admitted that the public is equally divided over the internal

Pro-Marcos politicians see the issue of their late leader's return as a means of winning broad-based sympathy. And politicians not identified as pro-Mar-sympathy. And pollucians not definited as pro-main cos apparently view the issue as a means of currying support among his followers without being trained with the excesses of the Marcos era.

Such politicians include Vice President Salvador Laurel and Sen. Juan Poince Enrile, both of whom laurel and sen juan Poince Enrile, both of whom quickly supported the return of the former president's remains.

This may explain in part why there have been no mass procests in the wake of Marcos' death, Pro-Marcos politicians say they have decided for the

The victory in the upper house by-election in Ibaraki prefecture, north of Tokyo, will also enable Kaifu to grab some power away from elders of the ruling party over key political decisions.

These include tax and political reform as well as when to dissolve Parliament, political analysts said. General elections must be held before July next year.
"I heartily welcome this," a beaming Kaifu sor will intensify efforts by major politicians to win the support of the late president's constituency.

The nominal leader of Marcos' New Society

Movement Party, former national assembly speaker Nicanor Yniguez, has little personal following, and the leadership includes no figure of national stature.

recamor x inguez, has nuce personal following, and the leadership includes no figure of national stature.

Although Marcos' Popular Support had dwindled since his ouster, the late president still enjoyed a large following among his 10 million fellow llocanos, a linguistic group in northern Luzon.

More important, the fortune that Marcos allegedly embezzled duting his presidency would be a tempting prize for opposition politicians in a nation where elections are marked by rampant vote-buying.

Control of the party machinery and treasury would be a strong base for politicians vying for the presidency in the 1992 election.

Aquino says she will not seek a second term

The ranks of the government, known by its tagalog initials KBL, include veteran politicians with nationwide contacts developed during the late president's 20-controls virtually all the mayoral posts in Ilocos Norte, Marcos home province. Marcos also is believed to command quiet but extensive sympathy within the armed forces, from whose ranks came the six coup

Previous attempts to unite the Marcos camp with other opposition factions broke down because of per-sonal rivalries and the fact that movement stalwarts refused to abandon the former president as long as be

Laurel, once a leading anti-Marcos figure, began cultivating contacts with the Marcos family soon after the former president was hospitalised in January. On the day Marcos died, Laurel called for allowing him to said on national television. "But I will not comment on how this would affect the political scene."

onucas scene. Kaifu, who hails from a tiny faction within the ruling Liberal Democratic Party (LDP), came to power on August 9 as a compromise premier because most of the party elders were sidelined as a result of the Recruit shares-forfavours scandal.

With the victory, Kaifu is expected to be smoothly re-elected as President of the ruling Liberal Democratic Party (LDP) later this month. The post carries with it the office of prime minister by virtue of the LDP's majority in the lower house.

Despite his weak party footbold. Kaifu has taken unexpected initiative in tax and political reforms. He fired the conservative head of the party's tax research council and submitted a plan for electoral reform that would lead to less demand for political funds.

King Nikola's remains returns

The remains of the last king of Montenegro were brought back to his homeland yesterday, in preparation for a ceremonial reburial that will display pageantry unseen in this former Belkan kingdom since his coronation. King Nikola Petrovic-Njegos ruled Monten-egro — today the smallest of Yugoslavia's six republics - from 1860 to 1916, when he was forced into exile by advancing Austro-Hungarian troops.

Nikola's state funeral today will be the first official recognition in communist Yugoslavia of the country's royal past, which until recently

Unable to return to Montenegro after World War I, he died in Italian exile in 1921, and his mountain domain was incorporated into the nephew, Serbian Monarch Aleksandar I

Picture right: Princes of Yelisaveta Karadjor

arrival ceremony of the remains

Picture left: shows the remains of Nikola during the arrival ceremony in the port city of Bar whites blacks

meeting

JOHANNESBURG, Oct 1,

(Reuter): South African President

F.W. de Klerk's brother and other members of the secretive Afrikaner Broederbond group are meeting the African National Congress

(ANC) in England today, a

Johannesburg newspaper repor-

Times said in a front-page report that Wimpie de Klerk and leaders of the Broederbond, which heavily influences the ruling Nationalist

Party, would meet ANC officials at an undisclosed venue somewhere in England.

The ANC delegation will be led by its information chief Thabo

Mbeki, widely tipped as a successor to ailing ANC leader Oliver

The ANC is the main black

"The meeting is particularly nationalist guerrilla group fight-lag to overthrow white rule in significant because of the Broederbond members' close ties with senior government ministers, particularly (Constitutional Planning Minister) Gerrit Viljoen, at a time when the new De Klerk government is embarking on fresh attempts to get influential black leaders involved in the negotiating process," the Sunday Times said.

Viljoen, one of De Klerk's closest confidants, is the minister charged with spearheading negotiations with blacks over a

He is also a former chairman of the Broederbond, regarded as the rock on which Afrikanerdom was built, and has guided government policy since the National Party

Hundreds of black and mixed-race people staked their claim on two whites-only beaches yesterday, picuicking, swimming, sing-ing and praying under the watch-ful eyes of the police.

Anglican Archbishop Desmond

Tutu, wearing a yellow sun-hat emblazoned with the slogan "free

the beaches," and a T-shirt say-ing, "just call me Arch," jogged on the beach in the conservative town of Strand, about 50 kilometres (20 miles) east of Cape Town. The crowd of demonstrators grew to an estimated 1,500 by afternoon.

after arguing with police who had told the crowd over loudspeakers that they were violating the law.

held a seaside picnic in an eastern

Cape province town where the city council has tried to end beach

beach during Tutu's discussion with the police, but most stayed, opening their picnic lunches, swimming and wading. About 100 whites watched from the roadside,

Some families left the Strand

Hundreds of protesters also

Tutu later held a prayer service, came ot power in 1948.

new constitution.

Tambo.

South Africa.

The Johannesburg Sunday

Secretive

djeric (right) speaking with the Romanov brothers Nikolai (left) and Denitri (centre) during the

MORE NEWS FLENORS.

America:

34 hurt in bus accidents: A tractortrailer loaded with steel coils crashed in a disabled tourist bus in Cleveland, injuring 22

In lowa, a car rammed a school bus carrying band students in an accident that injured 12, police said

No fatalities were reported in either accident, police said.

In Cleveland, the bus, known as Lolly the Trolley and designed to resemble a trolley, was used to carry visitors on sight-seeing tours. It had stopped on Saturday because of mechanical problems on a freeway carrying traffic from inter-state 71 to interstate 90, said Sgt Kenneth Kirch-

Soviets apologise: The Soviet government has apologised after one of its warships fired on a US navy aircraft late last week, a US Navy spokesman said on Friday.

The incident, which took place on Sept 22, occurred in international waters south of the Greek island of Crete.

Lieutenant Commander Gene Spratt, a navy spokesman, said the Soviet warship was apparently conducting firing exercises when it fired its rear gun in the general vicinity of the navy P-3 aircraft. Spratt said no one was injured in the incident. "Our conclusion is that the firing was incidental to the P-3 being in the area," said Spratt. "The Soviet response expressed regret ... we are pleased with the Soviet response and consider the incident satisfactorily resolved." (Reuter)

Dissidents call an end to protest: Dissident parishoners of a predominantly Polish Roman Catholic church say they have ended their 41-week demonstration calling for the resignation of their pastor.
"We're frustrated and it's time to stop," said

Brian Syc, a spokesman for the group.

Papandreon accuses: Former premier Andreas Papandreou yesterday accused the government trying to blame his party for the assassination of a prominent conservative member of parliament.

Papandreou alleged that "an orgy of disinfor-mation" had followed the killing Tuesday of New Democracy Party spokesman Pavlos Bakoyannis by members of the leftist November 17 terror

The former premier charged in a statement that it was part of a concerted effort to "stain the image and slander" his Panhellenic Socialist Movement (Pasok) before expected new elections

The conservative-leftist coalition government denied Papandreou's charge and challenged him to say what he had done during eight years in power to combat terrorism. (AP)

Local council elections: Germany's most populous state votes for local councils today after a campaign overshadowed by the waves of East German refugees pouring into the country through Hungary, Poland and Czechoslovakia. The vote in North Rhine-Westphalia, home to a third of all West German voters, will be the first of several trial runs Chancellor Helmut Kohl's troubled coalition will make before general elections in December 1990.

The state, dominated by the coal-and-steel heartland in the Ruhr basin, is a stronghold of the opposition Social Democrats (SPD) who run the state government and most city halls alone or in coalitions with the ecologist greens.

But Kohl's Christian Democrats (CDU), who have lost votes in three elections earlier this year, have jumped on a wave of nationalism boosted by the arrival of thousands of East German refugees fleeing their hardline communist homeland.

Honecker to undergo surgery: East German lender Erich Honecker will travel to Switzerland for surgery, a West German news-paper said today in a report attributed to Western intelligence services, that followed speculation Honecker was suffering from cancer.

Welt Am Sonntag said Honecker would travel to Switzerland immediately after celebrations marking the 40th anniversary of the founding of the German Democratic Republic (East Germany). Oct 7.

Today's paper gave no further details of the claims.

Speculation that Honecker had cancer was fuelled in early September when security sources in Bonn said a gall bladder operation Honecker

The 77-year-old leader resumed his duties last week after a five week absence from office, during which he underwent surgery. (UPI)

Mazowiecki to visit Italy: Prime Mini-ster Tadeusz Mazowiecki will visit Italy in October and meet with Polish-born Pope John Paul II. his first trip since becoming the East bloc's only non-communist government leader, state television reported yesterday.

Luxury liner

The 49-tonne luxury liner Chrystal Harmony being launched at Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Nagasaki Shipyard on Sept 30. The 241-metre-long ship, capable of carrying 960 passengers will be transformed into a floating hotel by the end of next June and set sail for the southern Pacific Ocean and Cambbean Sea next (Reuter wirephoto)

Gorby to visit Italy

MOSCOW, Oct 1, (AP): The Soviet Union announced today that President Mikhail Gorbachev will visit Italy from Nov 29 until

A visit to Italy long has been included in the Soviet leader's plans for this year, but the date previously had not been announced. The official Soviet news agency, Tass, which announced the dates, gave no details of his

Red hot slippers

With the long cold nights of winter just around the corner in Finland these unusual slippers may be just the thing to keep one's feet warm.

White cliffs of Dover

First eight DOVER, England, Oct 1, (AP): The American who wrote "The white cliffs of American who wrote "The white clifts of Dover" saw the chalky landmarks for the first time today, 48 years after he wrote Vera Lynn's World War II hit.

As he viewed the cliffs from the grounds of Dover castle, Walter Kent said: "It's how I imagined they would be all those years ago."

Walter, 72, said it had been his lifelong wish to visit the English Channel port he immortalized in the line "there'll be bluebirds over the white chifs of Dover."

Mazowiecki, a Solidarity journalist closely allied with the Roman Catholic church and a friend of the Pope, will also meet his Italian counterpart, Giulio Andreotti, and other key political and business leaders, according to the evening television news.

The same report was carried by the state news agency PAP, attributed to unspecified Italian newspapers.

Mazowiecki had said after being approved as prime minister Aug. 24 that his first trip would likely be to see the Pope. Immediately after the parliament vote, he had two telephone conversations, the first with the Pope and the second with Solidarity leader Lech Walesa. (AP)

Mass graves found: The bodies of 3,311 Polish officers and soldiers were found in five mass graves in the Lithuanian village of Kalety Polish television reported Friday.

Witnesses said they were shot by Soviet troops, although not by the NKVD, the forerunner of the KGB or secret police.

More than 15,000 Polish officers were interned in three Soviet camps during World War II and subsequently disappeared. In 1943, Nazi Germany, which overran Soviet territory, announced the discovery of a mass grave of 4,250 officers in the Katyn forest near Smolensk.

The Soviet Union still has not formally admitted responsibility for the deaths of the officers despite overwhelming evidence that the NKVD was responsible for their executions. (UPI)

Communism has failed: Nato Secretary-General Manfred Woerner said vesterday that behind the rhetoric of Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev was the unspoken admission that communism had failed.

"The reform of East Europe and Soviet communism is becoming an enormous challenge because, behind the rhetoric of a common European home, there is a reality of an everincreasing gap between East and West, the reality of a failed socio-economic experiment which now implicitly accepts its own bankruptcy," the head of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation said. Addressing a conference in Turin on "the role of Nato — 40 years on," Weerner said political pluralism in East Europe was the only way to avoid impending tragedy and to reduce in the long term the gap between East and West. (Reuter)

Protesters remember Chernobyl: A thousand people packed the main Catholic church in Minsk today to pay tribute to victims of the Chernobyl nuclear disaster, a day after an unprecedented protest march through the city.

Kalvariskii church was overflowing with people, many wearing armbands with radioactivity symbols. They sang hymns and said a prayer for those who died or suffered from radiation in the April 1986 accident Similar services were scheduled for later in the day in the Byelorussian capital's two orthodox Yesterday over 15,000 demonstrators ignored an official ban and pouring rain to march through Minsk demanding that local authorities do more to clean up the Chernobyl accident. (Reuter) KGB holds racketeering student:

Soviet KGB security police have a rested a racketecring group of students who tried to extort 15,000 roubles ($23,400) from a Moscow cooperative, Tass news agency said on Friday. The group, which threatened violence if the cooperative did not pay the money, turned out to be students at a Moscow college. Tass did not say how many were involved and none was identified The firm told police and the KGB detained the racketeers as they were picking up the cash.

Etna spews lava: Fountains of lava spewed yesterday from a new crater on Mt Etna, sending a red-hot river of lava fowing down the eastern slope of Europe's most active volcano. Volcanologists said the lava gushed from a 170-metre (500-foot) crater that opened 2,600 metres (8,500 feet) up the mountain after a series of tremors on Thursday.

News reports said the river of lava 15 metres (yards) wide had snaked down to the 1,400-metre (4,500-foot) level and was still oozing forward at about 10 metres (yards) an bour. (AP)

Air hooligans blown off course: A Danish balloonist and a Soviet student tried to land in Moscow's Red Square this week but were blown off course by strong winds, the Communist Party daily Pravda said yesterday.

The two, described by the newspaper as "air hooligans", touched down near the ring road on the outskirts of Moscow on Wednesday, but only after forcing traffic-controllers to alert the pilot of a passing Tupolev passenger jet.

Pravda said the two, whose exploits recalled those of West German teenage pilot Mathias Rust, took off from Moscow's Gorky Park.

Quake hits Thailand. Burma: A strong earthquake, measuring 6.0 on the Richter scale, struck northern Thailand and the Burmese border area early today, Thailand's meteorological department said.

The epicentre of the earthquake was in Burma, about 20 kilometres (12 miles) west of the northern Thai town of Chiang Mai, said an official.

speaking on condition of anonymity.

Tremors could be felt as far away as Bangkok. about 580 kilometres (360 miles) to the south. Tall buildings in the capital shook noticeably for Another earthquake measuring 5.0 on the Richter scale hit the same area yesterday. Army chief sympathises: An army chief of Burma, where troops killed thousands of pro-democracy protesters last year, says he sympath-ises with authorities in China, where hundreds were shot in June, the State newspaper reported on Sunday.

Labour set for policy changes

N-doctrine may be dumped

LONDON, Oct I, (Agencies): Britain's opposition Labour Party began its annual conference today set to adopt radical policy changes, shift the Socialist movement toward the centre and dump its vote-losing declared of an indicated and its vote-losing declared on the indicated and its vote-losing declared and its vote-losing declared on the indicated and its vote-losing declared and i doctrine of unilateral nuclear disarmament.

Delegates gathered in Brighton, south England, for the weeklong conference with public opinion polls belowing Labour in its strongest position since it lost power to Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's showing Labour in its strongest position since it lost power to Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's

Conservatives in 1979.

The electorate now regards the Labour Party as electable, which it did not in 1983 or 1487, "said Gerald, "The electorate now regards the Labour Party as electable, which it did not in 1983 or 1487, "said Gerald, "The electorate now regards the Labour Party is last two general election defeats. Kaufman, the party's foreign affairs spokesman, referring to Labour's last two general election defeats. The policy overhaul, endorsed last spring by the party's 28-member national executive committee, virtually assured of being adopted during a series of debates starting tomorrow because of committee the party from leaders of major trade unions. support from leaders of major trade unions.

Trade union bosses have the biggest say at Labour's policymaking conferences under a controversial system that gives them huge block votes based on the number of union members.

Already the proposed new platform, which the con-servatives dismiss as a cosmetic exercise, has helped transform Labour's fortunes.

Labour has been riddled by factionalism during the last decade and Kinnock is hoping a trouble-free conference will. show a united party determined to build on the government's problems and Labour's strong showing in June's European elections.

The government was rocked last week by the third worst monthly trade figures on record, a two-billion-pound sterling ($3.22 billion) deficit in August, which put it under renewed pressure to raise base interest rates.

Such a move would hit a majority of voters by increasing the monthly mortgage payments on their homes and would also deal a blow to Thatcher's antiinflationary strategy.

In June, Labout trounced the conservatives in elections for the European Parliament, and has since led by 3-12 points in every national opinion poll. In the latest soundings, five polls commissioned by Sunday newspapers put Labour between five and 12 points ahead. They ranged from Market and Opinion Research International in the pro-Tory Sunday Times of Lon-don, which put Labour at 43 per cent of the vote and the Conservatives at 38 per cent, to Labour's 46 per cent to the Conservatives' 34 per cent in a national opinion poll sampling another Tory supporter, in the Mail on Sunday. None of the three other national parties, two squabbling centre parties and the Green Party, got more than 10 per cent. NOP polled 989 voters on Sept 25; Mori questioned 1,739 between Sept 21 and 26. Neither newspaper provided the margin of error.

Key for Labour leader Neil Kinnock is that polls show support consistently topping 40 per cent, the vote-share that under Britain's electoral system is usually sufficient to give a party an outright majority in the 650member House of Commons.

After a decade of humiliations, Labour also has been boosted by a sense among many voters that Thatcherism has gone too far, and by the collapse of the center parties, which in 1983 and 1987 split the anti-conservative vote.

Thatcher, who does not have to call an election until 1992, won last time with a huge 102-seat majority.

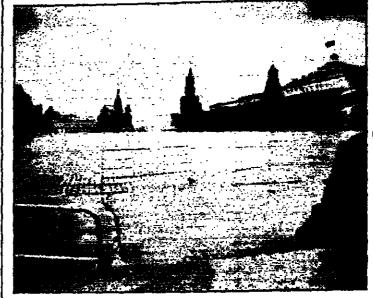

To regain outright power, Labour would need to win 97 new seats, including some Con-servative strongholds in Britain's prosperous south, and achieve the biggest swing against a British government since World War

Polls, which put Labour well ahead on such issues as health, education and welfare, also show many voters doubtful about the socialists' ability to manage the есопоту.

The proposed new policy package, the result of a two-year review Kinnock ordered after the 1987 election, has dismayed the party's left wing.
It stipulates that a Labour-led government would give up Britain's nuclear weapons only in a negotiated arms deal. This overturus Labour's many criticising the protest as they talked among themselves. Police took no action. About 1,000 people of all races gathered peacefully under heavy pledge, adopted in 1981 as the party moved to the left after lospolice supervision in Port Elizabeth, in the easters Cape ing power, to scrap Britain's submarine-launched missiles and shut down US nuclear bases Province, dancing and singing as a sign was erected declaring the end of apartheid on Pollock beach. within five years of coming to

Closed shop

A lonely Soviet militiaman stands guard on the empty Red Square in Moscow Sept 30. The square was unusually closed to the public all afternoon, (Reuter wirepholo)

'A Lebanon', for Moscow

Flashpoint Nagorno-Karabakh

MOSCOW, Oct 1, (Reuter): A Kremlin official said today that hundreds of people had died in clashes over the territory of Nagorno-Karabakh and warned that the area could turn into "a homemade Lebanon" for Mos-

COW. "Already hundreds have died in the past year and a half in mutual clashes, pogroms, and carnage," Valery Sidorov, a member of the Kremlin committee governing the small region. said in a newspaper interview.

Until now, information issued by authorities has indicted that more than 100 have died in the fighting between Armenians and Azerbaijanis.

In the interview with Argumenty I Fakty, Sidorov gave no exact figure and no breakdown of where and when the victims died.

The Kremlin committee on which Sidorov serves took over control of Nagorno-Karabakh in January after a year of unrest in and around the area. Nagorno-Karabakh is part of Azerbaijan, but its Armenian majority want it to join Armenia.

Despite the presence of thousands of Soviet Interior Ministry troops sent to both republics to restore order, Sidorov said the situation was more tense than ever, with more and more attacks on the servicemen themselves. · Not a single day and night passes without shots, explosions, mines, arsons and pogroms, Sidorov said. "Cars are fired at, hostages are held, highways and railways are barricaded. "If we don't bridle these forces

we will get a homemade Lebanon 3 in the Caucasus," he said, adding that Armenia and Azerbaijan were ready at any minute to turn what he called the cold war between them into a real, civil war. Until now, the largest death toll announced in any single clash over the issue was in the city of Sumgait, Azerbaijan at the end of February, 1988. Thirtytwo people, most of them Armenians, were reported killed in three days of pogroms there.

The Moldavian Communist Party has endorsed the idea of limited autonomy for the Gagauz, a small minority group seeking more control over its cultural and economic affairs, the Soviet news gency Tass said today.

■ The legislature of the Baltica republic Lithuania has ordered government officials to negotiate with Moscow to permit youths to perform their military service close to home, an activist said yesterday.

Train runs over healer

Psychic has his limit

MOSCOW, Oct 1. (AP): E. Frenkel, one of the Soviet Union's growing number of psychic healers and mentalists, tested his powers stopping bicycles, automobiles and streetcars. Then he tried to stop a train, and was killed.

The daily Sovietskaya Rossiya today said investigators looking into Frenkel's decision to jump in front of a train near the southern city of Astrakhan. found the answer in the brief case the dead man left by the side of the track.

"First letomed a bicycle case and a streetce." First letomed a bicycle case and a streetce."

"First I stopped a bicycle, cars, and a streetcar," Frenkel wrote to himself in notes that the investigators found. "Now I'm going to stop a train."

Frenkel apparently felt he had found a universal secret of psychic-biological power and that his effort to halt a train would be the ultimate test of his powers, according to the notes. "Only in extraordinary conditions of a direct threat to my organism will all my reserves be called into action," he wrote.

In the last several months, the Soviet Union suddenly has become awash with mentalists and self-proclaimed psychics who are appearing on state-run television, drawing huge crowds, and receiving thousands of letters with appeals for heip.

Perhaps the most popular, former television journalist Alan Chumak of Moscow, appears daily on the morning TV news and variety programme "120 Minutes." He claims his mental energy can help people over the television.

Party seals unity between Nkomo and Mugabe

BULAWAYO, Zimbabwe, Oct 1, (Reuter): Veteran Zimbabwe politician Joshua Nkomo threw a huge birthday and wedding anniversary party at the weekend and President Robert Mugabe was there to seal the unity between the two former rivals. The two-day festivities preceded important congresses of Nkomo's PF-Zapu party and Mugabe's ruling Zanu-PF. due to merge later this year in accordance with a 1987

Political analysts said Nkomo wanted to show his political might and to sell the accord to supporters in his home province of Matabeleland. "It was also a warning to the ruling party that he intends to be an equal partner in the new united party," one said.

Nkomo, 72 in June this year, invited thousands of people to Bulawayo, capital of Matabeleland, for the party, also marking 40 years of marriage to his wife Johanna. But the turnout at Bulawayo's Barbour-fields stadium was below expectations, with Nkomo and Mugabe reaffirmed their commitment to the unity accord, which ended years of rivalry between Zimbahwe's two main political groups.

Mugabe, Nkomo's former press secretary, broke away in 1962 to form his own militant party and in 1980 became the first prime minister of independent Zimbabwe.

only 2,000 guests yesterday and 6,000 today. Well-fed politicians and business leaders mingled with city workers and even hungry villagers from drought-hit Matabeleland.

هكذ اهن الأصل

Freedom train carries 7,000

E. Germany allows refugees to leave Warsaw, Prague

HOF, West Germany, Oct 1, (Agencies): Special trains from Warsaw and Prague rumbled through the night, carrying thousands of East German refugees to freedom in West Germany today. In Prague, there were reports that the exodus had prompted even more East Germans to try to flee.

An agreement between West Germany and communist East Berlin cleared the way for the exodus of thousands of East Germans who had been holed up in Bonn's embassies in Warsaw and

One welcoming banner in the northern Bavarian city of Hof predicted that East Germany would soon be an "empty cof-fin." Officials said the total num-ber of refugees arriving way from Prague and Warsaw would be around 7,000, far more than originally expected.

Hungary's decision last month to open the floodgates to East German, refugees already has brought more than 24,000 people to West German via Austria.
The first train carrying East

Germans who had sought refuge in the West German embassy in Prague arrived in Hof at 6.14 am (0514 GMT). Many were cheering and weeping for joy.

Two more trains had arrived by 10.30 am (0930 GMT), bringing the total from the first three trains to more than 3,000 people. Three more trains were expected during the course of the day from Prague, carrying about 1,000 people each.

Earlier estimates were that about 3,500 refugees were expected, although officials in Hof said that figure did not include many of the children accompanying their parents.

In addition, Bavarian border police spokesman Klaus Papenlus said some East Germans who had not even been at the embassies in either city reportedly went directly to the railroad stations to board the special trains bound for the West.

A train carrying more than 800 East German refugees from Warsaw was expected to reach West Germany at the Heimstedt border crossing late this after-

Meanwhile, West German officials in Prague said that about 100 East Germans had sought teftige at the embassy initer the compound was cleared in the early morning hours today. Rushing Witnesses also said that scores Czechoslovakia in cars after learning of the decision to allow the others to leave. Police, who ringed the West German embassy in Prague this morning to thwart any more would-be escapees, later opened its doors to about 100 of the late arrivals.

Several hundred local residents who gathered to greet the newcomers in Hof applauded and cheered as the train pulled into the station. Well-wishers handed out boxtles of wine, champagne and fruit as the East Germans got off the train. Red Cross volunteers distributed hot tea, noddle soup, baby food and diapers.

The arriving East Germans were being taken immediately to several refugee processing centres and temporary shelters set up by the West German border police and the military, officials said.

Several former East Germans, who had fled to the West earlier from Hungary, carried a banner that read: "We got out through Hungary and you made it through Prague. Soon the zone (East Germany) will be an empty

West German law automatically grants East German citizenship on arrival. More than 100,000 East Germans have emigrated or fled to West Germany so far this year.

e:

Jubilant

West German Foreign Mini-ster Hans-Dietrich Genscher made an unexpected visit to Prague vesterday and delivered the news to jubilant East Germans at the embassy.

Genscher, who fled to West Germany in 1952, called the agreement and his reception at the mission in Prague "the most moving hour of my political

He told reporters the solution was agreed on early yesterday in consultations with the East Germans, Czechosiovaks and Poles.

Two East German girls overjoyed after learning on Saturday in Bonn's embassy in Warsaw they would be allowed to go to West Germany together with more than 600 other refugees. (Reuter wirephoto)

An overloyed mother is being hugged and kissed by their daughters as she just leaves the West German embassy in Prague. (Reuter wire-

A West German tourist guide of Prague (left) hugs an East German refugee after being freed from the West German Embassy in Prague. (Reuter wirephoto)

We made it, we made it

HOF, West Germany, Oct 1. (AP): A young East German woman screamed we made it, we made it," as she sobbed with happiness among the throng of refugees arriving in Bavaria from Prague

The tired-looking refugees, many with small children, showed nearly unbounded joy as crowds of West Germans welcomed them at the train station in this northern Bavarian city. Elke Ebecke, her 12-year-old son Thomas and daughter Christine, age 3, were trying to make their way through masses of other refugees and well-wishers on the train platform after arriving.

"My husband managed to make it across through Hungary three weeks ago, but we didn't go," the 32-year-old woman told the Associated Press, her eyes wet from tears as she squeezed her

Mrs Ebecke, from the Leipzig area, was on the second train packed with East German refugees that arrived in Hof from Prague, Czechoslovakia.

"My husband, Uwe, doesn't even know we're here yet," she said. Annamarie Lenz, 52, who was already aboard a connecting train, told of how West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher late yesterday announced that the refugees at Bonn's embassy in Prague would be permitted to go West.

"I was just walking by in the embassy garden when he said it. Such a cheer went up from all the people. It was unbelievable," she told the AP.
"I had applied three times in two years to leave for the West, but they turned me down each time. I went to Prague, because I thought this was my only chance," she said.

The refugees formed long lines at public telephones in the train station to call their families in East Germany on relatives in the West.

Outside the train station, many refugees were picking out donated clothing stacked high on dozens of yellow railway carts.

Red Cross, police and railway workers mingled in the crowd, many chatting, some handing out hot drinks, bananas and bowls of soup.

In the station snack bar sat 21-year-old Mike Mueller and his wife Monique, 19. Mueller, a cook, and his wife, a waitress, said they went to the West because they were fed up with harsh political conditions at home. They (communist authorities) control everything you do," Mueller said. "We applied to go to Hungary on vacation, but they turned us down. We didn't need permission to go to Prague, so we went to the embassy and joined the others, hoping to get out.

West Mueller said, "you can't get ahead over there (in East Germany). You always have the feeling you are being watched. You are afraid to discuss anything with your friends."

She said the East German news media lie and try to tell us the West just wants to make slaves of us. They really think we're so stupid we don't know better."

Soviet arms control proposals

Hardliners smell sabotage

WASHINGTON, Oct 1,

It follows a series of high-level military contacts between the super-powers, including the visit to the Soviet Union last year of then-US Defence Secretary Frank Carlucci.

(Kuna): Adminstration and congressional hardliners today were warning that the latest Soviet arms control proposals may be intended to sabotage the US "Star Wars" (SDI) missile defence programme. Also, several State Depart-ment officials told the Washington Post the Soviet ideas floated last weekend in Wyoming were new, but Pentagon officials argued that they contained unacceptable provisions.

In the immediate, happy aftermath of the Wyoming meetings, both sides asserted much progress had been made towards

But Pentagon space arms expert Kent Stansberry, in an address expressing the military's second thoughts following the meetings between Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze and State Department Secretary James Baker, said of the Soviet proposals. "So far, we've seen nothing different" from before.

He noted the Soviets in the 1987 superpower summit here already outlined the major elements of the "new" proposals made in Wyoming.

Missile (ABM) treaty.

Premadasa's peace bid

Lanka offers polls

COLOMBO, Oct 1, (Reuter): Sri Lanka's ruling United National Party today offered fresh elections, dissolution of Parliament and an amnesty for Sinhalese rebels is they end violence and commit themselves to democracy.

A party working committee, chaired by President Ranasinghe Premadasa, also suggested that the government lift immediately a state of democracy, in force since last June, and protect members of the left-wing Sinhalese People's Liberation Front

The Leftist Front has been fighting for the past two-and-alf years to overthrow the government. It has rejected several appeals to end violence and negotiate demands.

The committee said in a statement after a special meeting that the government should implement this request only after all political parties including the front fulfill four conditions: Pledge their commitment to peace and democracy

End violence and sabotage immediately

 Surrender all unlicensed firearms Disband

paramilitary forces The committee said that an amnesty should then be given to all those detained under emergency regulations and the prevention of Terrorism Act.

Earlier the government said that front rebels, ignoring a unilateral ceasefire by the security forces, killed 16 people including three Buddhist monks

Pakistan

C'wealth

ISLAMABAD, Oct 1, (Reuter): Britain's envoy in Islamabad reversed the brass plaque outside his residence last night as Pakis-tan slipped quietly back into the Commouwealth after a 17-year

Ambassador Nicholas Barring-

at midnight in line with practice in the 49-member association of for-

When the sign denoting the home of the "British ambassador" was removed from the wal

Barrington found "residence of the British high commissioner"

ton became High Commis

mer British colonies.

engraved on the back.

of breakaway Bangladesh.

nition was a small midnight recep-tion bosted by Barrington at the renamed high commission.

He and nine other Commonwealth heads of mission took their

to the less-glamorous high com-

"High commissioner is a rather special designation. It designates a special family relationship," Barrington said. "Pakistan's voice has been absent for too long."

"It's a new beginning in the old family," added Iqbal Akhand, Benazir Bhatto's special adviser on foreign affairs.

Commonwealth diplomats said that while membership brought some tangible benefits like student scholarships, its main value was as a forum for debate and co-operation between governments on a

Pakistan's return was blocked for years by its traditional foe India. But New Delki dropped its objections when Benazir's election last year put an end to 11 years of military rule in Pakistan.

wide range of issues.

transformation from amba

missioner in good spirit.

war in 1971.

back in quietly

Curbing Colombo poverty

Cash for poor

COLOMBO, Oct 1, (Kuna): Sri Lanka begins tomorrow an experimental effort to cut down poverty of an estimated six million people in the Indian Ocean island through a Poverty Alleviation Programme (PAP) undertaken by President Ranasinghe Premadasa official sources said.

Premadasa who rode to power at the presidential elections late last year on a pledge to eradicate poverty among the poorest of the poor will hand over a sum of about $60 to each of about 180,000 families entitled for the support scheme in 28 assistant government agents divisions in the country the sources said. About half of the money will be given to the families for consumption and the balance will be deposited in a bank to allow the poor recipients to invest in some income earning project. The PAP — called Janasaviya in local parlance, meaning people's strength — will also grant through commercial banks a lump sum of around $600 to the poor to start a productive venture and the government will stand surety. PAP programme

The government has decided to spread the programme to eleven stages and it will be an ongoing exercise, officials said.

over the past two days.

Thiranagama Ratnasara, a 69-year-old monk and scholar, was killed at his temple in southern Hambantota on Saturday by suspected rebels, it added in a statement.

A note left by the body said the killing was punishment for helping the security forces, military sources said. The other two monks were killed in separate

The front has not responded to the ceasefire due to end on Tues-day morning. It was declared on Sept 27 for 72 hours and extended on Saturday for three more Military officials said the level of violence had reduced since the ceasefire. An average of 30 killings a day was being reported before that.

Sri Lanka's ruling and opposition parties made a joint call on Saturday for the rebels to join a peace conference that reconvenes on Oct 12.

The emergency was imposed in June after widespread strikes and killings by the rebels.

Bangla ferry attacked

Tribals kill 13 DHAKA, Oct 1, (AP): Tribal militants shot and killed at least 13 people and injured 21 others in two separate attacks in the southeastern Chittagong Hill Tracts, United News of Bangladesh has reported. Militants fired automatic rifles on a ferry in Rangamati lake early yesterday, killing seven passengers and injuring 21 others, the news agency said.

It said the ferry was carrying 250 passengers when rebels of the Shanti Bahini (peace force) ambushed it.

The attack occurred on the last day of a month-old ceasefire offered to the rebels by President Hussain Muhammad Ershad's government to end their insurgency for a separate state. The rebels also attacked and killed six fishermen on Bangamati lake on Friday, UNB said. The government said 30 militants surrendered yesterday, the final day of the amnesty offer. The militants have waged a 15-year-old insurgency for greater autonomy for the Chittagong Hill Tracts, a region stretching across southern Bangladesh from the Burmese to the Indian border. The insurgency has claimed more than 4,000 lives and sent 30,000 people fleeing across the border to India since it began in 1974.

Kuwait's US envoy ...

(Continued from Page 1)

The plaque was apparently a relic from 1972 when Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto took trying.
"By any stretch of imagina-Pakistan out of the Commonwealth in protest at its recognition tion, the historic concessions made by the Palestinians in Algiers and Geneva last year should have convinced the world

The late Bhutto's danghter, Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto, of the seriousness of the Palestinhas taken it back in. She was coinians in wanting peace," he noted. Instead, Sheikh Saud asserted, cidentally leaving later today on a visit to Bangladesh, which seceded from Pakistan after a bloody civil the US and Israel have been seeking to extricate even more concessions from the Palestinians — Benazir will also attend the without any serious movement Commonwealth summit in Malaysia on Oct 18-24. from the other side or any attempt by the US to pressure Israel to accept the principles that the whole world how so Pakistan's re-entry into the Commonwealth passed largely mmarked. The only formal recogreadily supports."

The Kuwaiti diplomat predicted that all the current initiatives are doomed to fail if they lack the minimum ingredients for a just

He also lashed out at what he described as "delusions" in Israel and among some in the US that the Palestinian uprising can be suppressed by force and repres-

The intifada is no longer merely the throwing of stones by 10-year-olds. "It has become a way of life among Palestinians under occupation who have overcome something called fear. The intifada is a state of mind and is a case of civil disobedience that can last for many years to come," he asserted.

On Lebanon, the Kuwaiti ambassador said "Kuwait will never sanction or condone the partitioning of Lebanon to satisfy regional and global

AL HOMAIZI FOODSTUFF COMPANY, the proud owner of HUNGRY BUNNY and the franchisee of PIZZA HUT, and ARBY'S currently have a challenging career opportunity for the position

SYSTEM ANALYST

Education

: Post Graduate in Computer Science from a reputable University.

Work Experience : 8-10 years in the computer field with minimum experience of 3 years in computer base system Analysis and design as a project leader.

• The applicant should have a knowledge of application solutions Analysis and design in commer-

• The applicant should also have a thorough knowledge of operating systems, Unix - MS, Dos, and PC Networks.

A very good knowledge of programming languages such as "C", Dbase III+, SQL and 4 GL.

 Applicants will be offered an attractive salary + benefits.

 Transferable residency is a must. Position available immediately.

> Please Contact : --Al-Homaizi Food Stuff Co. Personnel Dept. Mr. Nizar Matari Tel : 2417123/4/5/6

for America

MOSCOW, Oct 1, (AP): Soviet Defence Minister Dmitri T. Yazov left Moscow today for a visit to the United States, where he will see several US military bases and the Gettysburg civil war battlefield.

Yazov leaves

The Tass news agency reported Yazov's departure for the trip, which is being made at the invitation of US Defence Secretary Richard Chency.

a strategic arms treaty by agree-ing to "de-link" the accord from a bitter dispute about space

In the earlier conclave, both sides agreed to adhere "as signed" to the 1972 Anti-Ballistic

Printers of visiting cards and headed notepaper in Islamahad are profiting from the change.

He said that means he would be left with the union, "but I would be wrong to leave the union

Walesa accuses government of incompetence for allowing price hikes

GDANSK, Poland, Oct 1, (UPI): An angry Solidarity leader Lech Walesa accused the Solidarity-led government of "incompetence" for all the solidarity-led government of "incompetence" for all the solidarity-led government of "incompetence" for a solidarity-led government of the solidarity-led govern allowing sharp prices hikes recently for gasoline and

Walesa, in his first criticism of the administration of Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki, said "somebody made a monkey of himself" by allowing

This only proves the incompetence of those who the price hikes. raise the prices, but it burdens the government's account and mine." he said at his weekly news cofnerence. "I can alrady hear people swearing at me. The situation is getting hot and it may turn out that we will not be able to contain the people (in their

Gasoline prices rose by 50 per cent earlier thismonth and prices of milk took a similar substantial

Labour Minister Jacek Kuron, one of most prominent Solidarity activists and a close associate of Walesa, described the gasoline price hikes as an independent decision of the Polish national gas company. But a company official later said it was taken in consultation with the government.

At a news conference in Warsaw, new govenrment spokesman Malgorzata Niezabitowska said the gasoline price hikes were handled badly and that Kuron did not know at the time the government had been involved in the price hikes.

"I think the public should be warned," she said. "the whole affair was not correctly handled." Walesa also said he would retire from active political life, a promsie he has made several times before.

He suggested he would stay on as union chief until the Solidarity Congress, expected early next year. But — as in the past — he also held open the possibility that he would stay on if the Congress does not elect a new leader he deems suitable.

now. I have to stay until the Congress and if need be I will jump the fence again, just like in 1980."
That was a reference to his jumping over the Lenin shippard sence to lead the strike that resulted in the formation of the first independent trade union in the

Legal Clinic Ex

ADVICE FROM OUR KUWAITI LAWYER KHALID TAHER

IF you have a legal problem, labour or any other kind. Send your questions to Arab Times, Legal Clinic. Our Kuwaiti lawyer Khaled Taber replies to readers queries. Write to Legal Clinic, Arab Times, P.O. Box 2270, 13023 Safat, Kuwait or fax your questions on Fax No.

you as well.

I'M WORKING in a prestigious company under visa no. 18. I am aware that there is no release without completing a three year

I have worked for only eight months in the company. I'm now planning to resign due to barassment which I face from the mannent. Can I go out of the country and come back with a fresh visa provided by the other company? Please advise.

YES, it is possible to return on a fresh work permit, provided you have already found a company willing to sponsor you. If the sponsor gives a visa, you can cancel the present visa, leave the country and re-

I'M WORKING for the last 11 years in a company, which has also sponsored me. Now they are removing workers due to reduction of work. I wanted to go to my country. If I get 2 new job, I won't get vacation. What is the time limit to change the residence in order to get my service

IF THE company is making workers redundant due to lack of work, you can ask the sponsor to give you a release as you have worked for more than 10 years.

If you don't get a release, you can file a case to obtain it. If you want to change your job, first you must find a new spon-

I WANT to know about living in Kuwait for more than 10 years. I came in Kuwait in 1975 and worked in one company, under visa no. 18, until 1978. I transferred my nce and worked for another company from May 1979 to July 1989, also under no. 18 visa. From August 1989, I have been working in a new company. Can I change my residence permit any time? Or according to the new law, I can't change before completing three years?

A PERSON who has lived in Kuwait for 10 years or more under article no. 18 visa has been exempted from the three year rule, according to Article 17 of Ministerial Resolution No. 87, that went into force on March 22, 1989.

Anyone who has stayed for 10 years in Kuwait on a no. 18 visa, even if he has worked for more than one company, will be considered as a "continuous resident," provided he did not cancel the visa to leave the country and come back.

If a person has lived for five years will not be exempt under the new rules. Stay in Kuwait on any other visa is not taken into consideration.

Article 17, Ministerial Resolution No. 87, stipulates: "The ministry may exempt those who have been residing continuously in Kuwait for a constant period of 10 years from the provision of the duration (three years service) if the labour contract has terminated with the consent of the employer concerned, or in accordance with the provisions of Article 57 or Article 59 of the Private Sector Labour Law."

ambassador-designate to the State of Bahrain, says he's looking forward to going there, "making friends and strengthening ties" on all levels.

The United States and

Bahrain have been close friends for over 40 years, he noted in an interview. "Time and again, the Bahrainis have demonstrated operative in helping us meet military contingencies," he said, "particularly in their support of the US Navy during the Iran-

Iraq war.
"The Bahrainis I have met through the years have always been such pleasant, delightful people. I'm eager to do what I can to further strengthen the bonds

As ambassador to the independent sheikhdom, Hostler between us.'

They have been very co-

their loyal friendship."

I HAVE been working for a Kuwaiti sponsor with a visa no. 20. I entered Kuwait in January 1989. Now my sponsor has set up a new company and has agreed to give me a job as a secretary there. I am a graduate and can do any office work. 1. Can be change my visa to no. 18? Shall I leave the country for this? 2. Am I allowed to get married to a man currently working in Kuwait and live with him here?

I DON'T think it is possible to change a visa from no. 20 to no. 18. As far as I know, this is not permitted. However, if your employer can get a fresh visa, you can reenter on article 18. There are no restrictions on marriage. Yes, you can marry the man. If he is working here, he may be able to sponsor

I HAVE been holding visa no. 18 from 1985. Seven months ago I transferred my residence permit to a new sponsor. Is it possible to change my residence permit if I get a ministry job?

Chandran Mahendran IT WOULD be possible to change your residence to the ministry only with the consent of the Ministry of Social Affairs and Labour. If the ministry accepts the application, there is no problem. As far as I know, in most cases the transfer of visas from private sector to the government sector has been stopped.

I AM an overseas contracted teacher at a private English school here in Kuwait. My contract is renewable annually and the contract states that I receive either a rest free flat or an accommodation allowance plus a return air ticket each summer. I pay my own water and electricity bills. The contract also states that I will be paid a gratuity on completion of service.

Could you please let me know how this gratuity is calculated? is it based only on my salary or is it calculated from my overall income from the school which includes the accommodation or the allowance paid to me each month?

GRATUITY will be calculated on the basis of the salary and the accommodation and or allowance paid each month and the air ticket given each summer. The overall income from the school, including the above, will be calculated, based on which the monthly salary will be derived and the gratuity determined.

I AM a cook, my problem is regarding salary, which was KD150 and has been reduced to KD120. Also, they terminated me verbally, without any written memo or letter. Do I have the right to complain at ter?

Ministry of Labour regarding this matter?

My job acceptance came from Ministry of Labour saying I was on a one year contract with a salary of KD150. Who will

Is it true that the employment letter given by the Ministry of Labour is useless if I file a complaint? This is the only paper I hold after transferring my visa to this company? Is the

US ambassador-designate to Bahrain would strengthen ties said he would go beyond military co-operation to expand commercial and banking ties, increase people-to-people contacts and ing before the Middle East subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is scheduled for today (Oct 2). He would succeed Sam H. Zakhem, who is returning to private life.

Acquaintance

Well acquainted with the Mid-dle East, Hostler has lived there

20 years and studied and written extensively about the area. His life is sprinkled with regional Hostler has three earned graduate degrees: a master's in Middle East studies from American University in Beirut; a master's in international relations from Georgetown Univer-connections.

Hostler's confirmation hear-promote cultural exchanges.

doctorate in political science and economics from Georgetown.

He was an adjunct professor at American University, Washington, and has lectured at other

A former board member of the Middle East Institute in Washington, Hostler has written a number of books and articles, including a seminal study of Turkish-

Soviet relations. He speaks

East began in World War Two.

He was military attache at American embassies in Lebanon,

Jordan and Cyprus. After retiring from the Air Force, he spent many years in the region in a

Hostler, who grew up in California, entered the US Army.

Air Corps in 1942, a few months after he was graduated from the University of California at Los

His experience in the Middle universities.

French and Arabic.

business capacity.

ministry letter considered as a contract as I have been hired locally?

We have an Egyptian manager in the restaurant who told me that nobody can help me as I don't have a contract. Can I complain against bim?

YOU CAN complain to the Ministry of Social Affairs and Labour and ask for the difference in the salary. If you are planning to leave the country, the employer must pay the ticket.

The employment letter given by the ministry is useful and can be used to file the complaint. It can be determined, through witnesses or by the pay cheques given to you that you received a lower salary than the one promised and the agreed salary was KD150, which they decreased to

It doesn't matter that you don't have a contract. Even if there is no contract, the law itself is a contract, and the conditions in the law are considered binding on both the employer and the employee. It doesn't matter if there is no written contract.

It is not advisable to listen to your manager as he is only trying to give you a wrong point of view. However, it is not advisable to complain against him as he is probably carrying out the policies of the company. Also, there must be a valid reason to complain against anyone.

Anyone whose salary has been reduced without his consent can lodge a complaint at the ministry to get the full benefits and the difference between the salaries paid and what should be paid.

WE ARE a group of workers who joined the present company by a transfer of residence. Please clarify if we have the right to complain to the Ministry of Labour regarding the reduction of our salaries from KD120 to KD90. Our employment letter, issued by the Ministry of Labour, stated our salary as KD120 per month. Our payment is also delayed atleast by three weeks each month. We are not given free accommodation. We don't have a contract. Is it true that the employment letter given by the Ministry of Labour is useless? We were told that as we don't have a contract, the ministry will ignore our complaint regarding salaries. Readers with a problem

AS I advised another reader in this column, even if there is no contract between an employer and an employee, the labourer automatically comes under Kuwait's labour law. Once a person is hired, he is covered by the labour law regardless of whether he has signed a contract or not. In the absence of a written contract, details like salary and benefits depend on the mutual agreement made between the two parties (employer and employee). And the terms of the contract are in accordance with the labour law.

As far as the salary is concerned, you can depend on the employment letter given by the Ministry of Labour. If your salary has been reduced without your consent, and the employer has refused to pay the difference, you can lodge a complaint against the employer at the ministry.

Angeles. Over the next 20 years,

he held key planning and intelligence posts in the military. Besides the Middle East, he served in Turkey and Romania.

After retiring from the Air Force in 1963 with the permanent rank of colonel, Hostler joined the McDonnell Douglas Corporation. As director of the California company's Middle East and North African operations, he was based in Beirut, and represented the firm in countries ranging from Greece through

India, selling aircraft and developing commercial relations

In 1969, he formed his own business, Hostler Investment

Company, and later the Pacific Southwest Capital Corporation in California; both are engaged in property ownership and management. He also was in the ban-king business.

with countries in the area.

Arab Housing Day today

Kuwait joins celebrations

Message.

secure adequate shelter for all human beings throughout the world. The theme chosen for this.

year, "Shelter, Health and the Family" highlights the link bet-ween these critical aspects of human welfare, he said in his

Today there are over one billion people who do not have adequate shelter, hundreds of millions are crowded into slums and squatter settlements without community services and if

KUWAIT, Oct 1, (Kuna): Kuwait celebrates tomorrow the Arab Housing Day, as its celebration of the housing week in Kuwait today enters its second day and is scheduled to come to stark violation of human rights and disgraceful challenge of world public opinion.

an end on Oct 4.

Arab Housing Day coincides with the UN celebration of "The World Habitat Day" which focuses on the need for securing adequate shelter for all human beings all over the world.

Kuwait, which has been providing citizens with adequate housing units since 1954, has deep conviction in the citizens' rights to enjoy an honourable human life.

As the world in general and the Arab countries in particular celebrate Housing Day, it's of great importance on this occasion to draw the world's attention to millions of homeless Palestinians scattered in the four corners of the globe as a result of Israeli occupation of their present trends continue, includ-ing the increasing concentration of people in urban areas, the number of homeless and those Furthermore, Israeli occupa-tion troops have been blowing up, and bulldozing houses of Palestinian citizens in the with inadequate shelter will occupied West Bank and Gaza increase by many million each Strip under fragile pretexts, in

There is clear evidence that without proper shelter - including housing, clean water, sanita-tion and community services On the occasion of World the risk of disease is vastly Habitat Day, UN Secretaryincreased and a stable family life becomes almost impossible, he General Javier Peres de Cuellar called on the international community to focus on the need to

The UN chief noted that in order to deal with the shelter crisis, the international community has agreed on a global strategy for shelter to the year 2000. It is an ambitious programme and will require great effort, but the strategy only reflects the scale of the problem and urgency of the situation, he

De Cuellar noted that it is encouraging that in many coun-tries governments are working in permership with communities, aid agencies, the formal and informal private sectors and non-governments organisa-SOCIAL SERVICES.

The United Nations working in particular through the centre for human settlements, will continue to play its part, but increased resources are urgently needed and great priority must & be given to shelter in development policies and programmes,

On World Habitat Day, I urge the international commun-ity to renew its commitment and redouble its efforts to provide decent housing for every individual and family," he said.

"Let us not forget that the fundamental purpose of develop-ment is to promote human dig-nity through constant improvement in the well-being of people. Where and how we live is thus at the core of development,"

Investment court may solve Arab contentions

HEAD of the Supreme Judicial Council Councellor Mohammad Al Refai announced yesterday that the Arab Investment Court based in Tunisia in geared to look into investment disputes among Arab countries.

Refai who returned from Tunisia after attending the meeting of the court committee, said that both the administrative and judicial systems have been formulated and approved. He added that the court will be part of the Arab Court of Justice and is considered an advanced step towards establishing an expanded Arab judicial system to solve disputes among Arab countries. Judgements of the new investment court will be final the official said.

Refai commented that the inter-Arab investments and investment relations among Arab countries necessitated basing such relations on a sound legal footing. The new step comes within the framework of the Arab agreement for investing funds in Arab countries, which was approved by the Arab summit held in Jordan. The agreement has determined a legal framework to settle disputes framework consists of three steps, compromise, arbitration and finally the investment court. He added that the Arab Economic and Social Council decided in 1984 to establish the court and selected 6 judges from various Arab countries and a similar number as reserves.

About the powers of the court and its duties, Refai said that the court will look into disputes referred to it by member countries in accordance with the Arab unified agreement on fund investment and also in cases referred by the Arab Economic and Social Council concerning issues relating to facilitating and improving trade exchange bet-ween Arab countries. The court can look into disputes between member countries, or member countries and establishments and organisations of other members or between establishments belonging to member countries, Refai said.

Customs council KUWAIT, Oct 1, (Kuna): Kuwait will take part at the international Customs Co-operation Council, to be hosted by the Belgian capital during the first week of October, an authorised source told Kuna.

An official at the General Department of Customs said that the council will discuss issues related to the custom fee, classification of goods and a report by the asse

He said that customs departments around the globe use the fee system known as the "Brussels" system because it was originated there, while Kuwait applies the UN system, which contains a more comprehensive and broader custom definitions for goods and commodities.

Libyan Ambassador Hassoun Al Lafi Al Shawsh and Kuwaiti Minister of State for Service Affairs Issa Al Mazidi cut a cake together at a reception held Saturday to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Libyan Revolution.

Cleanliness campaign

6 teams to combat flies in Wafra area this month

GENERAL Controller of the Fifth Agricultural Area in Wafra, Mohammed Ghazi Al Otaibi announced that a special committee established by a ministerial decree is currently preparing to combat flies in the area and will start field operations during the first half of this month. Interviewed by Seyassa during a field tour of Wafra Agricultural Area, he added that a new cleaning company will take over cleaning operations at the farms area in Wafra as of

In the frame of cleanliness and other services, he stated that Kuwait Municipality has distributed more than 400 garbage containers to facilitate farmers to collect their wastes. The municipality also paved several streets totalling 75 kilometres.

He indicated that co-ordination and co-operation between the municipality and the General Authonity for Agricultural Affairs and Fisheries is a successful ongoing process towards planting and landscaping a green belt around northern farms to block wind storms, and to protect farms from sands

On efforts to remove piles of sands along the side of streets and roads in the area, he said that the municipality is strenuously endeavouring to overcome this problem. Sand piles reduce the power consumption. He added that MEW faces troubles in collecting the electricity bills from consumers by delaying them and called on citizens and expatriates to co-operate with

MEW by paying their bills regularly.

Al Homaizi Foodstuff Co. WLL

requires for its operations:

Waiters / Waitresses

With transferable Residence Permit

Al-Sour St., Al Homaizi Bldg.

Please Contact in Person

The Personnel Dept.

Near Ford Car Agency

He indicated that only sand piles existing outside these farms is removed by the municipality. Farmers must sign applications at the municipality for removal of sand piles within their farms.

Obaid Salabi Al Otaibi a farmer at Wafra

Agricultural Area indicated that Wafra is suffering

ble for a long time. He hoped that officials lay more emphasis to combatting flies and insects during specific seasons. He stressed that citizens should be cautioned and made fully aware of the dire consequences that result from discarding carcasses on from many problems represented in the fact that these issues. He called upon officials to permit cleaning operations.

municipality cars to enter their farms to undertake

Regarding cleanliness outside farms, he said that

Kuwait Municipality had established a three month

camp for this purpose. He hoped that such efforts will be repeated on a regular basis. He called upon officials at the Ministry of Public Works to urge contractors to speed up street paving operations due to the fact that many vital roads have been inaccessi-roads or near streets. irrigation He indicated that the Agricultural Society in the area is unable to cover farmers requirements of seeds for agriculture in addition to agricultural equipments. He said that the area lacks efficient irrigation The area controller, Mohammed Al Otaibi stated that proposals are now being studied for the formation of 6 work teams to combat flies at the area, and stressed that these are only house flies. He urged farmers and citizens to co-operate with Kuwait Municipality and work teams in an effort to speed up fly eradication operations outside.

He indicated that Kuwait Municipality has recently made joint efforts with the General Traffic Department to post traffic lights on streets crossing within the farm area.

Mumtaz post service No increase

A PRESS release from the Minis-RESPONSIBLE source at the try of Communications, Post Ministry of Electricity and Office Department has the extension of Muniaz Post Service from 30th September, 1989 to include Venezuela. Water has denied rumours of an increase in prices of electricity and described these stories as baseless. But he added that the Mumtaz Post items are accepministry is undertaking a study to determine ways and means to ted at a specially designated win-dow in the General Post Office Counter, Fahd Al Salem Street, during regular working hours daily, except on official holidays. Fees for the Mumtaz Post Service are shown hereunder. KD6 for the first half kilogramme or part thereof.

KD2 for every additional half kilogramme of part thereof. The maximum weight limit of an item is 20 kgs. Legal Indemnity

The Post Office Department accepts legal liability for Mumtaz Post items for (the paid postal charge plus the legal indemnity as mentioned in the UPU regula-in case of non-delivery of the Mumtaz Post item to the addressee for one week due to unforescen reasons relates to the Post Office of Origin or Destina-

Te Post Office Department accepts no legal liability in the following cases:

In case of damage or loss or delay in delivery due to circum stances beyond control.

In case of confiscation by the concerned authorities of the Origin or Destination due to the contents being prohibited. Further details and information can be obtained from the office of the Head of Mumtaz Post Section at the Post Office Department, Fahd Al Salem Street, Kuwait or call on telephone number 2420278. The Mumtaz Post Service is available with the following administrations: United Kingdom, Singapore, Hong Kong, Holland, USA, Rep. of Korea, Bahrain, Qatar, Tunisia, Rep. of China, West Germany, Saudi Arabia, France, Japan, Switzerland, Macao, Ireland, Brazil, Australia, Sweden, UAE, Egypt. Australia, Sweden, UAE, Egypt, Luxembourg, Cyprus, Norway, Thailand, Argentina, Greece, Colombia, Oman, Turkey, Sen-egal, New Zealand, Denmark, Jordan, Iraq (Baghdad only), Austria, Italy, Canada, Mali, Paleitan Bostuari, Paleitan Pakistan, Portugal, Belgium, Ivory Coast, Djibouti, Burkina Faso, Niger, Sudan (Khartoum only), P.R. of China, Algeria, Rep. of Togo, Spain, Morocco, Hungary, Venezuela.

sity in Washington DC, and a کویت سے لاسودکنیٹرمبروس کے ماہنےا درکویت کی مسکتے بڑی او تعمیسز دفیا دیک ٹ لنزا پاکستان پر آپ که ای معیادی سروشی او کمپ بر مبترمغادات کر مفظر مکت برنتے بیم ریمرت اعلان گرفت میں کریم خی کڑی اور لاہورمی مزروج والی آبیزنے مقررکتے بی جن کا بھرا جمل انشا والفرسیات ۔ آپ کی میر فورمست کے لئے آپ سے مجھ رقبر تعاون کرسے ہے ۔ ماكستان مسيس أسر كے مفادات كے عنمانت دوانتى كخيلنريات كمرجح يسعد لايورى راكتربر ١١٣ راكوب ١٩٨٩ع جيب الشيوخ دا بطء 2406222 3929870 4310505 2406333

JAMES R. KNOWLES Construction Contracts Consultants

require

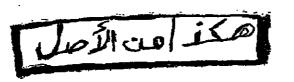

Senior Quantity Surveyors For their Kuwait Office Candidates should be self-motivated and effective with a sound background of Quantity Surveying and a good knowledge of Engineering Contracts. and Construction disputes, together with the requisite communication skills.

These positions offer attractive and rewarding opportunities.

Please send a copy of current CV, marked for the attention of Bruce Parry either:

By Fax to 2402286 By mail to P.O. Box 26873, 13129, Safat, Kuwait

Rector calls for cut in expenses

Special transport for handicapped

RECTOR of Kuwait University Dr Shuaib Abdulla held a meeting with deans of different faculties of the university to discuss new work procedures and policies of the university. Abdulla told the meeting that university should rationalise spending due to the general trend of the state and should restrict spending in light of measures followed by foreign universities. He stressed on the necessity to preserve timetables of lectures and final exams as well as advance preparations of the com-

NEWS IN

Housing week

Housing Authority Oct 2-8.

Sabah visits pilot

Al Shummari who is being treated at Al Razi Hospital for injuries he received when his plane crashed during exercise

sheikh Saoan was accompanied by Planning Minister and Acting Health Minister Abdul Rahman Al Awadi, Public Works Minister Abdul Rahman

Al Houti and Municipal Mini-ster Mohammed Abdul Mohs-

KUWAIT, Oct 1, (Kuna): Minister of Planning and Acting Min-ister of Public Health Dr Abdul

Rahman Al Awadi returned here

Saturday after a short visit to Iran where he attended parts of the 36th meeting for the World Health Organisation East Mediterranean Office.

On arrival Awadi told Kuna

that the Islamic Republic of Iran has been keen on oppositing all capabilities to secure the success

He pointed out the meeting between the Iranian President

Ali Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani

and the delegations taking part in

He added that he met during his presence in Tehran with the assistant of the Iranian president for environment affairs Dr Hadi

Menafi and discussed with him issues relating to the Regional Organisation for the Protection of Marine Environment

KUWAIT, Oct 1, (Kuna): The chief of staff of Djibouti Army

Brigadier Ali Medal Waess and the delegation accompanying him left here today at the end of an official visit to Kuwait.

During the visit, the military official met with the Defence Minister and the chief of staff, and toured a number of military

The Djibouti chief of staff was seen off at the airport by his Kuwaiti counterpart Major General Mezied A) Sanae and

ABU DHABI, Oct 1, (Kuna):

Communication ministers in the Gulf Co-operation Council

(GCC) will open talks for their 4th meeting, due to convene at the secretariat's headquarters in Riyadh Oct 17.

The meeting will focus on the various issues concerning sea transportation among GCC member states and endorse the recommendations adopted by the GCC communications

undersecretaries in this context.

ranking army officers.

Communications

Difbouti brigadier

the conference, were cordial.

sen Al Refai.

of the meeting.

(Roome).

Awadi returns

Sheikh Sabah was accompan-inauguration

tomorrow morning.

BRIEF

ing budget.
The meeting determined the end of September every year as the last day for publishing ads on vacancies for teaching staff. The interviews with applicants are made during December and January. The applicants will be notified about results (acceptance/rejection) in February and March. The meeting agreed to set up two committees to study research that take part in the annual prizes of the university. Each faculty should get previous approval from the university before granung the annual bonus to employees or teachers. The meeting stressed on the importance of submitting applications to attend scientific conferences abroad at an early date.

Meanwhile, the director of public services department of Kuwait University Anwar Al Zughaib has said that the department operates buses to transport students from one faculty to another for 12 hours a day. He added that a bus runs every 15 minutes. The department rented special buses to transport handicapped students from their residence to their faculties. He added that the cleanliness section of the department supervises the work and activities of the cleanliness companies within faculties.

Zughaib pointed out that the depart-ment plans to build air-conditioning bus stations for students at the faculties and also plans to modernise the telephone exchanges used in the fifferent utilities of the university.

Kuwaiti thumbs up for Libyan nuke plan

VIENNA, Oct 1, (Kuna): Kuwait's delegate to the con-ference of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) Ahmed Khaled Al Jassar has given a thumbs up to a Libyan proposal that IAEA should draw up a plan to employ nuclear energy for production of lowcost desalinated water.

Jassar, talking to Kuna foll-owing the end of the conference Friday night, said the Libyan draft resolution which was endorsed by all participants except one, would be of special importance to African countries and the majority of Arab states which suffer water shortages.

Those countries are poised to benefit most from the proposal since they still lack the advanced desalination technologies, which by contrast, abound in the industrial countries that already have ample resources of drinking water, Jassar noted.

Jassar, who is director of Al Subbiyah Hydraulic Power Generation Station in Kuwait, underscored the need for the feasibility study which the IAEA plans to conducton the use of nuclear energy in water desalina-

He said the agency was the best qualified body to conduct the study thanks to its army of

well as harsh weather circumstances and shortage in the Kuwaiti produce only 18 per cent

Better results expected from local agriculture

By Mohammed Al Barjes

THE managing director of the Agricultural Products Company (APC) Khaled Al Usman has said that company's procedure to market the local agricultural products and buy products of local farms directly from reception centres at Abdali and Wafr farms during the last two years reduced the big gap between prices collected by farmers and those paid by consumers. The official commented that farmers were getting very low prices from selling their products to brokers prior to the company's involvement. Now they get reasonable prices for their products and the company gets only a simple margin of profits.

of farmers who seek to sell their products to the company is increasing. The consumers also began preferring local agricul-tural products because the company offers these products fresh daily and at reasonable prices through different markets established by APC in different areas of Kuwait.

exports the surplus of local products to GCC states and some Arab countries and some European countries like France and West Germany. He added that the company exported 252 tons of different agricultural products to these countries dur-ing the last two seasons. He added that 218 tons were cucumber (86 per cent of local agricultural products). The company is presently in contact with com-panies it dealt with in these countries to see the possibility of signing agreements to export surplus of the coming season specially surplus of main products which are cucumber and tomato. He added that more success is expected to be achieved in the local agricultural production. However, the official said that agriculture in Kuwait is suffering from scarcity of irrigation water and the nature of Kuwait soil as

Usman pointed out that APC

He added that this procedure is very successful and the number required technical manpower. He pointed out that the company has 41 centres and branches to market local agricultural products distributed over differnet areas and plans to increase these branches in future to cover all areas. APC has built separate markets at Hawalli, Capital, and Jahra governorates beside the main vegetables market in Shuwaikh. The company provides all ministries of the state with required local vegetables specially defence, health and interior ministries, he said.

The company offers technical help to farmers by providing them with requirements of agricultural production like seeds and fertilisers at low prices. We also offer financial facilities to them to carry out their work beside marketing services and transportation from farms to markets. Usman called to unify efforts to serve national agriculture in Kuwait. He added that there are several bodies working in the agricultural sector like: Kuwait Farmers Union, Union of Agricultural Co-operative Societies, Wafra Agricultural Co-operative, Abdali Agricultural Co-operative, Union of Production Society. A unified co-ordination is essential to achieve optimum results, the official said. He also called to offer more marketing channels to market local products and said that cooperative societies should help

Fishermen, Union of Producers of Dairy Products, Poultry

Products Society and Sheep

farmers in this respect. He also called on farmers to diversify their agricultural products and to reduce dependence on some main agricultural products. The local market suffers from scarcity of some products because of low production while it suffers from surplus of other kinds which leads to collapse of prices, he said.

Commenting on the agriculmers, Usman said that total agricultural products of these farmers totalled 57,000 tons in the agricultural season 87/1988 marking an increase of 273 per marking an increase of 273 per cent compared to 83/1984 that reached only 15,000 tons. He added that local production of cucumber amounted to 18,000 tons and tomato 10,000 tons in 87/1988 compared to only 304 tons of cucumber and 8,000 tons of tomato in 83/1984. He referred the increases of local production to the subsidisation and support given by the government to fargiven by the government to far-mers. For instance, tomato production increased from 5,000 tons in 82/1983 (before subsidisation) to 18,000 in 87/1988 and cucumber increased from only 75 tons in 82/1983 to 10,000 in 87/ 1988 because of subsidisation. He added that production of other kinds of vegetables also sharply increased due to government policies to subsidise local farms. The farmers are now producing many types of vegeta-tural products of Kuwaiti far-

Statistics

ble like green beans, and green peas as well as all kinds of Agricultural statistics show that local production forms only 18 per cent of agricultural products available in the local markets. The local agricultural production reached 57,000 tons in 87/88 while about 247,000 tons were imported. Local tomato production reached 28 per cent of total marketed tomato and local cucumber reached 40 per cent of the cucumber available in local markets that year. Local agricultural production is suffering from foreign competition and the limited number and area of markets used to market local production. However, Usman said that the company is working to establish new markets and open more branches to cover all housing areas. He added that consumers prefer local products as they are fresh compared to imported vegetables which are normally ten days old.

Amir in Niger

HH the Amir arrived in Niger yesterday after a brief official visit to Mali. HH was greeted at the airport by President of Niger, General Ali Sebu.

From the courts

4 years for physical assault

THE Criminal Court sentenced an Asian labourer to 4 years imprisonment and ordered his deportation for physically assaulting his colleague and causing severe disability. The court was told that while ing severe disability. The court was told that while the complainant was working in Al Qurain Housing Project, the accused, who was working as a driver and knows martial arts (karate) very well, tried to joke with his colleague. The complainant then added that the accused made some karate movements, turned his back, jumped in the air and his back his work here are the stemach made ring. him unconscious. The medical examiners report indicated that the complainant was found to have lost his spleen and his disability was estimated at 20

Reduced charge

THE Appeals Court reduced a sentence by the Misdemeanours Court against a company chairman for misbehaving and humiliating an employee from the enforcement department of the Ministry of Justice who came to deliver a notification for an employee in the company.

The Misdemeanours Court had sentenced the chairman to one month imprisonment and asked him to pay K.D100 to suspend the execution. But the Court of Appeal reduced the sentence to a fine of KD40. The ministry employee told the court that he went to deliver the notification to the receptionist of the company. The receptionist denied she was the respondent and told the employee she was giving the notification to the chairman. After the employee waited for half an hour in the company with no reply, he decided to go to the chairman. He alleged that the chairman shouted at him and ordered him to get out. The man told the court that he was humiliated. The chairman told the court that as the employee entered, he was with a number of businessmen in a meeting and as he personally had commit-ted no mistake or violation, he asked the man to wait outside in a polite manner.

The Appeal Court in its deliberations found mitigating circumstances in the case and reduced the original sentence of the Misdemenaour Court.

Acquitted for stealing

THE Court of Misdemeanours acquitted a sales manager at a shoe shop from the charges of stealing KD11,000. Owner of the shop accused the manager of stealing the amount as he had a duplicate copy of the shop keys. The owner said as the manager went on a two-month leave and was slightly late, he counted the money and found KD11,000 missing. The accused said that he did not taking anything from the shop adding that the brother and partner of the owner also had a duplicate key with him. Thus, he was not the only one that had the shop's keys. Moreover, the manager said that after coming from his leave, the shop owner refused to accept him and thus was forced to search for another job. The court said in its acquittal that it found no evidence that the manager stole any money. Moreover, the shop owner did not report the incident in time which cast serious doubts on the allegations.

Arrested for illegal possession SECURITYMEN from the Department of Ports Security have arrested three men for possession of liquor, arms and ammunition and referred them to the competent authorities.

The suspects, identified as Sabbar S. and Za'eer S. of Iraqi nationality and Abdullah A. and Dakhil H of non-Kuwaiti nationality, had 51 cartons of liquor hidden out in the desert in Sulaibiya, besides a machine gun, 522 bullets, and a Spanish pistol with five bullets.

Traffic accidents

ONE person died and four were injured in traffic accidents that occurred in the country yesterday. Two of the eleven accidents took place in the Capital, two in Hawalli, three in Ahmadi and four in 13168

23824 Iman Khaled Mashary Al Saleh 23034 Dantis

22354 Hammoud Nizar Amin

15651 Nasser Soulaiman Al

4130 Mahmoud Nour El Din

In fact, Hungry Bunny restaurants are the largest Hamburger chain in Kuwait with more than 16 outlets conveniently located throughout town.

Fawaz Hamdan Al

BÄHRAIN DIGEST

Illegal visa trading rampant in Bahrain

SOME public relations managers representing various commercial establishments in Bahrain have resorted to selling illegally employment and residential visas to members of the island's expatriate population.

This disturbing practice has been going on for quite sometime now particularly since the boom years of the seventies when the country attracted substantial number of overseas workforce. In recent years there has been a growing and extremely lucrative 'free-visa' market which was created by a number of factors. A large number of national sponsors and employers openly indulge in selling visas to expatriates at often exorbitant amounts.

The documents may be renewed after the two year period on payment of a fixed amount by the expatriate worker to the sponsor. Buyers of such visas are mainly South Asians in the low income group. Despite the high costs involved these people are still attracted by the 'free-visa' which is illegal.

Clandestine

In the wake of increasing free-visa trade a number of corrupt public relations officials employed by leading companies have started to take advantage of their positions by clandestinely selling visas procured in the name of the company concerned to customers in the

As part of their duties these officials perform the various immigration and labour oriented tasks on behalf of expatriate staff employed in the company concerned. According to labour laws all public relations or liaison employees in the country must be nationals. The practice of selling visas illegally is surprisingly done without the knowledge of the sponsors or employers. Therefore a number of expatriates may reside in the country on a visa issued in the name of the particular company. The owner of the company may not even be aware of this phenomenon thanks to his public relations employee. A public relations man may misuse the authority invested in him by even charging expatriate employees of the company to renew resident and work permits — duties which he has been hired to perform in the first place! The victims are afraid to report about this form of extortion to the big boss or file ann official complaint. The PR official may threaten to concel resident and work permits at random.

PYAAS Drama No. 5 (Upto Part 11) • NEELAM GHAR (New) • MELA (New) • MELA (New) اجانگاوس مرا (قسط مرا جس)

(Upto Part 6) (Complete) (Complete)

Silver Video (MURQAB) Land (MURQAB) Tel: 2407887-2404636

WANTED

A leading commercial firm is looking for a young and smart

Secretary

with minimum 5 years previous experience in Typing and correspondence with a trading company. Knowledge of short-hand will be preferred.

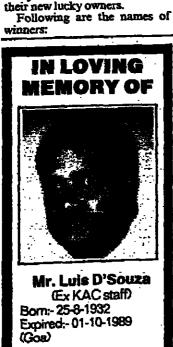

Only sultable candidates to contact Tel. 2437480 for interview.

RELEASING TODAY Anurodha Potel TAUFIQUE -2468717 CITIZEN --- 2455130 AL RASHED - 2437224

دكالمة يبعيش للسياحة تتدوانسعشر

aisters-in-law, nephews &

HUNGRY Bunny's 'Back to School' successful promotion culminated in the long-awaited

The draw took place at 7.30 pm at Hungry Bunny Keifan, attended by a large number of hopeful customers vying for

One full computer and keyboard, five computers and as many as 10 school desks found draw on Thursday 28/9/89.

various valuable prizes.

inserted by: Wife & children, brothers,

Hungry Bunny's Back to School promotion draw 4876

5893

Moubarak

14981

26482

24114

Sayed Hashem 6935 A

Farjan 10903

Salameh Ibrahim Fosiayah Ismail Al

Bashar Majed

Ashwak Yousef

Mohammad Motiak

6778 Amani Ahmad Ghloom

10496 Housnia Housien Fahd

Raed Abou Hadra

Amani Ibrahim Al

Ammar Al Anbary

Sport Healthy Center

Saturdays, Mondays, Wednesdays

and Fridays, from 10.00 am to 10.00

Kuwait Sporting Club — Keifan

For ladies

am to 8.00 pm

offers all kinds of sports for the realising of healthy purposes such as elegance, beauty, strength and will.

 The increase and decrease of weight

Manual and automatic massage

--- Steam sauna

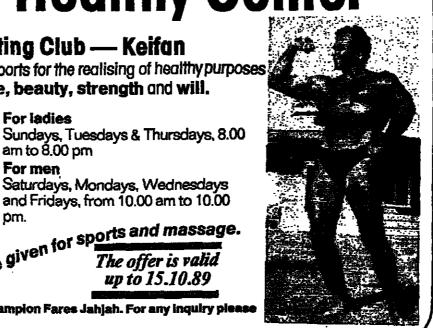

— Body building — Karate

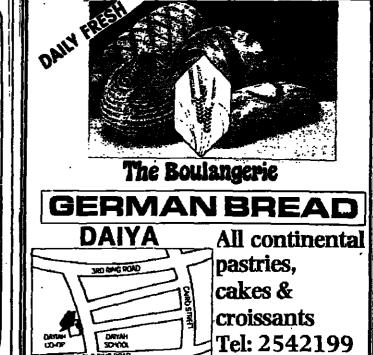

— Physiotherapy under the

A special discount of 20% will be given for sports and massage.

The offer is valid

The centre is managed by the International Champion Fares Jahjah. For any inquiry please contact Tel. 4836701/4836702.

ARAB®TIMES

Thought for today

THERE is one thing stronger than all the armies in the world, and that is an idea whose time has come — Victor Hugo, French writer (1802-1885).

Dalai Lama holds on to non-violence

Call for guns growing

FOR 30-years the Dalai Lama has preached non-violence as the only realistic way for his people to campaign to free their homeland from China's military might.

The Tibetan spiritual leader says the cause gets support around the world precisely because its Buddhist creed of non-violence sets it apart from other freedom movements.

Not all agree. Peaceful protest has failed, counter young Tibetan exiles, and the time has come to take up the gun against what they call their Chinese oppressors.

"International moral pressure is not going to make China pull out," radical Tibetan youth leader Lhasang Tsering said.

"Whatever we say and do the Chinese will carry on with their policy," he says. "Even if fighting is the last thing we do we must take it because that is the honourable course." Tibet has been under Chinese martial rule since March when the last of a series of major pro-independence demonstrations in the capital, Lhasa, was put down by troops and police. China said 16 people died in the riots. Tibetans say several hundred were killed at the time or executed later in a forerunner to the bloody suppression of the pro-democracy student movement in Peking in

The Dalai Lama, an exile in India since he fled as Chinese troops completed their annexation of his Himalayan nation in 1959, appears to have headed off a wider call for armed struggle for the time being. In a forthright speech inaugurating a meeting of the radical Tibetan Youth Congress this month he said: "I am for non-violence, not because it is my religious belief but also because I feel violence is suicidal.

Speaking later at his home in the Himalayan foothills of north India, he said it was easy for Tibetans to talk of copying the Palestinian uprising in Israeli occupied territories or the Afghan mujahedeen. Carrying it out was very different.

"Even if we want to fight, it is very easy to talk but if we implement it we first have to think where we will receive the supplies," he said. "Just with a few guns, a few bullets or a few bombs it does not make any

It is a measure of the Dalai Lama's hold over his people that his warning was enough to make the 12,000-strong Youth Congress think again about a strident call for guerrilla war.

Because of our deep reverence for his holiness and the argument that he has presented, while we have not changed our minds, we are not going to step it up at the moment," Congress President Tsering

The Tibetan struggle has not always been peaceful, and Tsering said he believed more than half the 100,000 Tibetan exiles in India agreed with his views.

We cannot afford to wait," he said. "The only situation where these (Chinese) immigrants are going to leave is when they find it is unprofitable or unsafe to stay.

As a young man of 19, Tsering took part in the last gasp of a guerrilla war that began in the 1950s and continued sporadically even after US President Richard Nixon cut off Central Intelligence Agency funding before his landmark visit to China in 1972. Tens of theusands died as Tibetan resistance fighters and ordinary people rose up against Peking's imposition of its power on the strategically important land of snows between China and India. Armed struggle stuttered on for two more years after funding was cut, with Tsering and his comrades conducting limited operations from Nepal's Mustang region. A crackdown by Nepal and an appeal from the Dalai Lama to stop fighting brough it to an end in 1974.

The Dalai Luma, regarded as both a god and king by his followers, says he understands the frustrations of young Tibetans who see no results from his patient pursuit of a negotiated settlement.

They say that violence is the only answer," he said. "I told them I fully agree the situation is very desperate, very serious, but in these circumstance: if we follow the violent nature of struggle additional

There are only six million Tibetans and they could never be a match for the Chinese militarily, he said.

Last year the Dalai Lama angered many Tibetans by offering to give up the goal of full Tibetan independence in return for limited autonomy under which China would retain control of defence and

But tentative contacts between the two sides through the Chinese embassy in New Delhi stopped with the crushing of pro-democracy protesters in Peking.

The Dalai Lama said the Chinese had indicated through informal channels they still wanted to talk, but that he was in no hurry to deal with the present leadership. "At the moment we have no intention of initiating any approach. If on their side some serious attitude shows we will see." he said. "We have to wait," he said. "If good things happen so much the better, but if they do not happen then the struggle is a national struggle not just my generation's struggle." (Dharmasala, India - Reuter).

TODAY IN HISTORY

1492 — England's King Henry VII invades France, concerned over the power of Charles VIII following union with Brittany.

1518 — Cardinal Wolsey devises peace of London between England. France. Emperor Maximilian I, Spain and the papacy.

1804 — England's populace is mobilized to resist invasion attempt by Napoleon Bonaparte.

1823 — Spain's King Ferdinand VII, restored by French who have crushed Spanish rebellion, issues decree for execution of his enemies.

1870 — Rome is made capital of Italy.
1889 — First pan American conference is held in Washington,

- League of Nations adopts Geneva protocol for peaceful settlement of international disputes.

1932 — Lytton report on Manchuria to League of Nations recognizes Japan's special interests and recommends autonomous state under Chinese sovereignty but Japanese control.

1934 - Royal Indian Navy is formed. 1940—HMS Empress of Britain, carrying child war refugees to Canada, is sunk during World War II.

1941 — German Army launches all-out drive against Moscow in World War II. 1952 - Chinese government holds "Asia and Pacific Area" peace conference in Peking.

1974 — China, in United Nations, hails Arab use of oil as weapon, with minister saying it will help Third World struggle against imperialism. 1977 - Israel rejects joint US-Soviet declaration on aims of proposed Middle East peace conference.

1984 — Indian authorities tighten security to thwart attempts by Sikh separatists to invade Golden Temple in Sikh Holy City of Amritsar.

1988 - Pakistan's supreme court orders that planned elections in November be open to all political parties.

Democracy doesn't mean much to Sudanese

THREE months after the military seized power in a bloodless coup, Sudanese are showing little sorrow over the demise of democracy in Africa's largest country.

"God has shown mercy on Sudan by allowing us to take over," Airforce Colonel Faisal Madani Mukhtar, a member of the ruling Junta, told a recent rally.

The military took over at a time when rebels in the South were scoring victories against government forces and the civilian government of Prime Minister Sadeq Al Mahdi had failed to control runaway inflation. Some diplomats believe Sudan was heading towards anarchy. The new rulers promised to tackle the economy and have taken steps to end the war by inviting the leader of the rebel Sudan People's Liberation Army (SPLA), John Garang, to talks in Khartoum. Garang has so far spurned

Also to appease the non-Muslim South, coup leader General Omar Hassan Al Bashir has promised to put the question of Islamic Sharia laws --- at the heart of the six-year-old civil war — to a referendum if negotiations fail to resolve it.

The general, ending a long political taboo, told Reuters in an interview he was even prepared to seriously consider allowing the South to secede if all southerners so wished. But the rebels rejected any suggestion that secession could end the conflict. "Secession is a formula which would not take Sudan any closer to peace. The issue of seces-sion falls out of the programme of the SPLA and as such we categorically reject it," an SPLA spokesman in the Ethiopian capital Addis Ababa said on Friday.

The war has sapped Sudan's limited resour-s, costing the cash-strapped treasury about $400,000 a day.

But little more than promises have emerged so far since the June 30 coup which toppled

Sudan now lives with severely-curbed freedoms, a muzzled press and a media blitz portraying the military takeover as the best thing that has happened to the country since independence in 1956.

Bashir also imposed a state of emergency, suspended the constitution and dissolved parliament, political parties and trade unions. The government wants to introduce a new trade union movement with reduced powers. At least 50 politicians are in jail, including (Khartoum — Reuter).

Mahdi and his wife. Many Sudanese, however, are showing little nostalgia for the three years of Western-style democracy under Mahdi.

democracy under Mahdi.

"Bashir may have practically brought Sudan back from the brink of anarchy," said one Western diplomat. "People could see that Mahdi's democracy did not deliver..."

"I have witnessed many military juntas in my days and I tell you these guys are angels by comparison," a Khartoum-based Arab ambassador told Reuters.

sador told Reuters.

"No hangings, no firing squads and no tor-ture and the politicans are growing fat in jail." The military has refrained from introducing radical economic reforms for fear of fostering

But despite their disenchantment with Mahdi's inability to act on Sudan's two major problems — the economy and the civil war — Western donors are still distancing themselves

"We are certainly going to deal with them, but we are not going to help them until they change some of their ideas as far as peace and the economy are concerned," said a-Western diplomat from a major donor country.

Authoritarian grip eases

Nationalists bring prosperity to Taiwan

WHEN Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek retreated across the narrow Taiwan Straits to this island in 1949, the future of his Nationalist Chinese government was understandably bleak.

The corrupt nationalists had been routed by revolutionary Communist leader Mao Tse-Tung on the Chinese mainland and faced a restive Taiwanese population that viewed Chiang and his up to 2 million followers as an occupying force.

Chiang and his successors desperately clung to the fantasy of continuing to be the legitimate rulers of China, and used it to justify their uncompromising. one party rule over Taiwan.

But they also adopted effective economic policies that helped transform Taiwan into the world's 13thlargest trading nation and one of Asia's newly industrialized countries.

Now, 40 years after the Nationalists arrived, Taiwan is working to maintain its prosperity while tackling some of the problems created by phenomenal economic growth, such as pollution.

The Nationalists are also easing their authoritarian grip on society, slowly bringing democracy to the island of 20 million people and permitting contacts with the rival communist Chinese for the first time since the civil war.

"Many people used to be disappointed with the government and tried to emigrate whenever they had the chance," said Lu Ya-Li, political science professor of National Taiwan University. "They now feel there is some hope and have to care and criticize.

Nationalist-ruled Taiwan is nothing if not an economic success story.

An agrarian economy based on rice and sugar production has given way to the manufacturing of textiles, electronic products and machinery.

The formula was capitalism mixed with government policies designed to stimulate selected industries. While the Nationalists controlled major monopolies, many of the light-industry factories were around the island.

Annual per capita income roses from $50 in 1949 to $5,512 last year. Gross national product soared from 1.2 billion 40 years ago to $119 billion in 1988. Exports led the way, with foreign trade jumping from $300 million in 1952 to $110 billion last year.

So much foreign exchange has poured in that the island's coffers bulge with $74 billion in reserves. Signs of prosperity are easily visible in Taipei. Gleaming Porsches and BMWs snake through the always-congested streets, fancy resturants grace almost every block, and the latest electronic gadgets fill store display windows. Indeed, the island's capital seems to lack nothing. Except embassies.

As the island chalked up economic successes, it faced bitter diplomatic defeats as the world recognized the rival communist Chinese government in

Ex-president Chiang Ching-kuo (left), and President Lee Teng-Hui. (Reuter wirephoto)

Only 24 countries, mostly tiny island and Latin American nations, recognize Taiwan diplomatically, down from 50 in 1949. Beijing has formal ties with 135 countries.

The toughest blow came in 1978, when Taiwan's major ally, the United States, announced it was cutting diplomatic links with the island and seting m formal relations with Beijin

Washington, which has a major supplies of arms to Taiwan, dismantled its bases on the island and said military aid would not increase in quantity or

The US market did not close, however, ensuring Taiwan's economic health.

Chiang Peng-Chien, a leading opposition politician, blamed Taiwan's diplomatic isolation on the "dream of a reunified China" ruled by a Nationalist government. That dream also was what the Nationalist leaders from mainland China long used to justify their monopoly on political power and harsh measures against dissenting voices.

The Nationalists placed Taiwan under martial law and refused to allow rival political parties or an opposition press. Critics who travelled overseas often were not allowed back; many of those who stayed were thrown in jail.

By claiming to be the rightful rulers of all China, the Nationalists insisted that native Taiwanese, who comprise about 80 percent of the population, could not replace members of the legislature and electoral collage who had been elected on mainland China before the civil war defeat.

But as the Taiwanese prospered economically, Kai-Shek's son, the late president Chiang Ching-Kuo, who finally realized that political liberalization was needed if the Nationalists were to maintain popular support. In 1987, Chiang Ching-Kuo lifted martial law, which paved the way for the formation of opposition political parties. Some media restrictions were erased, leading to a more critical press. Taiwan residents were allowed to visit relatives on the Chinese mainland, bringing a more relaxed attidude towards the rival communists.

Demostrations became an almost-daily occurance, with the Taiwanese taking to the streets to protest everything from prostitution to pollution. By the following year, it became apparent that the gradual liberalizing trend would not be reversed

easily. (Taipei, Taiwan --- AP)

French investigating terrorist link

Ivory Coast Lebanese upset by probe

THE explosion that destroyed a French DC-10 over the Sahara desert has sent shockwaves through lvory Coast's Lebanese community, the biggest in West Africa.

French counter-espionage officers working on last month's crash which killed 170 people say they are investigating whether Lebanese Shi'ite terrorists of the pro-Iranian Hezboliah have re-based in West Africa, possibly Ivory Coast, because of tightened security in Europe.

French Prime Minister Michel Rocard said on Friday that France has enemies in Lebanon who may have blown up the airliner. Rocard confirmed that tests on debris had uncovered traces of one of the two major constituents of plastic explosives such as the Czechoslovak-made Semtex which was used to blow up a Pan Am airliner over Scotland last December. Terrorism is a touchy subject in this cocoa-growing country of 11 million people whose ageing leader. President Felix Houphouet-Boigny, says his nation has no enemies. Houphouet-Boigny warned the Lebanese community years-ago to leave its quarrels at home. Any hint they are spilling over into Ivory Coast is cause for alarm among local Lebanese, now the nation's dominant non-black African group. "If a Lebanese does well people say that a par-ticular person did well," said Monsignor Paul Khawand, the Abidjan-based bishop and spiritual leader of West Africa's Lebanese Maronite Cath-"But if one Lebanese does something bad, then people say all Lebanese are bad. Officially there are about 30,000 Lebanese in Ivory Coast, some of whom have lived here for decades. But diplomatic and other sources put the number as high as 150,000 to 200,000, most arriving since 1974 to escape Lebanon's civil war.

Western diplomats in Abidjan say they have no proof terrorists are operating here. "We have no indication of a terrorist network in Africa," one But several incidents in the past two years have raised questions about what may be going on behind In August last year Ivorian security uncovered a

Czech-made automatic weapons, dynamite and grenades, in a villa in Abidjan rented by a Lebanese man, government and Lebanese sources said. The cache apparently was shipped to Ivory Coast from Lebanon, but the reason for doing so remains unclear and the incident is still under investigation large cache of explosives and weapons, including diplomatic sources said.

In June this year Colonel Pierre Chirol, Houphouet-Boigny's French military advisor on Arab affairs, was shot dead in a residential part of Abidian. Police said he was the victim of car thieves. but security sources said they are investigating whether his job may have been a factor.

In April 1988 Ivorian security learned that Mustafa Mazeh, a Lebanese Shi'ite from Guinea with suspected terrorist links, was in Ivory Coast, a government source said. He was not found here, but Mazeh blew himself up while manipulating a bomb at a London hotel on Aug 3 this year.

One Lebanese sources said several people sought by Lebanese authorities in connection with fighting in that country are living in Ivory Coast.

"But this country serving as a base for terrorism No." the sources said. Lebanese merchants say they hear of civil war fighters coming to Ivory Coast for holidays, but rarely know about it firsthand. "We know that fighters from Hezbollah come here but we never see them," said grocer Hassan Garib." There are things that are hidden, even from (Abidjan - Reuter)

Arab Times praised

SIR: I have recently come across Arab Times in Saudi Arabia.

Your paper is of excellent quality; its commentary and scope I would rate on the par with the International Tribune. By comparison of all newspapers in the Mideast - for Africa for that matter and some dailies in Europe and US your Arab Times to me would be measured as one of a high calibre.

> Charles W Horvath Saudi Arabia.

Singh's story

SIR: Last month the Arab Times published an unsourced article linking V.P. Singh's son Ajeya Singh to St Kitts accounts.

If the story is true, I appreciate its publication. But if Arab Times is not sure about the veracity of the story, it should stop giving such publicity.

Arab Times generally does not give anti-Indian publicity, but it can be sued for defamation for

Y.G. Sesha Reddy, Kuwait.

Condemn amendment

SIR: Through your column I like to request all Pakistanis to condemn the 8th Amendment in the constitution of Pakistan. They should deliberately criticise this amendment. All the political parties should support Prime Minister Benazir's government to revoke the controversial amendment. If we want that democracy should flourish and run successfully in our country, all political parties should co-operate with the present government

Zubair Dar, Kuwait.

Art Buchwald

Catch up with news

FOR those of you who are just trickling back from vacation and are wondering what you missed, here are some of the things that have been happening:

Poland no longer has a Communist government. The Solidarity people considered this a major victory until they took a look in the back office and found exactly what they had inherited from the Communists. Lech Wales asked the party to take the government back that they had a strength to the communists. but the Commiss refused to do it, saying that they might be Red but they weren't stupid.

While Solidarity was trying to figure out how to govern the Poles, the East Germans were leaving East Germany in droves by going to Hungary as tourists, East Germany is so mades Hungary that it is thinking of retaliating by building a wall to keep Western tourists from seeing the sights of East Berlin. Things are not going well for Gorbachev Almost all of the 15 republics are demanding freedom from Moscow—and have declared that although they love the motherland, they don't want to speak Russian any more. Gorbachev is furious because when he proposed perestroike he didn't think that every ethnic group in the USSR would want to have its own national anthem. He has threatened the citizens that he will cut their perestrouku ration in half unless they quit their constant vammering about seceding from the country. Mean-while, he has ordered a crash programme to manufacture six-packs of tear gas just in case glasnost gets out of hand. On the home front, President George Bush caught a fish in Maine. It took him 15 days, but everyone on his staff said that it was the best fish they had ever eaten and well worth waiting for.

Vice-President Dan Quayle has not been seen lately. Rumour has it that the Secret Service is moving him around from golf course to golf course so that no one can find him. One day they hide him out on the ninth hole of some course, and the next day on the 16th of another. It's working out fine, and Quayle's golf has never been better.

Pete Rose has been banned for life because he is said to have gambled on baseball - possibly on his own team. It is alleged that the hand signals he was making from the dugoul (which everyone thought were being sent to the players on the field) were really aimed at the bookies in the stands. What finally did him in was when he ran out onto the diamond and got into a fight with the umpire. He kept yelling, "I'll bet you 20 to 1 he was safe on first, and 5 to 1 he steals second on the next pitch." Although Rose has been banned for life, he is taking even money wagers that he will be reinstated next season. The most important flight since Lindbergh took place this year when Malcolm Forbes celebrated his 70th birthday by flying 800 of his closest friends to a party in Morocco, a non-airconditioned country. It was so hot that all of Elizabeth Taylor's diamonds melted and had to be scraped off the rugs in her tent. Everyone enjoyed it, particularly those who weren't invited and who expressed shock over the extravagance. On the other hand, those who went couldn't praise the trip enough, although many invitees are still at Kennedy Airport looking for their luggage.

Leona Helmsley was found guilty for saying that the little people didn't count for anything in this country. The judge now has to decide if the queen will guard the palace, or if the palace will guard the queen. There is some talk of Leona doing community service by putting a chocolate bonbon on the pillow of every homeless person in New York City.

No new word on Michael Milken, Ivan Boesky, Salman Rushdie, Felix Bloch, Elvis Presley or the Exxon people who vowed to clean up the beaches of Alaska. This really hurts, as they all promised to get back to me. Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

Quote me

"It is good that US Secretary of State James Baker has put Israel on notice that either it respond reasonably to current peace proposals or Washington would review its Middle East policy." The Dubai-based Khaleej Times calling for US pressure on Israel to achieve peace in the Middle East.

"The sole objective (of the current elections plan) is not peace or withdrawal, but a mere attempt by Israel to quell the Palestinian uprising and to return the occupied territories to the status quo as they existed prior to the eruption of intifada." — Sheikh Saud, Kuwaiti ambas-sador to Washington giving his assessment of the elections sador to wasning.ou p. in the occupied territories.

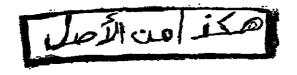

"By any stretch of imagination, the historic concessions made by the Palestinians in Algiers and Geneva last year should have convinced the world of the seriousness of the Palestinians in wanting peace." Kuwaiti ambassador to US, Sheikh Saud urging Israel to make peace with Pales-"Could not all Christians come to reconsider the kind of

"Could not all Christians come to reconsider the kind of primacy the bishop of Rome exercised within the early church, a presiding in love for the sake of the unity of the churches in the diversity of their mission?" — Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie keeping up his campaign of reunifying Anglicans and Catholics. "Forty years ago, the people used their blood and sweat to save China from destruction and made China an independent and sovereign nation. Forty years later, the power of the republic is still in the hands of a small group and fandables control will arise." feudalist control still exists." — Hong Kong lawmaker Szeto Wah told a crowd, who braved stormy weather to protest the Chinese crackdown.

"If President Aquino insists on her ban from president Marcos being brought here, the anger of the people might turn into pity for the (former) first hidy and rally behind her." — Jesus Nalupta, mayor of the Marcos ancestral hometown, Batac.

"Imeida is an ambitious person. She is now the iniderdor and the Filipino love for the underdog could play a factor. Whether you like it or not, Imelda has money to burn "Raul Gonzales, former government ombudsman airing his views on the barring of the return of Marcos' remains.

"More and more we discover that much of this country's foreign policies are dictated by the US Congress rather than the administration in office. The scores this conflict is produced the better for sooner this conflict is resolved the better for America's foreign relations. Sheikh Saud, Kuwait's ambassador to America lashing out at the US Congress.

MIDEAST BRIEFS

Rabin linked

LONDON, Oct 11. (Kuna): The Israeli security firm Hod Hahanit. whose president is accused by the Colombian government of training drug barons gangs, was given authority to operate in a document personally signed by Israeli defence secretary, Vitzhak Rabin, it was revealed here today.

Polisario rebeis claim

ALGIERS, Oct 1, (Reuter): Pol-ALOTERS, ON 1. (Retier): Pol-isario guerrillas battling Morocco for independence of western Sahara said they captured a Moroccan military post in the first fighting they have reported in more than eight

Libya honours

NICOSIA, Oct 1, (Reuter): Libya has honoured the late French President Charles de Gaulle for campaigning to free his country from American imperialist domination". the official Libyan news agency Jana reported today.

De Gaulle was the only European among 11 mostly dead politicians awarded the medal of the great Al Fatch (September 1) revolution at a reception in Sirte, west of Tripoli, last

Hussain to visit

AMMAN, Oct I. (Reuter): Jordan's King Hussain will begin a threenation foreign tour on October 8, diplomats said today.

They said the king would make a stopover in Italy on his way to Canada and would also visit Britain on his way home to Amman to deliver a lecture on the Middle East at Oxford

They gave no further details of the 10-day trip and Jordanian officials were not immediately available for

Press offices

KUWAIT, Oct 1, (Kuna): Israel and China have agreed to open press offices in Beijing and Tel Aviv, radio

Israel reported today.

The radio monitored here said that the agreement was reached at a meeting of the foreign ministers of both countries Moshe Arens and Qian Qichen at the United Nations in New

Ceasefire extended

KHARTOUM, Sudan, Oct 1, (AP): Sudan's military leader, Lt. Gen. Omar Hassan Al Bashir, extended a unilateral ceasefire in the 6-year-old civil war for another month.

Al Bashir made the announcement during a session of a committee he created to discuss possible ways to end the lighting between the govern-ment and the rebel Sudan People's Liberation Army.

42 Iranians killed

BAGHDAD, Oct 1, (AP): Kurdish rebels have killed 42 Iranian Revolutionary Guards in attacks on military bases in the northern towns of Uromiyeh and Naghada in the last week, a spokesman for the Iraqbased rebels said today.

Ghafour Hamza'i told the Associated Press that fighters of the Kurdish Democratic Party of Iran Uromiyeh, which is close to the Turkish border, Sept 25-27.

Rebels massacre

NAIROBI, Oct 1, (Reuter): Ethiopia has accused rebel groups of killing hundreds of civilians in the northern Gondar and Wollo regions. Addis Ababa radio, monitored in Nairobi today, said the Tigray People's Liberation Front and the Eth-iopian People's Democratic Movement had forcibly conscripted pessants for "genocide operations" in which hundreds have died in recent

Quake damages 300 houses

NICOSIA, Oct 1. (AP): An earthquake in southwestern Iran early today caused "massive damage" and landslides that damaged at least 300 houses, the official Islamic Republic News Agency reported.

There were no immediate reports of casualties from relief teams that were rushed to the region to help the quake stricken, the agency added.

IRNA said the quake measuring 5.1 on the Richter scale, shook the city of Sisakht, on the slopes of Dena mountain, northwest of Yasui, the capital of the Bouyer Ahmad-Koh-

Geophysics Centre as saying the quakecaused massive damage and landslides at four points on the

At least 300 houses were damaged and rural roads were blocked in part of the area by the tremor that was recorded at 6.30 am (0300 GMT), the agency said.

The Richter scale measures the energy released by an earthquake by the ground motion recorded on seis-

Sacreligious cell smashed

CAIRO, Oct 1. (UPI): Security forces smashed a sacrelipous organisation led by a university professor who claums he is a proization are charged with spread-ing their 'ascretigious' ideas, Al Airhbar said.

The newspaper said security forces smashed the organisa-tion's "cell number one" at the Mediterranean city of Alexandris, 138 (220 km) northwest of Cairo, "cell number one" is a part of the group with nine persons.

The unnamed leader of the group is a university professor "claiming to be a prophet him-self," the newspaper said.

A 50-year-old woman cleans her destroyed West Beirut house from rubble and twisted metal. She returned to the baltered capital after Arab League efforts succeeded in halting six months of bloodshed. (Reuter

Shelling can begin at any time

Beirutis sceptical of peace

BEIRUT, Oct 1, (Reuter): Andre Hukaz lives anxiously in a bullet-scarred house on the edge of Beirut's green line battle zone while 62 Lebanese parliamentarians meet in Taif, Saudi Arabia, to discuss peace She frets, bites her nails and only falls asleep at night after a whisky to steady her nerves. Her parents sleep when they can, sometimes sitting up all night and dozing during the day.

Their tortured lives close to Beirut's oldest frontline are in contrast with much of the Lebanese capital.

which has enjoyed peace since a ceasefire was called eight days ago.

The militiamen and troops who roam a warren of barricaded streets beyond the Hukaz family's garden wall only stopped firing on Wednesday and Andre said she had lost any faith in peace.

"I hope the deputies achieve something in Taif but I don't think that they will," the 32-year-old computer programmer said. "How can they agree to stop this? They will always fight here."

The Hukaz family is stranded beside a desert of abandoned apartment blocks and offices, cinemas and shops reduced to a crumbling wastefand by 14 years of shells, rockets and bullets.

Addressing the parliamentarians on Saturday in Taif, caretaker speaker Hussein Al Husseini said the failure of the peace talks would open "the road to hell for our people."

A vision of hell came to Beirut with six months of the worst shelling of the war. More than 800 people, mostly civilians were killed and 3,400 wounded in the battles which began in March.

"Shelling can begin at any time, all the time. Day or night. It could even start now, said Andre, laughing nervously at the thought. She clasped her hands together but they still shook.

But we have lived here for 15 years and we will stay here forever," she added.

The two-storey Hukaz home is about 300 metres from the Lebanese Parliament building which fell to rival gunmen at the start of the civil war in 1975.

Parliament might as well be on the moon for those who hang on in the war-blighted Sodeco district in Christian East Beirut because it lies on the other side of the green line.

Nearby Rue Dabbas is blocked by a pile of four old shipping containers cutting off the field of fire for snipers in the ruined buildings and undergrowth choking the green line. "In all the war, the last six months were the hardest," said Michelle Sisto, who lives in an apartment overlooking the shellholed barricade.

"Even when they were not close, the noise were terrible. The Pilot flies with MiG

Ethiopian seeks asylum

KHARTOUM, Oct 1, (Reuter): An Ethiopian air force pilot flew a MiG 21 figher-bomber to Khartoum and requested political asylum, Sudanese security official said today.

The officials told Reuters he landed at Khartoum airport on Friday.

They gave no details about the pilot except to say he was not from the rebellious northern regions of Eritrea and Tigray.

The Ethiopian Ambassador to Khartoum Feleke Tabor confirmed that an Ethiopian air force plane had flown to Khartoum on Friday but said he understood the pilot had landed for technical reasons.

The Ethiopian ambassador told Reuters he had protested to the Sudanese authorities about the manner in which the case has been

He said the embassy had not been officially informed that the plane

Sudanese security sources said the pilot's application for political had landed in Khartoum. The embassy first knew when it was spotted

US sends relief

Help for Lebanon on way

NICOSIA, Oct 1, (AP): A Boeing 707 cargo jet carrying $1 million worth of US emergency medical supplies for war-ravaged Lebanon was being unloaded in Cyprus today. The southern air transport jetliner flew in at 8.10 am (0610 GMT). A team of relief workers of the non-profit humanitarian organisation, Americares, immediately began unloading the supplies at Larnaca airport, on the southeastern coast of the island, airport officials said. We've committed ourselves to providing $10 million in medical supplies to Lebanon this year," Lisa Champeau, an Americares spokeswoman in the United States, said. The latest shipment comprises antibiotics, heart medicine, cough medicines for children, burn creams, surgical supplies, bandages, blankets, stretchers, tents and plastic sheeting.

Champeau told the Associated Press in a telephone call to Americares' office in New Canaan, Connecticut, that the chartered jet would offload its 90,000-pound (41,000-kilogramme) cargo at Larnaca airport.

A portion of the emergency medical su oplies will later be loaded onto a plane of Lebanon's flag carrier Middle East Airlines, marking the first time the group has flown supplies into Beirut, said Eric Weintz, an Americares official, supervising the operation at Larnaca airport. Beirut international airport was closed during six months of intense artillery battles between Christian leader Gen. Michel Aoun's fighters against the Syrian army and its Muslim militia allies. The rest of the shipment will be loaded onto freighters for transport to the port of Jounieh in the Christian enclave, Weintz said.

Eight Americanes emergency medical shipments worth a total of $6 million already have reached both sides this year aboard cargo ships running the gauntlet of Syrian shelling and warships to reach Lebanon.

gunners on that side firing over the house into East Beirut and gunners on this side firing over the house into the West," she

Like Andre, Michelle, a 34year-old administrator, stayed behind with her parents who are too old and stubborn to leave. When they bought the building before the war, Sodeco was a fashionable part of Beirut.

The American University of Beirut (AUB) will reopen next week after a halt since late March because of fierce battles between rival Lebanese parties across the divided capital, its president announced today.

■ Bahram today hoped that the Lebanese Parliament, which is currently meeting in Taif, would succeed in restoring peace and stability to that Arab country.

Algeria adopts new reforms

ALGIERS, Oct 1, (Reuter): The Algerian National Assembly yesterday overwhelmingly adopted the programme of a new government named to speed up political and economic liberal-

The APS news agency reported deputies backed the programme of incoming Prime Minister Mouloud Hamrouche by 281 votes to three with two abstentions.

Hamrouche has pledged to create a market-based economy within a fully democratic multiparty state.

He was named on September 9 after President Chadli Benjedid fired previous prime minister Kasdi Merbah for failing to Ambassador Tabor said to maintain the good relations existing between Sudan and Ethoipia, his staff should have been allowed to make progress on reforms promised after bloody anti-aus-He has demanded the return to Ethiopia of both the plane and the terity riots convulsed the country

Ozal is keeping Turkey guessing

ANKARA, Oct 1, (Reuter): Prime Minister Turgut Ozal, a master of surprise, is keeping Turkey guessing on whether he will seek the less powerful job of President after six years as the country's dominant politician.

Most people expect him to become President in an election by legislators this month — but Ozal, facing stiff political oppoand unpopularity with the public over the economy, is keeping his plans to bimself.

"My chances of running are 50-50," Ozal, who must declare his candidacy by Oct 19, told his conservative Motherland Party last

Opposition parties have threatened to boycott the vote if Ozal stands and refuse to recognise him if he wins, saying an Ozal victory would be unpopular with the public.

Opinion polls show support for Ozal at just 15 per cent and the Motherland Party was only 22 per cent of the votes in municipal lections in March.

But the party, with 289 of Parliament's 450 seats, is bosy-discussing who would be the new prime minister if Ozal does leave the roughhouse of daily politics to succeed current President Kenan Evren.

Successor

There is no obvious successor to Ozal, but possibilities include Foreign Minister Mesut Yilmaz, 42, who played a role in forming Ozal's latest cabinet, Deputy Prime Minister Ali Bozer, 64, and Finance Minister Ekrem Pak-

Bozer, a former judge at Stras-bourg's human rights court, and parliamentary Speaker Yildirim Akbulut, 54, are seen as a possible presidential candidates if Ozal does not run.

Only Kasim Gulek, an 85-yearold former politician, has declared his candidacy so far.

"I believe Ozal will run," one of Ozal's aides said, "The more opposition parties shout and threaten the more he is likely to be determined to show them he is the Erdal Inone, leader of the main opposition Social Democrat Populist : Party (SHP), told Renters: "If Ozal is President it will be an impossible situation ... the state can't bear it.'

"The presidential election could create a new crisis situation

Suleyman Demirel, leader of the centre-right True Path Party (TPP) which has 57 seats in Parliament, said his party would boycott the secret vote to choose a President for a seven-year term if Ozal stands. Architect

Referring to the 1983 military-controlled general election which first swept Özal to power, he told Reuters: "It is not democracy. It (the Motherland Party) is just some sort of a regime."

Ozal, 61-year-old architect of nomic liberalisation and drive for integration with Western Europe, is known to be under family pressure give up the stresses of the premiership. "He has to weigh up the pros and cons of running (as President). On the one hand he wants to ... and on the other he does not want disarray in his party," a senior Western diplomat

Some Motherland deputies say privately that the party, ranging from Muslim fundamentalist to Western-style liberal politicians, might break up if Ozal, sometimes described as the buckle in the Motherland belt, leaves active

Ozal, whose popularity has fallen as inflation has risen above 70 per cent, had heart surgery in 1987 and last year was hit by a bullet in an assassination attempt. If he does not become Turkey's first civilian President since 1960 many people expect him to quit the premiership next year anyway. The government's five-year term expires in November 1992.

Jordan supports

AMMAN, Oct 1, (Reuter): Jordan is providing millions of dollars a year for the foundation which runs Islamic holy sites in occupied Jerusalem and the Israeli-held West Bank, the state-run news agency Petra said yesterday.

Israeli troops kill four Palestinians

Tax raids denounced

OCCUPIED JERUSALEM, Oct 01, (Agencies): Israeli troops shot dead four Palestinians and wounded 22 in clashes with stone-throwers in the occupied territories today, Palestinian and Israeli sources said.

A fifth Palestinian was beaten to death by fellow Arabs for alleged collaboration with Israel.

In Gaza, Muslim fundamentalists issued a new leaflet calling on Palestinians to escalate their 21-month uprising and to "continue to kill collaborators."

Palestinian state.

Taizo Watanabe.

The 700,000 Arab residents of the seaside Gaza Strip remained under army-imposed closure for a third consecutive day as Israelis celebrated Rosh Hashana, the Jewish new year. The holiday marking the Jewish new year 5750 ended at sundown today, but the closure barring Gazans from entering Israel will remain in effect till tomorrow morning.

Arafat in Tokyo

Recognition may be sought

TOKYO, Oct 1, (Agencies): Yasser Arafat, chairman of the PLO, arrived in Tokyo today on a four-day official visit and was expected to call on Japan to join 100 other countries in recognising an independent

Arafat, heading a 30-member PLO delegation, is making his first

On his arrival at Tokyo's city airport, Arafat read a statement

The PLO leader will hold separate talks on Tuesday with Prime

The Japanese government does not recognise the PLO's self-decaired expressing his "strong desire for a greater Japanese contribution" in finding a peaceful solution to Middle East problems.

Minister Toshiki Kaifu and Foreign Minister Taro Nakayama" to exchagne views on the historical conflicts between Palestinians and state of Palestine, but invited Arafat to visit "as a political sesture of positive appreciation" for his new moderate line, one official said.

"We re inviting Mr Arafat, not as a representative of a state, but as a representative of an organisation," said Foreign Ministry spokesman

Prior to his departure from the PLO headquarters in Tunis, Arafat

Japan announced last week that it would upgrade the PLO office in told the Kyodo News Service that he planned to ask Kaifu to recognise

Tokyo to a "permanent general mission of Palestine," but would go no

"There is a very clear understanding between the PLO and Japan —

'It reveals the positive Japanese stance in the future toward tackling

we cant' recognise the state of Palestine, so we cannot accord (the mission) any diplomatic status," one official said.

France and Italy accorded the PLO similar status earlier this year.

the Palestinian issue," Araft told Kyodo of the upgrading of its Tokyo visit to Japan since 1981 when he paid an unofficial call.

Israelis," a government official said.

an independent Palestinian state.

Security was heavy throughout the country as Israelis attended prayer services at synagogues or flocked to resort sites. In the occupied territories, soldiers continued to combat stonethrowing Palestinian protesters.

Today's most violent clash was reported at Gaza's Nuscirat refugee camp, where troops shot and killed 17-year-old Nidal Saidam and wounded at least 11 others, including Saidam's sister Ikram, 18, Arab doctors said. They said Saidam died of a gunshot wounded to the head.

In the Gaza Strip village of Bani Suhaila, uprising activists armed with daggers and clubs stabbed to death Saleh Al Kera, 25, whom they accused of collaborating with Israeli authorities, Arab reporters said.

Israeli soldiers sealed off a mosque in Gaza city after fighting crupted after last evening prayers, Palestinian sources said. and the strip's Jabalya refugee camp was put under curfew.

Soldiers chasing masked uprising activists in Gaza last night set fire to a cottage sewing indus-try when they shot shock grenades into a building where the youths had hidden, Palestinian sources told Reuters.

Three soldiers were injured in the Gaza Strip in exchanges with stone-throwers overnight and were taken to hospital in Israel, Israel radio said. A ban on Gaza residents entering Israel was maintained for the last day of the Jewish new year holiday. The ban, imposed on Friday, will be lifted at dawn on Three Palestinian mayors denounced Israel yesterday for seizing property and goods from people in the West Bank town of Beit Sahour in a series of tax raids over the past 10 days. The Israeli authorities took action after Palestinians in Beit

Sahour, a centre of civil disobedience during the 21-monthold Palestinian uprising, obeyed calls from activists not to pay taxes to ligrael. Mayors Elias Freij of Bethle-hem, Farah Al Araj of Beit Jalla and Hanna Al Atrash of Beit

Sahour said in a statement issued jointly with the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce that the raids were illegal. Meanwhile, Jews throughout Israel filled the streets yesterday en route to prayer services and festive meals marking the Jewish new year while political leaders sounded an unbeat tone on the resolution of a conflict with Palestinian nationalists. Ranged by armed police, a handful of Egyptians Jew murmured prayers and psalms at central Cairo synagogue in subdued celebration of the Jewish new Militant's attacks on Israeli targets in recent years and the Palestinian revolt in the Israeli-

Mann still alive: report

LONDON, Oct 1, (Kuna): The British Foreign Office refused to confirm a report today that a UK hostage held in Lebanon, Jack Mann, is still alive.

The Sunday Express news-paper said today that "behindthe-scenes" negotiations are understood to be going on for his release, along with American hostage Terry Anderson. On Sept 7, Mann, the 74-year-old, Battle of Britain pilot during the Second World War, was reported dead according to the information received by his wife from an unidentified Lebanese contact in Beirut.

But the paper quoted this morning "Muslim sources linked to the pro-Iranian Hezbollah group," as claiming that Mann has been moved from Beirut and is now being held in Tehran rebels hit central Kabul today, killing at least 13 people and injuring 24, according to hospital One rocket fell near the ministry of mines and industry in the sprawling presidential compound, witnesses said, while the other hit a park in downtown Kabul near the headquarters of the Sarandoy, the police force. The attack came on Police Day, a three-year-old holiday honouring the Sarandoy. Most of the wounded were occupied territories seemed to be among the reason for the low

But the daily violence continued yesterday in the occupied territories where troops shot dead two Palestinians and wounded 12 others, Arab reports said.

turnout

standing near a gasoline station, waiting for the daily rationing to begin, said the hospital sources, speaking on condition of anon-

The casualty figures were not immediately confirmed by the government.

Most of the merchants on Chicken Street, the main shopping venue lined with carnet and antique shops, closed their shutters and went home. Kabul has come under almost daily rocket attack since late June, with more than 350 people killed and 800 injured.

The government accuses the mujahedeen of firing the rockets force residents to flee to rebel-

Troops patrolling the West

Bank village of Meithalun shot dead Abdallah Rabiyah, 28, when they came upon a group of men masked in black and wielding knives who had set up a roadblock at the village entrance, explore the possibility of a mutual agreement with the Soviet Union to cut off military supplies to Afghanistan, a leading US senator said in a report neutral government in Kabul to hold elections or seek a traditional Afghan consultative assembly. Pell issued the report after a trip to Pakistan in August and ties last February.

placed too much emphasis on achieving an clusive military victory and too little on finding a political formula that will end the fighting and produce a govern-

towards a political solution to the Afghan conflict

Cyprus' buffer zone is dying under police crackdown on smugglers NICOSIA. Oct 1. (Reuter): The village of Pyla, once a smugglers' haven straddling the sectarian divide on the Mediterranean their "designer" sports wear and "whisky phet, the nawspaper Al Akhbar reported this morning. Members of the 20-man organ holiday of Cyprus, is dying under a police crackdown. The police say the whisky sold in Pyla is a poor imitation of the real thing and the designer clothes are fake - tourists, they add, must be protected. The village, nestling in UN ceasefire lines between the Greek-Cypriot South and the breakaway Turkish-Cypriot North is one of the few settlements on the divided island where the communities live on the tarmac at Khartoum airport, he said.

asylum as being considered.

attend the pilot's interrogation.

from the north to sell in thriving shops to both Greek Cypriots and tourists from the

Because the south does not recognise the self-declared Turkish-Cypriot state it bans the goods because they are not taxed. Despite the problems, Pyla flourished. Restaurants and clothes shops sprang up to serve bargain-hunters at the buffer zone village but now they are slowly but surely being forced out of business.

Pyla's success was its undoing - the Cyprus government decided enough was enough - the village's more shady activities had become an embarrassment. Cyprus Interior Minister Christodoulos Veniamin said tests showed 70 per cent of the whisky sold in Pyla was fake. "We were not as strict as should have been ... it's a bit of a scandal if it's left like that," he said.

Police roadblocks in the south have discouraged Greek Cypriot visitors and tourisis from entering the village under the watchful eye of the United Nations peacekeepers who have overseen Pyla since Cyprus was divided after the Turkish army occupied the north in 1974.

Tourists say the police confiscate any goods bought in Pyla discovered in their

"They've closed us down," said Greek-Cypriot Maria Petrou, whose husband runs a tavern on the road leading into the

"It's not good for business," said Mus-tafa Mehmet, Muhtar (village headman) for the 400 Turkish-Cypriot residents.

Kabul rocket attack kills 13

Arafat is greeted by Japanese Vice-Foreign Minister Nacki Tanaka

upon arrival at Tokyo airport. (Reuter wirephoto)

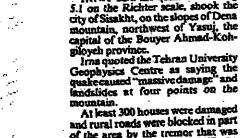

Call for US-Soviet arms cutoff

KABUL, Oct 1, (Agencies): Two rockets believed fired by Muslim at random to spread panic and The United States should > published in Washington today. Claiborne Pell, chairman of the US Senate Foreign Relations Committee, also called for a talks with Pakistani leaders and leaders of the US- and Pakistanbacked provisional government established by Muslim rebel par-"So far the United States has ment in Kabul acceptable to the Afghan people," Pell said.

He said the United States should work with Pakistan

Latest crack at making French spelling easier gathers wide support

PARIS, Oct 1, (AP): The French are talking again about a spelling reform to simplify the eccentricities of the language of Voltaire, and this time there is a powerful lineup of supporters: well-known writers, intellectuals and political figures including Premier Michel Rocard

Behind the latest move to purge the language of double letters, irregular plurals and other pitfalls are Jacques Leconte and Philippe Cibois. Their book, "Que Vive l'Orthographe" ("Long Live Spelling"), takes the latest crack at bringing the spelling of French more in line with other romance languages.

Their proposals would institute a more phonetic spelling of difficult words like chrysanthemum, now spelled "chrysantheme." The proposed reform could change it to "crisanteme" — just the way it sounds.

Other possible changes The French word for "rhythm" would chagne from rhythme to ritme

— The word for "personnel" would change from personnel to personel - "Pharmacy" would change from pharmacie to farmacie

- "Horses" would change from chevaux to - "Spelling" would go from orthographe to ortograf, and

"Onion" from oignon to ognon.

"One always needs a lot of courage to dare to tackle this taboo: Our sacrosance spelling," wrote Leconte and Cibois. "Is it a crime to hope for more coherent, more logical and clearer spelling which would be easier to learn?"

easier to learn?
As any foreigner knows, learning to read and write French is no easy matter.
Generations of French school children weaned on the daily "dictee" or dictation exercise, have managed fairly well. But starting in the early 1970s, many teachers abandoned the old methods and relaxed more about spelling. Today, teachers say the tesult is catastrophic. students taking the baccalaureate and you can see there's a big problem," the authors

For them, the issue is not how French is taught, but French itself. Simpler spelling would make life a lot easier for school children. And it would be especially beneficial to immigrants, whose access to the language helps determine their integration into French society.

No wonder the reform has political the condition France's language experts agree on the changes to be adopted

Anti-reformists argue the reform would simply "lower French to the level of those who can't spell." As French academicing Jean Dutourd put it, "simplification would benefit the ignorant."

Gerard Antoine, a linguist, wrote in Le Monde that a more 100 changes would "rid our language of its traps and useless fluties.

An English rose

A core of steel

Victoria Tennant: a committed feminist

TT'S easy to be fooled by

■ Victoria Tennant's fragile beauty ... but new starring roles and her own writing reveal a fascination for power and a passion to challenge male domination.

DELICATE, fragile-looking Victoria Tennant is bewitched by power. Professionally, she is playing a Nazi camp commandant in a new film. Personally, she revels in her role as an independent career wife.

To back up her feminine assault on what she believes is a male-dominated world, the fair-haired actress has become deeply committed to writing and has already completed two film scripts. She told me: "There are wonderful parts for women, with supporting roles for men.

And as if all this is not enough, 38-year-old Victoria, married to top American comedy star Steve Martin, is playing a strong lady in the ITV mini-series Act of Will, based on Barbara Taylor Bradford's book (starts Friday).

Powerful role

Strength suits Victoria's mood. In Act of Will, she plays Audra, a powerful role of an unfulfilled artiste who lives her ambition through her daughter.
The life stories of Victoria and Audra have uncanny similarities. Both women had privileged childhoods and knew tragedy at an early age.

For Victoria, it was when her father, famous showbiz agent Cecil Tennant, died. Heartbroken teenager Victoria stayed in England to attend London's Central School of Speech Drama, while her mother moved to Switzerland.

In the film, Audra is also forced to become independent at an early age, being sent to work in a fever hospital after her mother dies.

And, showing the same determination that Victoria did to succeed in acting, she works her way to the top of the profession, becoming a fullyqualified nurse.

But Victoria believes there is one vital difference between herself and Audra. She told me: "Audra has artistic flair, but she doesn't do anything about it. She gives up so much for everyone else. I was prepared to do that when I was younger but

Due for release

Victoria's latest role is as a Nazi in the film The Handmaid's Tale, due for release in America this October. It is not just powerful, but directly concerned with power. Victoria told me: "In this film, I felt highly honoured to be working with a cast including Robert Duvall and Natasha Richardson. "And my part is quite different to my usual ones which I'm pleased about, as I think there needs to be more scope for women in general to play nasty characters, more extreme people. I want to move away from the two-dimensional romantic type.

She went on: "I certainly did with this part. It was a real challenge. It made me realise what it must feel like to be in a position of power. because I play a woman in charge of an internment camp for women whose pregnancy tests are positive, and who are being kept to breed.

"It made me think that the worst form of atrocity which can be committed by people is to de-humanise their victims." And then the frail-looking, gutsy actress fixed me with a level stare of her hazel eyes and said: "I suppose it's a bit like being interviewed by the press...that's de-humanising, too." Despite the obvious irony, it was also a timely little warning to me — for if there is one thing the star of the TV blockbuster War and Remembrance loathes it is being asked about her husband, age, or plans for children instead of about her work.

Insulting

She blazed: "I find it insulting and sad that 90 per cent of the men who interview me ask the same questions as a woman in the Victorian age would be asked, and which they would never dare or dream of asking a man.

"I want to talk about my work. I don't want that to be reduced to a trivial or gossip. Women have fought for freedom of choice, and the freedom to go our won way without men and society telling us what's expected of us."

Victoria, who first shot to fame in the £90

if men are more confident when women are in a passive or weak position so they can control them. "Strength is regarded as a positive quality in

men. But when women are strong, they are immediately described as tough, unfeminine ball-There couldn't be a more inaccurate description of lithe, pencil-slim Victoria, who has inherited the grace of her Russian ballet dancer mother, Irina Baranova. And not only her grace. The strength, independence and talent of her mother have inspired Victoria's writing and acting.

She told me: "My mother was a prima ballerina with Diaghilev's Ballets Russes. She was a great artist and a strong woman, and at the age of 13 she was supporting a family.

"My mother showed me that it was not an unusual choice for a woman to go out of the home and into professional life. She taught me hard work and perseverance, and I knew I had her tacit acceptance of everything I did." One of Victoria's own film scripts is about a > mother-daughter relationship, based on her own experience. The other is about two contemporary women, based on the lives of women she knows. She said: "Some of this is sad, some happy. Just like life."

Films on hand Victoria, dressed in a baggy

black tee-shirt and trousers, leaned back in a leather chair at the television offices where we were speaking, and told me: "Both scripts have producers, other actors apart from myself are cast — and one of them has half the finance arranged. Hopefully, one can be filmed before the end of the year - and one next year.'

Victoria claims that her childhood relationship with her mother has also helped her to understand her latest role as

She recalled: "My mother always wanted me to be a prima ballerina. And I will always remember making my stage debut as a ballet dancer at the age of nine.

"While I was dancing, I heard the sound of sobbing in the stalls. I was horrified to find out that it was my mother. When I asked what was wrong later, all she could say was that I was too thin, much too thin, even for a ballet dancer. "I think it was upsetting for mother to realise that I would not make it as a ballerina. Even though she never forced me to do things, secretly she would have liked me to become one.

"At that age I couldn't understand why it upset her so much.

"But now I have an idea, especially as I play a woman whose daughter does not take up the career her mother has mapped out for her." Victoria, who was first tipped for stardom after her performance in Alan Sillitoe's film, The Ragman's Daughter, walked out on a stifling marriage to fulfil her dreams of

The English rose lived in luxury for seven years with her first husband. New York nightclub owner Peppo Vanini as a pampered housewife and society hostess to guests such as Aristotle Onassis. She said: "Women do manage to work and have a family life. But that is the kind of thing Peppo would never accept. He gave me an ultimatum that I could either be a wife of actress. I took the course he didn't expect and went back to work. Married young "I was very young when I married or I would never have consented to be a stay-at-home wife in the beginning. I know myself better now. I didn't realise how important my career was to me." Since then Victoria has landed several bit roles, including co-starring in the £40 million TV epic The Winds of War, with Robert Mitchum, who has become a firm friend. When production moved from Europe to America, Victoria stayed there - and made it her home. She starred in a TV blockbuster based on the life of boxer Jack Dempsey, and another about small-town racism in the Deep South of America. And she had a starring role in a film called Stranger's

Jack of all trades, master of many too

Family, the fulcrum of my life: Ali Dabbagh

By Jadranka Porter Arab Times staff

hen a visitor walks into Ali and Betty Dabbagh's living room he has to pause to take in the view. The place is a little treasure trove of handicrafts, woodcarvings, books, art, trophies — a melange of colour and objects whose only common denominator is that they were lovingly selected by their owners.

The bric-a-brac testify to the couple's varied interests, arguably refined taste and wide travelling experience. Indeed, 24 of his 35 years Dr Ali Dabbagh, a Kuwaiti eye surgeon and a son of a diplomat, has been spent abroad.

Each time he visited a country he took a memento back with him. But the most precious of souvenirs that will stay with Ali for life cannot be seen on the shelves and walls. "Ireland gave me a wife and a degree," he says.

Accomplishments

In Britain he became an accomplished rugby player and in China he learnt acupuncture. In Switzerland he went cross-country skiing, in France he relished the brash Gallic sense of humour and in Cairo he perfected his classical

Today, after years of globe trotting, Ali knows that he is a product of both Arab and Western societies.

"It is the classical question of is it nature or nurture that shapes one's personality. There is no clear-cut answer"

Ali's professional and private life success largely stems from a consistent pursuit of quality in his surroundings. No matter where he lives he has always sought to maintain an exciting lifestyle. When in 1981 he returned to Kuwait, a society with its own tensions, he was not going to make an exception although he had to be more resourceful than

"Medicine was my saviour. And I had good props," he recalls. He came to Kuwait with his Irish wife, who had supported the family while he was still a student in Dublin, and his son Hassan.

The family, "the fulcrum of my life", has offered support but also shared many of his hobbies and dreams. In fact the teamwork in the Dabbagh family is so strong that one gets an impression that Betty Dabbagh partakes in most things her husband is doing, except of course operate on his patients.

A case in point is archery. After taking up the sport in 1983 Ali, Betty and Hassan were Kuwaiti champions in different categories several years in a row.

First love

But Ali's first love has always been the sea. He is a scuba diving instructor and Betty was among his first students. Although his ambition is to develop archery in Kuwait to the Olympic level and to bring official recognition to scuba diving has foundered for lack of support rather than his own efforts, he maintains an interest in both.

But it is in medicine that he moved from strength to strength. "I always knew I wanted to be a doctor," he says. His entry into the field of medicine began when he forced his way into the office of the dean of the Royal College of Surgeons in Dublin.

At the time he had just completed the A levels at the Rugby public school in Britain where he excelled in rugby, French literature and classical Arabic, hardly the credentials sought by a medical school He asked the dean to give him six months to prove himself. "If I don't make it, kick me out," he told the dean who looked at him in wonder. Much to Ali's delight the dean, a learned man with an interest in Arabia, consented. Ever since then Ali has never looked back. After a stint as a general surgeon in Kuwait's Mubarak Al Kabir hospital he opted to specialise in ophthalmic surgery at the Adan Hospital. He is currently working on his doctorate that will complete his Western medicine training.

Although attracted by high technology in the service of medicine Ali is also somewhat disenchanted by the conventional Western medicine which tends to treat an ailment in exclusion of the patient's entire physical and mental constitution. A believer in alternative medicine, which relies on healing powers in herbs, massage, acupuncture and even faith healers, Ali hopes one day to practice both.

When a patient comes to me he becomes an eye. The tendency in Western medicine is not to treat an ailment in the context of a patient's general physical and mental make up," he says.

Prejudice

But be concedes that alternative medicine faces many obstacles not the least of which is the prejudice against it in medical circles and the public. Although he is not discouraged by this he admits to his limitations: "I am not a Don Quixote who will singlehandedly attempt to find the ultimate combination of modern and ancient medicine."

His desire to peep into the unknown and unconventional is not limited to medicine. Having mastered target archery he is toying with the idea of delving into kyudo, a Japanese form of archery closely associated with Zen Buddhism. In kyudo the primary aim is not to hit the target, but to achieve thorough spiritual and physical training an intense concentration on the act of shooting and a style expressing perfect serenity.

"The idea of kyudo archery is that you become one with your bow," says Betty who initiated the family's interest in

With his receptive mind, dedication and thoroughness Ali has turned many of his ambitions into success. For example, when he got interested in acupuncture, not only did he enroll for a training course in China but both he and Betty studied China for a year before their trip. There are dozens of books and Chinese friends to testify to that effort. Not only acupuncture but China as a whole mesmerised the couple prompting Ali to say "I sold my soul to China."

With this kind of passion and dynamic lifestyle, and often dealing with life and death situations at work. All inevitably, if infrequently, runs into crises that would overwhelm a personality even more powerful than his. But being ingenious as he is, and a doctor, he has devised an effective method of coping with moments of high tension and pressure. A black humour addict, he summons to his aid imaginary characters such as Fubar and Squinty. Fubar is Ali's alter ego who provides an antidote in critical moments. He is all that Ali is but he is also not accountable to anyone and can do craziest things in the world and get away

Up to mischlef "When I am under pressure all I have to do is to evoke the image of Fubar and ask him what he would do in my place,' says Ali, his face a picture of mischief. Fubar inevitably chooses to do something outrageous enough to difuse Ali's tension.

While Fubar does a marvellous job in most areas of Ali's activities. Squinty was an invaluable ally in archery.

Never being able to hit the target Squinty is nevertheless the best target archer in the world — in his own view only.

Of course Squinty does not know yet about Ali's plans to take up kyudo archery. Ali shudders at the thought of Squinty attempting to embrace Zen Buddhism and becoming a kyudoka (archer). But given his past record Squinty is bound to jump at the

'Superstitions be hanged': fisherman offers to help Italy regain Greek statue

FANO, Italy, Oct 2, (Reuter): A fisherman who caught a valuable Greek statue 25 years ago has shrugged off a sailor's curse and offered to help Italy claim it back from California's J. Paul Getty Museum.

After a 25-year silence, Pompeo Pirani says he will lead art police back to the spot where he pulled up the ancient Greek bronze of a graceful boy-athlete while fishing for sardines in the Adriatic.

Pirani, now 51, says he thought long and hard before offering to help because he had to overcome an old seafarer's superstition.

"There's a curse on that thing. Finding anything that looks like a dead body at sea always brings the evil eye, "he explained from the comfort of his sitting-room in the medieval port of Fano. He has never been back to the waters where he found the statue, which he says he sold to a local antiques dealer for three-anda-half million lire ($26,000). Italian art experts say the bronze is now worth $5 million. Pirani offered to lead a search back to "the Devil's Graves", as locals call a rocky stretch of the Adriatic off Fano, after Italy's culture minister recently reopened an investigation into the case.

The aim is to find the athlete's missing feet, prove the bronze was fished off Fano and sold on Europe's black market, and make the Getty Museum in Malibu give up the masterpiece it bought with New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art in 1977.

Italy sees the bid to win back the statue as part of an offensive to combat an alarming rise in illegal exports of priceless art works. One of the world's wealthiest art buyers, the Getty Museum will not say who sold the statue or disclose its price.

The museum says it first heard about the bronze in Munich and believes it was fished up in international waters.

Known as the Getty Bronze, the athlete stands in a prominent position inside the late billionaire John Paul Getty's re-creation of a first century Roman country villa on the Pacific coast highway.

The Getty's guidebook says it may be the work of a great fourth century BC sculptor, the Greek Lysippos. Particularly nothing else of his work survives. Here they call it the Fano bronze. Part of the new investigation centres on a small concretion of tightly-packed sea shells and other marine incrustations which Fano officials say was broken off from the athlete's left thigh when Pirani hid it away. For years a local councillor had been using the piece as a paperweight, unaware of its potential significance. The Culture Ministry's police will carbondate it to see if it matches sea incrustations which the Getty Museum painstakingly removed from the statue.

The Getty says they included shells of sea animals and showed the bronze must have been in the sea for centuries. It says the statue probably sank with a ship taking it to a Roman emperor or general around the first century, the golden age of Roman art collecting.

Italy's leading art historian Federico Zeri, consultant to the Getty, says the athlete was whisked out of Italy, described as a bronze statuette under 12 cm (four inches) high, for which no export permit is needed.

When

Rock superstar Billy Joel is due to launch a massive, 15month tour to raise money for his ex-wife Elizabeth Weber.

Now married to top model Christie Brinkley, he has been involved in legal battles with Weber since his split from her in 1983. Although his planned tour looks set to make a fortune, the ex-boxer turned singer has also vowed to sell his New York penthouse of £4 million in another desperate bid to raise cash for the out of court

Multi-million dollar pay-offs are nothing new to Hollywood. All over Tinselton, wives and husbands are taking their exspouses to the cleaners and demanding megabucks for the years they spent together.

According to Californian law. ап ex-spouse — or even girlfriend or boyfriend - is entitled to half of their partner's fortune and in bitter divorce battles they can hit hard.

It all began when Lee Marvin was taken to court by his mistress, Michele Triois. She made it possible for mistresses to sue their men in the same way that wives could.

In court she sobbed that she had given Marvin the best years of her life and demanded $1.5 million in compensation.

Marvin said in court: "Hell, I gave her the best years of my life." But although she didn't get quite what she hoped for, Michele was awarded $100,000 and the word "palimony" was bom.

Since then, a host of the rich and famous have had to delve deep into their pockets to pay out huge sums of cash.

Actor James Mason paid his ex-wife two million and arms dealer Adnan Kashoggi had to fork out three million to keep his English-born ex Soraya

But the Marvin case is now being echoed, on a much grander scale, by superstar Clint Eastwood and his former live-in iover, actress Sondra Locke.

After a 13-year stable relationship, Eastwood demanded that blonde Sondra move out of their home, changed all the house locks and told her through his lawyer: "This matter will be dealt with in an appropriate legal arena."

Now Sondra is dragging all the secrets of her relationship with Eastwood into the open and she has claimed that he forced her to have two abortions and then be sterilised.

Cynics are now laying bets on how much Sondra will be able to get out of Clint.

And Jane Fonda looks all set to pay out an amazing $57 million, an estimated half of her fortune, if her ex-politician husband Tom Hayden wins their imminent divorce battle. Hayden said: "I am sorting out my emotions and I don't feel the need to resolve anything right now." But for Jane who made her massive fortune from her movie and fitness empire, admits the split has left her feeling more than a little fragile. "It would be dishonest to say I am just plodding along," she said. "I'm on a roller coaster."

Actor Sylvester Stallone and his ex-wife Brigitte.

Joan Collins went through the same thing when ex-husband Peter Holm hit her with a claim for $60,000-amonth maintainance. It became one of Hollywood's dirtiest divorce dramas when Holm claimed he should be supported in the style to which he became accustomed during the couple's 13-month marriage.

Holm also disappeared with furniture and paintings, belonging to Joan, said to be worth $100,000. His claim was laughed out of court.
The same thing happened

when Playboy boss Hugh Hefner was hit with a palimony suit by his ex-fiancee, model

Carrie Leigh.

Grasping Carrie tried for a $3 million hand-out and said: "I have been very hurt. We were in love and I was expecting to get married. We had a very serious relationship. I still care about what happens to him."
Although she was used to £1,000 a month pocket money and $1,000 for each for her life on her birthday, Carrie eventually dropped her claim and Hefner recently married a young playmate, 26-year-old Kimberley Conrad.

But sometimes maintenance has already been agreed when the unsuspecting divorcee is hit with yet another claim. Rock singer Rod Stewart's ex-wife Alana has asked for her maintenance payments to be increased to nearly £50,000 a month, three times the amount she was first awarded.

She said: "Life in Hollywood is so expensive, I just can't get by on what Rod pays me."
Alana is often seen eating out in exclusive Tinseltown restaurants like Le Dome and the Bistro Gardens. Dressed in the latest designer gear, she is also regularly spotted shopping in the most expensive stores in the world on Rodeo Drive. She also dresses her and Rod's children Sean and Kimberly in designer children's togs and is said to give some of the best parties in town. Rambo star Sylvester Stallone bought the silence of his leggy blonde wife Brigitte Nielsen by paying her $4 million to keep her mouth shut about their marriage and get out of his

During their 18 months together, Stallone showered stunning Brigitte with cash and presents and even tried to buy back the baby she left in her native Denmark when she went to America to seek her fortune. Stallone offered Kaspar Winding, Brigitte's ex. $1 million but when he refused to part with son Julian, Stallone then had a £330,000 pop song written for Brigitte to cheer her

He gave the beautiful blonds £700 a day spending money and gifts including an £8,000 gold head-dress and a £12.950 marble table with her face engraved on it. The pre-marriage agreement said Sly should give Brigitte $2 million but, because he was scared of her kissing and telling, he added another $2 million to

He is worth around $100 million and a close friend revealed: "He just wants to get her out of his life forever. As far as he is concerned, he hopes Brigitte drops off the face of the earth. He doesn't want to see her, he doesn't want to hear from her. He just wants her to disappear."

Stallone's astrologer mum, Jaqueline, predicted what would become of the marriage before it even started. She was banned from the wedding and branded Brigitte a pig. She stormed: "I don't like the broad because I know perfectly well she just wants his money and not him. It will be the shortest marriage in history and a very costly romance.

United States and Canada is relatively trouble-free for such candidates.

fairly common in Asia," said

Brian Davis, an immigration counselor at the Canadian con-sulate. "I've seen many such marriages last quite a long time."

Davis said if someone is spon-sored as a fiancee by a Canadian national and agrees to be married citizenship

"Arranged marriages are still

Killer

& his quill

John Wayne Gacy was sen-tenced to death for murdering 33 people. Now, as he sits waiting in the death cell, he runs a profitable mail order business painting everything from portraits to skulls.

His subjects include Red Indian chiefs, religious scenes and gentle landscapes. He told me: "Anyone can write to me direct to order a picture. I will send them a price list. Also, I have had exhibitions in Boston, Los Angeles and Chicago and more are planned. People can also buy my work at these." Gacy produces more than 100 paintings a year. He said: "With spending 23 hours a day in a cell, I wanted to find something to fill up my time."

And Gacy's artistic pastime has proved profitable. But he claims he doesn't make much money from his Death Row business. He told me: "As you can see, my pictures are all reasonably priced. Most of the money goes right back into buying materials. And some is used for taking care of the postage to handle the letters I receive.'

Gacy went on: "I have had no formal training in art. I just watched a lot of art shows on TV and read books about famous artists. But, somehow, it seems to have worked.

"It is usually collectors who buy my work. Then there are the people who are curious about me. They write to me wondering if I could send them a painting. So far, I have not had a customer who was disappointed." Before his arrest. Gacy successfully ran a firm of building contractors. He was a workaholic, often putting in a 16hour day. Gacy's spare time was spent entertaining children in hospitals, dressed as Pogo the Clown. Gacy claims he didn't receive a fair trial and that his legal representation was poor. His press release states: "A warden from Cook County jail, where Gacy was first held, said, 'there is a great deal of difference between John Wayne Gacy the man, and John Wayne Gacy the media monster. He obviously didn't know John Wayne Gacy the Death Row tycoon. The man who said to me: "If you aren't interested in buying a painting, please pass my list on to someone who is."

John Wayne Gacy has set up business in his cell on Death Row...as a mail order artist

He paints anything from cute Disney scenes to skulls, or even portraits of people whose photographs are mailed to him.

Gacy, who was once a clown and a successful businessman, has been convicted of more murders than anybody else in America. In 1980, he was sentenced to death 12 times over and given 21 life sentences for murdering 33

young men and boys. Now 36-year-old Gacy sits in the condemned cell at Menard prison, Illinois, waiting for the results of automatic appeals against his death sentences. And, while he wonders whether he will live or die, he paints his colourful pictures.

Although Gacy has never had an art lesson in his life, these are so brilliant they have been displayed in exhibitions all over the States.

And, with every deft brushstroke, the money comes rolling in. The paintings range in price from $20 for a clown to $35 for a religious scene, skull or witch. They go up to $225 for a commissioned portrait.

Foreign passport new marriage factor

HONG KONG, Oct 1, (UPI): The Chinese for centuries have used matchmakers to pair off men and women with harmonious birth dates and backgrounds but in Hong Kong, a new factor is being included in the search for eternal bliss - a foreign passport. China resumes sovereignty over the British colony in 1997 and although the mainland has promised Hong Kong can con-tinue its free-wheeling capitalist system for 50 years after the transition, tens of thousands of wary residents are scrambling to leave

Many hire emigration counselors to help them find a new homeland while others place their trust in the expertise of someone like Sunny Wong, proprietor of the East Asia Computer Marriage Association. From a cramped office in an obscure highrise building on the outskirts of Hong Kong's traditional red light district, Wong runs a matchmaking service that draws both local and international customers.

She said her staff of three handles about 60 new Hong Kong clients — mostly women — per month and receives hundreds of inquiries each year from prospective clients in the West, mainly

Wong's is one of many introduction services in Hong Kong helping lonely, future-minded Chinese find love, and a foreign passport. Western immigration officials in the colony say they do not keep track of how many Hong Kong people gain entry to their countries through marriage, although they admit the number certainly is substantial.

Wong and other matchmaking agencies said they attract overseas clients through advertisements in Chinese-language newspapers and magazines in major US and Canadian cities. Wong said many of her overseas clients were former Hong Kong residents. She said people "introduced" through her service often decide to marry before even meeting each other.

"They communicate through letters, then by phone, then, if they have time, they try to meet," she said. "But there is not always enough time or money for this."

Even without meeting their future spouses, gaining a visa to Western countries such as the within 90 days of entering the country, the candidate is granted an emigrant visa and receives Canadian automatically after residing in the country for three years.

Idea coined for new designs of American coins

WASHINGTON, Oct 1, (AP): Most US legislators believe Americans want new designs for the nation's coins. But opponents say only collectors are pushing for the change and that the general public would not endorse it. Legislation originated by the US Commission of Fine Arts would require (he Treasury Department to modernise coin designs, beginning with 25-cent quarter. It was approved by the Senate in June without opposition and is working its way through the House of Representatives.

The weight, size and colour of each ŧ

ĮK

coin would not change. And portraits — although not the same ones — of Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, Franklin Roosevelt, George Washington and John Kennedy still would adorn the obverse, or "heads," sides of the penny (one cent), nickel (five cents), dime (10 cents), quarter and half-dollar (50 cents).

But the eagle now emblazoned on the reverse side of quarters and halfdollars, Monticello (Jefferson's home) on the nickel and the Lincoln Memorial on the penny would be replaced by themes celebrating the constitution and the Bill of Rights. Similar legislation was approved by the Senate last year but failed to go anywhere in the House because of opposition from Congressman Frank Annunzio, then chairman of the House Banking Committee's subcommittee on coinage.

Annunzio likes the present designs and gives a very low priority to coin collectors' effort to change them. "Changes in our money make Americans very, very uneasy," he said.

"We have plenty of serious issues confronting us that need our attention

... a trade imbalance, a budget deficit, a drug epidemic, an education crisis. On a scale of importance from one to 10, coin design change rates a zero."

His successor as the panel's chairman, Congressman Richard Lehman, has no strong views one way or the other. But after an emotional bearing this summer, he wants to proceed cautiously.

"There are some people who are very vocal about redesigning coins, but there's no public clamour out there for it," Lehman said. The Treasury is not too keen on the idea, even though the department calculates it would raise an additional $250 million in sorely needed government revenues over the next six

The revenues would be in the form of "seniorage" - the difference between a coin's face value and what it costs the US mint to produce it. For example, it costs the mint only three cents to strike a quarter, creating a "semiorage" of 22 cents.

Mint director Donna Pope said officials anticipate that a new design would slightly increase the demand for coins in circulation — raising seniorage revenues — as some people hold on to the old or new editions.

But she says the revenues are not great enough to justify a change by themselves.

"Missing from the coin redesign debate," Ms. Pope said, "is any evidence that the general American public - the non-collecting public is dissatisfied with current coin designs, or even favours new ones." Some Congressmen agree.

The participants watch while the instructor explains the trousers.

The art of trousers

Kapilku tailoring session - 2

THE participants were taught the right technique in making the pattern for the trousers, in the second meeting of the tailoring course organised by the Association of Filipinos in Kuwait (Kapilku) on Friday, at the Far East Restaurant.

Aside from making the pattern, the members of the association were taught how to make the diagram, the correct measurements and the techniques of professional trousers making. Instructors Eli E. Antolin and Bayani R. Trinidad demonstrated the importance of technique in the measurement and procedure for preparing patterns before cutting the trousers. This will enable the tailor-to-be to know the basics in trouser making and to be able to master the style.

The next session will be on Friday, October 6 at 9:00 am (sharp). It will be the application of sewing and zipper technique of trousers and it will be done individually as to master the correct ways of styling the trousers. Long sleeves will also be demonstrated to the students to familiarise them with the technical know-how of the Barong Tagalog making, the Filipino national dress.

Executive suits will be taught to the participants in the last session, that is, on October 13 and right after the class, the successful students will be awarded a Certificate of Attendance from the organisers.

The Far East Restaurant & Co., the major sponsor of the course, offers a buffet breakfast during the tailoring session at a minimal cost of KD0.950. All Kapilku members can avail of this good benefit. The Vice-President for Social & Cultural Affairs Sarah Macarimbang was the overall co-ordinator and Jun Mercado was the deputy.

TELEVISION PROGRAMME

MORNING

KTV₁

9.30 The Opening and Holy

Quran 9.40 Sabah Al Khir News and Variety 9.50 Around the World:

Cartoon serial

10.05 Magazine D'Actualite 10.20 Shay Ismaho Hob: Arabic serial (part 3) 11.20 Sabah Al Khir News

and Variety
11.35 United Arab Emirates Popular variety: variety programmes 12.20 Sabah Al Khir News and Variety 12.30 News Summary 12.35 Holy Quran and Closedown

EVENING

4.00 The Opening and Holy Ouran 4.15 The World Today Via

Satellite 4.45 Al Forsan Al Thalatha: Cartoon serial (part 3)

5.15 Children and Summer: Local programme, presented by Mama Апіза 6.00 Night Chemists.

Airlines and Official Advertisements 6.15 Al Tareeq Illa Al Quds: Historical serial (part

7.15 Holy Quran and Science: Religious brogramme 8.00 Omsiyat Al Ethneen: Local programme, prepared and presenBarjis 8.30 Good Evening and Local News

9.00 Arabic News 9.45 Ahlan Ya Jaddo Al Aziz: Arabic serial (part 3)

10.30 Masra Al Motanabi: Historical serial (part 11.45 News Summary 11.50 The World Today Via

Satellite 12.15 Holy Quran and Closedown

KTV 2 6.00 Opening Announcement and Holy

6.10 The Little Rascals. A cartoon series for Children 6.30 Wild Life. 7.00 Roving Report. A weekly round-up of local. Arab and interand activities.. 7.30 Charles in Charge. 8.00 News in English 8.30 The Scientific Pro-

national news, events

9.00 Studio 5-B. 10.00 Better Days. "Bryan" joins a new school in Brooklyn where all the basketball team turned away from him-... Why and how he has

be accepted... 10.30 Jake and The Fatman. 11.30 News in Brief 11.45 Magazine D'Actualite to behave in order to

CINEMA TODAY

Al Firdous Mela Fahaheel Open Arabic film Al Jahra Salamander Arabic film Sulaibikhat Born killer

Fehebeel

Al Andalus

Granada Jleeb Zamana

Nuts Salmiya Hall booked Al Hamra Blackfire Drive-In Arabic film

Ahmadi Drive-in Raloo Chakkar The Lawless Land

WHAT'S ON

ARTS

Kuwait Science Museum

OPEN Sat - Wed, 8 - 9 pm only. Natural history exhibits from in and around Kuwait, including blue whale. Closed on Thursdays and Fridays. Islamic Arts Museum

Thurs.: 9 am noon and 4.00 to 7.00 pm. Collection includes rare Islamic artefacts, Quranic manuscripts: ceramics, carpets and marine equipment.

Tareq Rajab Museum SAT - Thurs: 9 am to 12 noon; 4 to 7 pm; Fridays: 9 am to 12 noon. Collection of Islamic arts, costumes and jewellery from the Muslim

Sadu House

SAT - Thurs: 9 am to 12 noon: 4 to 7 pm. Exhibits include bedouin handicrasts rugs, saddle bags, cushions and textiles. Closed on Friday.

Watercolour Painting LEARN watercolour painting with Patricia Millos, 8 week courses for Beginners and Advanced for details tel: Pottery and Crafts Develop your creativity in pottery & crafts (8-12 yrs old). Also watercolour painting and jewellery making for adults. For details Tel:

5618847, 5317354, 9 am - 12

noon & 4 - 6.30 pm. SOCIAL

Navelim Youth Centre

NOV 16: A annual gettogether nite with live music from "Stepping Stones and Top-Ranks" having lots more amusements, surprises awaiting at Le Mirage ballroom -Ramada Al Salam Hotel. Contact: Mr Alex - 2426334, Mr Marian — 2416945.

OCT 19: Annual Colva Nite at New Ballroom of Ramada Al Salem Hotel. Top Ranks in attendance. For details contact Tele. 2413884/2434776/56291-41/4310913 after 5 pm.

German Speakers Cultural Association

AFTER the summer holidays, the regular coffee morning for German-speaking ladies will start again on Sun-day, Oct 1, at 10 am, at the Kuwait International Hotel. Old Failaka Room. Newcomers are particularly welcome.

Breeze 89 Tivim Centre's Breeze 89 is going to hit the floors of Ramada Al Salam Hotel's new ballroom on 26.10.89 at a social evening organised in commemoration of village festival. Top Rank and Stepping Stones will provide scintillating music. Highlights include Made For Each Other Contest, a Ball Room Competition and a lot of surprises. For further information please contact Casmiro or Mario on Tel. No. 2441860/67,

Vienna Boys Choir The Vienna Boys Choir will be performing again at the Kuwait International Hotel on October 4 with a new repertoire. Tickets are available at the reception. KD8.000 for adults and KD5.000 for children under 12 years. Tel:

2530000/2533000. Moods & Melody

"Moods & Melody" per-forms "Geet Maala" — a presentation of pop songs from Hindi, Malayalam, Tamil and Telugu films - on 12th October 1989 at Indian Arts Bengali Musical Dance

Nakshi Kanthar Maath (The Field of the Embroidered Quilt) by famous Bangladeshi poet Jasimuddin will be staged at the Star Light Theatre, Doha Entertainment City on Nov 2 and 3 by Mouchak.

For details please contact Tel: 4744490, 4893424, 4315759, 3713923, 5625456, 4742656.

The fifth season of the local English-language programme, Weekend, starts this Friday on KTV2 at 9.30 pm. Prepared by Adeeb Shuaiber and directed by Adel Al Najjar, it will feature local news and views of interest to English-speakers. One item of interest could be a spot feature on the renovation of the old souks, recently initiated by the the government

Bengali Cultural Society Bengali Cultural Society celebrates Bijoya on 12th October. For details contact 4315561, 5613014, 5617036.

Moulana Sayeede AN eminent Moulana Del-war Hussain Sayeede of Bangladesh who was expected to arrive in Kuwait on 3rd Oct, to deliver religious speech here on Islam, has been postponed due to Sayeede and his son's sudden illness. We regret for the incon-

Kuwait Little Theatre -

Auditions for the annual pantomime will take place in the theatre foyer on Oct 8 and 9 at 7.30 pm. Anyone interested in taking part in this production, either on stage or backstage, please come along. All newcomers welcome. show in Kuwait. Internationally known Indian magician Marco will perform at the Granada Cinema. Watch out for further details.

for KD9, inclusive.
Please ring 5382099 for who are sponsoring the visit.

Kuwait Kannada Koota

variety 5650264/5745483/3714089.

Flesta Testra OCT 20: A red letter day for stage play Affeccionados. The Filipino Cultural Club (FCC), under the chairmanship of Buddy Patungan, proudly represents another ungine innovation of theirs, this time, directed by Joey Laurente, the energetic "brains" behind the sensational SISA. Highlighting the intricate interesting life of its central character, Austrian composer. "Amadeus" Mozart. This two hour stage play will hold the same vibrant, all spirited team

Featuring Tolits Matig-A, in his most dramatic role ever, see him play the magnificent figure of "Salieri". At the Al Jahra Ballroom of Le Meridien Hotel, watch the director/ choreographer of "Fiesta '89" turn actor himself in "the saga of Amadeus" plus a whole cast of lovely and dashing charac-ters that FCC has in store for

Bookkeeping and accounting
THE Association of Filipinos in Kuwait (Kapilku) will hold their selfimprovement courses or the free classes for Bookkeeping and Accounting on Friday, October 20 at Far East Restaurant from 9.30 am to 12.30 pm. These courses will cover for four Fridays and a certificate of attendance will be awarded to all successful students.

BOOKKEEPING will cover

the single and double entries.

Terms and cycle.

Sheba Sound

SHEBA Sound, a classical quartet of oboes, basoon and harpsichord, will perform at the Mousetrap Theatre on Oct 14, at 8:00 pm — price KD4; and at Messilah Beach Hotel on Oct 15, where the performance will include a sit-down dinner reservation and look out for posters in Tanagra boutiques

NOV 3: As part of the Nehru Centenary and Karnataka Rajyotsava Day celebrations, the Koota has organised a entertainment programme followed by dinner the Sharq Co-op Auditorium. For entry passes contact tel. nos. 5621922/

Wolfgang

of the legendary "Fiesta Filipina '89"

ACCOUNTING will cover NOV 9, 10: Expatriates Club will organise the first magic the concepts, financial ratios, accounting in banking, trading, manufacturing, hotel busi-ness and others. Taxation in accounting will be explained in details plus the correct preparation of Income Tax for individuals.

Negotiatiable instruments will also be included to familiarize all the participants regarding the importance of the documents and the transactions for accounting.

Registration starts today and interested participants can contact Sarah Macarimbang, Vice President for Social and Cultural Affairs on 4843447. First come basis only.

Canadian Women's League THE first meeting of the season will be held on Saturday, Oct 7, 4 to 7 pm. Maps available from the Canadian embassy, or contact Tel: 3718678. New members welcome.

ACT welcomes all people who would like to be involved in this season's theatrical activities to a general meeting on Oct. 4th from 7.30 - 9.30 pm. The upcoming season will be discussed and committees will be formed. It will be a chance to see old friends and to make new ones. For more details, call 562-0332 from 6 - 10 pm.

Indian Arts Circle AS a part of Nehru birth centenary celebration, Indian Arts Circle is pleased to announce that a week long children's competition will be arranged at the IAC Auditorium from 21st to 27th October, 1989. This competition is open for all school going Indian children. IAC is organising the com-and encourage young talent in the areas of arts, culture and general knowledge. A steering committee has been formed in association with the principals of various Indian schools in Kuwait and. the Indian embassy to conduct the competition in a fair and petition with a view to identify systematic way. Events included under the competition are singing, dancing, recitation, elocution, fancy dress, Painting and quiz. Entry forms with rules and regula-tions are available from various Indian schools and IAC office at Funaitees. Last date of entry is 5th October, 1989. Entry fee is KD. 1/- per child irrespective of number of events entered.

For the sake of this competition, children will be grouped as follows according to the class they attend: Group - A: K.G. to Prep Standard.

Group - B: 1st to 3rd Stan-

Group - C: 4th to 6th Standard. Group - D: 7th to 9th Standard. Group - E: 10th to 12th Standard.

Indian schools. schools. For other equivalent grades will be considered.

These standards refer to Star Nite DEC 21: Star Nite at Ramada Salam 'Al Dira' with Perfect Strangers music. Children's programme at 5 pm from 2-1/2 years to 12 years. Other programmes start with sumptuous buffet. Fabulous hamper prizes and variety social entertainment under 555 sponsorship. For reservations contact tele. (res) 5331940 or 2413706 pan only.

HOTELS

Kuwait international AFTERNOON TEA: Served at La Patisserie from 3 pm to 6 pm. Offers the finest teas, delicious salmon and cucumber sandwiches, mouth watering pastries and not to forget those delicious scones, strawberry jam and lovely fresh cream. Pianist and harpist in the even-

ngs. PERRIER PROMOTION: For that tingling taste one can try Perrier Lemon, Perrier Lime, Perrie Lime and fresh kiwi juice, Perrier and apple juice or a variety of other creations. Served in all the outlets. FAILAKA: Daily Chef's pecial mezzeh buffet on Thursday evenings. Live entertainment during dinner.

LA PALMA: Presents a culinary trip around the world featuring authentic Chinese, Indian, Mexican, African, Italian, British, German/Austrian, Turkish and Arabic dishes. Theme nights on Satur-

Special for lunch and dinner.

days and Tuesdays. Telephone: 2530000/2533000. Kuwait Plaza Hotel NEW menus every day at Al Dallah Coffee Shop with variety of Oriental, Arabic and Continental dishes to suit everybody's taste. Enjoy more than thirty different appetizers, mezzah, main course and dessert. A lavish buffet for KD2.995 only. Breakfast with a selection of more than 25 dishes to choose from and savour. Eat as much as you can with coffee and tea. It is the break-

MARCO POLO: The Italian Restaurant in the heart of the city, seatures authentic Italian food with our resident Duo Stan and Alice who play your favourite songs and music.

fast you like most for fils 995

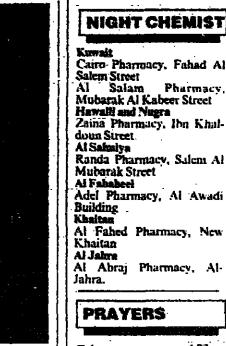

MEA welcomed back at Sheraton

A warm welcome reception, given by the management and staff of the Kuwait Sheraton Hotel, recently awaited the crew of the Middle East Airline as they stepped off the courtesy bus on their return to Kuwait To honour and commemorate this occasion a dinner party was also held by the management and a thoroughly enjoyable time was had by all.

Duo Paradise at the SAS

Danuta Zurawska and Feliks Michalski, SAS Kuwai! Hotel's famous "Duo Paradise" are back to entertain nightly in the Peacock room and the Bistretto restaurant

PRAYERS

11.38 3.01 pm 5.38

Pharmacy

Goodbye reception

The management of Kuwait Meridien Hotel on Saturday hosted a reception to say goodbye to outgoing general manager Andreas Mattmuller and to welcome his successor Keaton Woods. A large number of eading businessmen, officials and newsmen attended. Above: Mattmuller (second left) pictured with the new general manager Keaton Woods (third right) and hotel staff and guests.

The Chinese people stand up

Veterans of the Long March, missionaries and Chinese in town and country talk about the old China in the first of a six-part series which examines the first 40 years of The People's Republic of China including the recent uprising in Tiananmen Square. Written and presented by Elizabeth Wright who worked in China during the Cultural Revolution and who has visited China regularly for the past 25 years the story is told not only by experts but also, as much as possible, by the ordinary Chinese people who took part in the great events that changed their

Monday, October 2; 9:30 and 13:01 Frequencies: 17.64 MHz/17.01m: 15.07 MHz/19.91m: 11.76 MHz/

No life for a child

Jake Emenis is a young ex-drug user based at a drug rehabilitation centre in the Philippines. Joseph is a 10-year old Philippino whose parents were shot dead in front of him. They are just two of the children whose stories are told in a new six-part series marking the drawing up of the UN Convention on Children's Rights. Reporter Tessa Shaw was asked by Unicef to visit both developed and developing countries. During the course of her travels she talked to many children whose lives were overshadowed by armed conflict, drought, famine, sex and drug

Wednesday, Octobr 4; 12:45 and 22:25: Frequencies: 17.64MHz/17.01m; 15.07 MHz/19.91m; 11.76MHz/ Food Plants

In the past humans have used the leaves, roots, seeds, fruits, nuts, sugars and spices of about 3,000 different plants as food sources. Today

20 species of plants supplies more than 90% of the human diet. In this series of programmes Nick Rankin looks at the history and economics, science and folklore of the relationship between humans and the plants that nourish us.

Wednesday, October 4; 15:15 and Thursday, October 5; 9:30 and 22:30. Frequencies: 17.64 MHz/17.01m; 15.07 MHz/19.91m; 11.76 MHz/

The children's hour Karen and Martha are two young women beginning to make a success of a private boarding school for girls. The children are happy with the exception of Mary Tildred who finally carries out her threat to run away. The lie she tells her grandmother has a devestating effect on the girls, the school and the whole community. Lillian Hellman's play in two parts has been adapted for radio by Pat Trueman. Monday, October 4; 18:15.

Frequencies: 17.64 MHz/17.01m; 15.07 MHz/19.91m; 11.76 MHz/

Visit

Dr Ali Abdul Quadir Dalvi, chairman and managing director of Ratna Drugs Pvt. Ltd., Bombay, India, will conclude a private visit to Kuwait tomorrow.

Dr Daivi, who founded the drugs company with the help of overseas Kokans, was in Kuwaii to gather funds to expand the business On the board are plans to expand into fruit and vegetable.

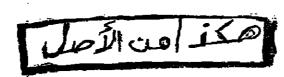

canning, automation and introducing the latest tech nology in the manufacture of medicines Dr Dalvi, who is a member of several organisations in Bombay, met leading members of the

Kokan community in Kuwaii, He is leaving for the UAE and will visit the Sultanate of Oman before returning to India

 All ontries for the What's On column can be sent by telex (22332) to Events Section or hand delivered daily, except Thursday from 12 noon to 4 pm, at the Arab Times Office in Shuwalth. Photographs will also be considered for publication. Phoned in entries will not be accepted.

BUSINESS & FINANCE

New projects, policy changes under review

Iraq continues to seek credit to finance projects

Business editor

ONE year after the Gulf war ceasefire, Iraq now has an estimated $10 billion worth of projects under way. The country's commitment to development remains undiminished by debt problems. This was one of the key issues highlighted by Middle East Economic Digest (Meed) staffwriter Jonathan Crusoe at a seminar at the Regency Palace yesterday. It was organised by Meed's local agent Delta Electronic Centre Co.

The strategic development areas are oil and heavy industry. Contracts are being awarded for the central refinery, and petro-chemical complex No. 2. Work has started on steel projects, new power stations and fertiliser plants. These projects are all intended to maximise local resources, cut back on import spending and boost export potential. Diversification away from almost total dependence on oil revenues is another major reason why the government is committed to such heavy spend-

Baghdad continues to seek credit to fund the bulk of its new Contractors from Yugoslavia, the UK and the Soviet Union are among those benefitting from government credit lines, and French companies hope to receive credit support once Iraq makes the first repayment under the terms of the recent rescheduling agreement.

Commercial loans have also been raised to finance projects and oil barter is occasionally used. In some cases cash has been made available. Baghdad has also continued a policy of rescheduling its debt, often tying repayments to fresh credit being made available by the creditor.

The recent easing of restrictions, such as allowing commercial agents to play a wider role, and enabling foreign companies to set up offices without having a government contract, reflect a desire by Iraq to see more foreign participation in Iraq, particularly in supplying high-tech mechanical and electrical equip-ment. The spending seems likely

This was a followup to the seminar in March 1989 when a newly prepared country profile on Iraq was released. The events in Iraq have moved quickly and substantially and hence the need for a second seminar to update businessmen on current situation and future projections. The seminar was divided into four sections: new projects and policy changes were presented by Crusoe. Problems in moving project materials and trade cargo were presented by R. Rajendra who has first hand experience in Iraq and other neighbouring Arab countries.

Iraq market analysis and communication strategies was presented by Rajan of Delta Electronic Centre Co. The expected boom in Kuwait after the stoppage of war between Iraq and Iran has not materialised for two reasons. First, the boom did not take place in Iraq itself due to its cash payment problems and secondly, Kuwait market has not responded to the challenges of regaining the lost market share in Iraq.

While in 1980 Kuwait was the foremost supply point to Iraq, during the war years the initiative was lost to Jordan and Turkey on one hand and to Dubai on the other hand.

Traders in Dubai who practised two-way trade (both buying and selling) with Iraq have benefit efitted more than Kuwaiti traders who are waiting for "cash door" to be opened.

In this context it may be pointed out that even with Saudi Arabia and Dubai (which has free currencies) Kuwait now has a deficit of trade balance and so the problem is not entirely one of cash payments but perhaps marketing and trading practices of Kuwaiti companies.

On one hand Kuwait has many significant advantages in terms of communication, freedom to travel and free currency. On the other hand, Iraq its next door neighbour, has a huge demand and ability to pay for it in long-term in oil wealth. Then why the problem?

Kuwaiti banks have not been encouraging Iraqi trade. At the same time Kuwaiti traders and merchants have not looked around the world for financiers. Their own theory is perhaps that if Kuwait cannot finance, no one else will. But many international banks have analysed the situation in a different way and are aware of those non-quantifiable providing trade credit.

Also Kuwaiti companies should look at their own marketing practices and realises that Iraq market is not just an extension of Kuwait souk but has its own logic and character. Iraq has a huge unsatisfied demand but due to constraints of supply has a potential for only narrow range of products albeit in large quantitites which is exactly the opposite case in Kuwait where there is a surplus of supply over demand.

Also Iraq has a strong industrial and projects orientation and these are at the moment not emphasised in Kuwait. While Kuwait has a well developed service sector, it is still in an infant stage in Iraq.

Thus Kuwait must face up to realities of Iraq market and utilise its special strengths to find itself a market niche instead of waiting for the good old days. It must begin to practice the busi-ness of commercial barter and provide orientation and training to staff assigned to Iraq to understand peculiarities of Iraqi market.

Iraq has now liberalised the commercial laws since May 1989 so it is possible now to have commission agents/cancassers for different products in Iraq and even have a bureau without a local sponsor for doing market research etc. Iraq has advertising rates which are expensive when paid for in foreign currency. In any case it is a sellers market so the communication strategies must focus more on trade chan-

Finally Kuwait with its history of free enterprise and commercial acumen, should position itself as a window to trade with Iraq for countries which are far remote from Middle East but keen on trade with Iraq.

Rajendra is the international freight manager of Al Naqeeb and Khattar Co. who are one of the leading freight forwarding companies in Kuwait, Jordan, Iraq, UAE and Dubai. It has a world-wide affiliation and network. Rajendra said that having located, identified and concluded business with list, whether imports into Iraq or exports from Iraq, it is extremely essential for the contractors to be areas of problems in materials

"It is less known to most technocrats and it includes effective delivery time, logistics of moving/routing through various countries available from the point of origin of goods up to delivery site in Iraq, strategy and decision-making to using multimodel systems in material management i.e. shipping, sea, air, surface transportation and or combination of these oncarriage modes, to be aware and overcome laws/rules, taxes and duties," Rajendra said. He said that in those countries through which the goods have to move up

He said: "Understanding and ensuring various shipping documentation procedure required by various customs and port authorities in the countries concerned, to arrange and settle insurance claims on behalf of the exporters and lastly to update the logistic routings which is ever changing."

Rajendra said that to overcome these non-quantifiable problem areas and to ensure smooth deliveries whereby project-contractors can effectively enhance their profit-share, it is extremely important and essential to have a professional freight forwarder who could ful-fil the obligations of materials

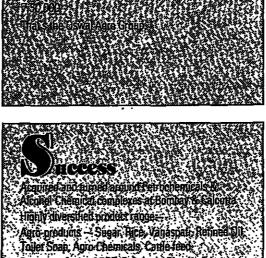

Jonathan Crusoe (left) pictured with other participants.

Agro-products — Segai, Ajrè, Vanaspati, Refined Dil Tollet Soap, Agro-Chemicals, Catile Feed Parochemicals - LOPE (Polythene Plastic), Ethylerie Propylene, Benzene and Acetylene Black Alcohol Chemicals - Acetic Acid, Butyl Acetate, Ethyl-

Acetate and Butanol That's the Oswal Agro Group.

high-growth, high-dividend paying group engaged in diverse agro-products and petrochemicals now enters the high-priority evershine fertilizer industry.

The Rs. 695 crores prestigious gas-based fertilizer project at Shahjahanpur, U.P. will use already available natural gas from HBJ pipeline and will save foreign exchange by Rs. 250 crores per

That's why we call it 'The Oswal Goldmine'.

Budget deficit threatens bankruptcy

ROME, Oct 1, (Reuter): Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti has warned Italians that the country risks bankruptcy unless its huge budge deficit is brought under control

"We have to make some sacrifices in the common interest, otherwise we will move towards a bankruptcy that the state cannot raises crude

Adnoc

prices

DUBAI, Oct 1, (Reuter): The Abu Dhabi National Oil Co.

Apu Dabi National Oil Co. (Adnoc) has retrospectively taised its Murban crude oil price for September by 65 cents to $16.65 per barrel from $16.00 in August, oil traders in the Gulf said today.

They said Adnocalso raised its lower Zakkum crude price to $16.40 per barrel from $15.75 in August Umm Shaif price to $16.27 per barrel from $15.65 and Upper Zakkum price to $15.65 per barrel from $15.00.

Adnoc sets crude oil prices for its customers retrospectively at the end of each month based on

Meanwhile, Egypt today increased the prices of its exported oil by 50 cents a barrel for all blends, the fourth successive export price hike since the middle of August, an Oil Ministry

Hammad Ayoub, director for unional trade, said the new prices were for the first half of

He refused all comment on an agreement by the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countriescarlier this week to modestly increase their oil production cell-market trends.

permit." Andreotti said in an address on Italian state television last night. The Italian cabinet on Friday approved a draft budget for 1990 designed to hold the country's chronic budget deficit in check while giving the economy room to continue healthy expansion. The cabinet approved a rise in

CONTESTANTS

A team consist of 2 players

TOURISTIC ENTERPRISES CO.

In Co-operation with Beach Hotel

Organized by:

(Entertainment City)

4076630/4876625

Attractive prizes

the nominal budget deficit to 133 trillion lire ($97 billion) in 1990 from a projected 130 trillion lire.

"Every day we spend 300 billion lire to pay interest (on the debt)," Andreotti said in his address. "If we continue to have debts of this size, we could be a dead weight in the (European) Community," he said.

TOURISTIC ENTERPRISES CO.

ENTERTAINMENT CITY

presents

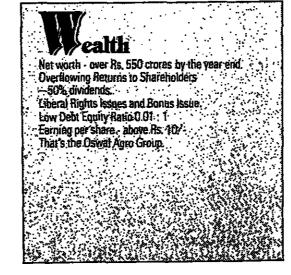

1st Time in Kuwait

MINI-GOLF Tournament October 1-8, 1989

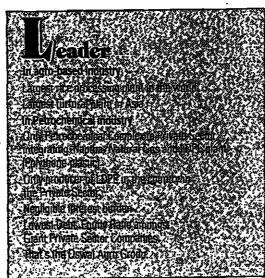

Starting 5:00 p.m.

FUN FOR FAMILIES

AND FRIENDS

┨┃╚

In just 7 years, the Oswal Agro Group has achieved a turnover

Since our borrowings are virtually nil, we don't have to pay back interest and loans, which eat away a company's profitability. That's why we can pay such high returns to our investors.

Diversifying from the competitive agro-based industry into petrochemicals, a sunrise industry, we now enter the evershine fertilizer industry.

> Abhey Oswal Chairman

The Oswal Agro Group

Oswal Agro Mills Ltd. Oswal Agro Furane Ltd. Bac Bindal Agro Chem Ltd.

Where success is not on loan.

Ayoub said the new prices were $16.50 a barrel for the top-grade Gulf of Suez blend, $15.65 a barrel for Belayim, $14.50 a barrel for Ras Badran and $14.20 a barrel for Ras Ghareb.

Substantial capital investment vital

Gloomy forecast for Lebanese economy

By Mohmoud Abdein

AS a result of the recent positive developments on the security front, the Lebanese pound experienced a sharp appreciation in its value against the US dollar, increasing by about 18 per cent in a period of two days.

Dr Ziad Taky, Assistant General Manager and chief econ-omist of National Bank of Kuwait told the Al Seyassah newspaper in an exclusive interview that the recent relative success of the ceasefire, after over six months of the most devastating period of destruction and displacement of people and resources, has brought out again, in the mind of all the Lebanese people, those who are still in Lebanon or those who were obliged for one reason or another to leave Lebanon, as what is the current state of the Lebanese economy, and what is going to happen to the Lebanese pound in the near as well as in the medium terms.

It is very difficult to even try to predict as to what is going to happen to the Lebanese pound. Even during ordinary periods, this was a very difficult task.

The above task is even much more dificult, at a time that Lebanon is experiencing a very hush and fragile ceasefire, with political difficulties are far from being dealt with.

Dr Taky said with the above political uncertainties and without the re-establishment of confidence among the various par-ties, it is very difficult to see further appreciation in the value of the Lebanese pound against the US dollar and other foreign

With the above pessimistic view, it is, however, important to note that, in spite of the severe destruction that took place in the last fifteen years, particularly in the last six months. Lebanon still has some positive elements that are still in its favour and may provide some support to the Lebanese pound. This include the following:

Improvement in the international reserve position, the Central Bank of Lebanon as of August 1989 possessed more than $1 billion in foreign exchange reserves.

The external debt of Lebanon is estimated between $400-500 million most of it incurred for the purchase of weapons. If we exclude the military debt, the external obligations of Lebanon is estimated at $230 million.

It is important to note that, in contrast to many other developing countries that are not experiencing civil war and internal problems, Lebanon has always made its foreign debt remittances on time and it is not expected to have any difficulty to continue to do that in the future. ■ Lebanon official gold is believed to have been preserved and is estimated at 9.22 million ounces, equivalent to over $4.5 billion at market prices.

During the last three years, there were several proposals to place part of the gold stock in a fund to be used, in turn, as backing for international borrowing, with the proceeds going to reconstitute the country's foreign exchange reserves. However, the government at the time was not able to reach on an agreement as to whether such a proposal is workable and beneficial to the

Dr Ziad Taky

The above positive factors should provide some support for the Lebanese pound in the medium-term, and after some confidence in the management of the country is restored.

He said the absence of any data recently published about the Lebanese economy, it is difficult to come out with any estimates as to the various economic and financial variables of Lebanon. However, of what has been witnessed in terms of destruction and long neglect, it is obvious that many sectors in the economy are in a very poor state.

The first task of the government, when and if is formed in the near future, is to estimate the cost of internal reconstruction. The enormous task includes not only repair of the damage caused by the civil war, but also replacing infrastructure destroyed or neglected by being not main-tained adequately. Little investment in the nation's infrastructure has taken place since the

The long neglect has made Lebanon's infrastructure rehabilitation requirements both extensive and expensive. Among the various areas that need substantial capital investment are the following: power stations, road system, telephone and communication network, water and sewage system, only to mention few of the needed infrastructural projects.

With the present financial situation of the new government. and with the heavy burden of debt that is already outstanding. it is assumed that a very large portion of the reconstruction effort will be undertaken by the private sector as well as by international organisations. However, unless the government regains political and economic control over the entire country, large scale economic assistance for reconstruction is not likely to be forthcoming in large amounts

Dr Taky said the Lebanese consumer has been hit hard, particularly in the last two years, after the sharp depreciation in the Lebanese pound. As a result the average consumer experienced a sharp drop in his living standards, and his level of savings has been eroded. The country has experienced many violent demonstrations to protest the collapse of the economy and the rise in the cost of living.

The return of peace and stability is not expected to provide much relief to the consumer, because he is faced with high cost of repairing his house and in meeting some repair expenses that have been postponed due to the lack of security in the last six months. Prices of goods and services are not expec-ted to show any sharp decline, because Lebanon is heavily dependent on imports and shop-keepers tend to adjust their prices upward in a short period, but are not expected to reduce those prices with the drop in the value of the dollar in the local market.

The adjustment period may take several months, with the possibility that the importer may have to pay more fees and charges in the form of custom duties and taxes that he did not pay when he used to clear the goods through one of the illegal ports.

Moreover, the return of government controls means that the system of tax collection will be inproved, something that many Lebanese were able to avoid for sometime now. Also, the heavy burden on the government, will require a better tax collection system and the elimination of some subsidies which will add more burden on the average con-

As a result, it will be difficult to see the average Lebanese achieving any savings in the short-run. By the contrary, the consumer will be under a heavy burden that may result in more protests and quests for assistance and relief.

Although the priority of the government will be placed on the areas of housing, education and health care, the heavy burden of financing those projects will fall on the private sector that will tend to charge high prices for it. If the government assumes that role, then those projects have to be funded by new sources of funds such as new taxes, bank loans and bond issues. Therefore, in either case, the ing for those services, either directly or indirectly.

As to the impact on the banking system, it is expected that the Central Bank will continue to guarantee the integrity of the fin-ancial and the banking system, inspite of its limited resources. With the increase of its international reserves due to increased remittances and hopefully some aid funds chan-nelled into the country, the Central Bank's ability to provide the necessary support to any bank will be strengthened. It is impor-tant to note that over 80 per cent of the banks deposits are in foreign currencies, and many of them have diversified geogra-phically to open branches in Europe, Africa and the Gulf.

In conclusion, what Lebanon needs now is the re-establishment of confidence among the various parties. This is a priority that will put Lebanon on the right track, and after that everything becomes feasible.

The Lebanese people, as well as the Lebanese economy, have gone through difficult times that are very severe. However, in the past, the economy has shown an unusual ability to recover and shrug-off difficulties, and the people have unique capabilities to adjust and make the best out of things. The energy and ability of the Lebanese people in persever-ing against difficulties and in rebuilding their nation in the past is a matter of record and well

EEC set to endorse aid for Poland and Hungary

"Everybody will back the plan but the figure does seem to have been plucked from the air," one controversial rules on cross-border television broadcasts which have drawn fire from the United States for seeking to ensure that a majority of programmes will be European-made and not American /

across Eastern Europe, the most pressing political problem facing the ministers is how to respond to appeals from Poland and Hungary for Western help to safeguard their transition fromcentrally-planned socialist states

The EEC's executive commission unveiled its aid plan last week at a meeting to co-ordinate the efforts of EEC states and 12 other developed countries, including the United States and

The commission wants the

BRUSSELS, Oct 1, (Reuter): European Economic Community foreign ministers, seeking to get the 12-nation group more involved in Eastern Europe, meet this week to endorse an EEC aid plan for reformist Poland and Hungary.

But diplomats said some are likely to argue at the meeting in Luxembourg on Tuesday that the $325 million to be spent next year on food, training schemes and support for economic

The meeting may also adopt

Ministers will discuss a raft of trade issues, including simmering disptues with Washington over steel and beef, as well as future of national quotas on Japanese car imports in the non-EEC governments to match the money which the community is prepared to spend.

Poland's Solidarity-led government has just signed a trade and co-operation pact with the EEC. similar to one reached with Hun-recognised internationally. However, until a measure of stability returns, very few people outside Lebanon, being Lebanese or of other nationalities, will be ready and willing to commit their money to Lebanon.

reforms is far too modest.

EEC's single market after 1992. But, amid the dramatic events to free-market democracies.

Japan.

Japan's | robot industry booms TOKYO, Oct 1, (Reuter): Growing disdain for manual labour among upwardly mobile Japanese workers has sent companies scrambling to buy robots and other machines incapable of such snobbish sentiments.

The manufacturing industry, the magician behind Japan's economic miracle, is now facing its most acute labour shortage since 1974, according to the Bank of Japan's August report.

spurning the factory and assembly-line jobs at which their parents excelled, and companies are snapping up robots and other sophisticated machines to take their place.

The "robot rush" has become a major theme in the Tokyo Stock Market as analysts predict the labour shortage will continue for a long time.

"If humans won't get their hands dirty, then you have to buy robots or other machines," said Mark Kopinski, analyst at Salomon Brothers brokerage in Tokyo.

Two Major Japanese banks released reports this week saying manufacturing company expenditure on machines in the year to March 31, 1990, is expected to grow sharply.

The Industrial Bank of Japan, quoting 2,891 respondents to a survey, said capital spending by manufacturing companies is likely to reach 7.15 trillion yen ($50 billion) for the year to March 31, 1990, up 23.9 percent from a year

The Japan Development Bank predicted a similar increase. Such spending will hasten the ascent of the robot and swell the coffers of companies making them, analysts said. "There will be a lot of earnings surprises among companies that make high-technology machines and robots," Kopinski said.

Fanuc, Japan's biggest robot maker, predicts its sales of the machines will rise to 38.2 billion yen ($270 million) in the year to March 31, 1990, from 32.2 billion (228 million) a year earlier.

Unlike those in futuristic movies, few robots are made in the image of man. But many are capable of a wide range of movements and can be programmed by a central computer chip 'brain'' to perform several tasks.

Robots move with a series of joints and pivots that sometimes makes them resemble human limbs. Many, like the Fanuc robot Arc Mate, are endowed with laser "vision," which enables them to detect some objects.

One construction company, the Ohbayashi Corporation, has developed a machine that hammers in steel girders and aligns cross-beams with a minimum of human help. It slashes building time almost in half, the company

BNL secretly approved $3 billion in loans to Iraq

Scandal raises questions of arms sales

ROME, Oct 1, (AP): A dashing banker with a taste for Alfa Romeos, rumoured military shipments to the Middle East. A secret plan to provide billions of dollars to Iraq through Italy's biggest bank — with no record on the books.

It could be the stuff of a bestselling novel. But since US authorities descended on an Italian bank in Atlanta, Georgia, in August, the elements have instead emerged at the centre of a ery involving italy, iraq a US government agency.

The case has become Italy's biggest banking scandal since the 1982 collapse of Banco Ambrosiano, the country's largest private bank, which made huge loans to Latin American dummy companies.

Officials say the Banca Nazionale Del Lavoro branch in Atlanta secretly approved $3 billion in loans to Iraq in 1988-89, in the form of letters of credit for US and European firms for exports to Iraq.

Iraq insists it had no idea the loans were secret. It says it used the money simply for grain and machinery for civilian uses, like making cars.

But several companies that credits were implicated in past Middle East arms scandals. Others used BNL credits to sell Iraq machines with possible military applications, although they say the sales were legal.

The case has prompted an investigation by Rome magistrates into possible illegal arms sales and bribes, and US probes into whether fraud was involved. So far, no one has been charged.

Meanwhile, directors of the government-owned BNL have deen forced to resign. Italian opposition parties have demanded an inquiry.

"We want credible answers from the government to the questions of traffic of arms, the role of the secret service, the violation of international embargoes regarding Iraq," declared a leftist opposition deputy, Franco Bassanini.

"In this case there are disquiet-

Why were the huge loans to Iraq made? how could they slip unnoticed past US and Italian regulators? Who in the bank or the various governments knew what was going on?

ing signs and suspicions."
So far, the affair has raised more questions than answers.

At the centre of the scandal is

French-American with a penchant for well-cut suits and Alfa Romeo sports cars, he was considered an intelligent, aggressive BNL says Drogoul was sup-year-old Christopher Drogoul.

A blond, athletically built posed to stick to a credit limit of $500,000 per customer, and that it thought he did. But Drogoul manipulated the books and hid the Iraqi credits in secret files, some in his home. according to authorities. The banker and his lawyer have refused comment. BNL has fired the former manager, suspended nine other members of the 19-person Atlanta staff and filed a legal complaint about Drogoul. However, it has not explained why the banker made the secret Iraqi loans. Guido Carli, the minister of Italy's treasury, which owns 74 per cent of BNL, has charged that the bank's directors missed the Atlanta arrangements through lax inspection. But many people doubt that the $3-billion operation could have escaped the notice of the home office.

BNL's former US director.

would be promoting a social weekly Europeo that when he was appointed in 1987, the BNL. branches hadn't been inspected in two years. He says he alerted the bank's directors of serious problems in Atlanta but that the warning was ignored. Suspicions of connivance by top bank officials have led to speculation that Italian politicians were involved - a natural leap of faith in a country in which 80 per cent of the banks are government-owned and mos bank directors are political Former BNL executives have fed the fire by implying international skullduggery. "There's something that escapes us; something that has to do with international politics, not of a banking nature," the bank's ousted chairman, Nerio Nesi, told the Italian weekly L'Espresso.

Aside from escaping detection at bank headquarters, the Atlanta operation also passed unnoticed during inspections by the Georgia Banking and Finance Department and the US Federal Reserve, which did not realise BNL was financing the Iraqi credits through loans from other banks.

the Atlanta branch manager, 40reportedly received secret BNL Luigi Sardelli, told the Italian atin leaders seek trade deals to fight drug war

UNITED NATIONS, Oct 1, (Reuter): Latin American leaders want better trade terms rather than money handouts to fight their war against drug trafficking.

Not until farmers get a better price for coffee, cotton, or flowers will they be willing to give up their vast plantations of coca, the plant base for cocaine, Latin America's major narcoticsproducing countries told the United Nations General Assembly last week.

crop substitution," Peruvian Foreign Minister Guillermo Larco-Cox told the world body.

"And this must be supported by international agreements guaranteeing preferential treatment of commodities and ... access to markets at competitive prices," he said.

tions based on eradication but on

Larco-Cox even mentioned decriminalisation of drug use as a means of fighting the war on traf-problem of hunger and protest that could swell the ranks of subversive forces and lead to the relocation of illegal crops," he Colombia's cocaine conglomerates have already begun spreading out across Latin America, prompting fears that the region's drug problem could become many times worse. The international community should consider buying the coca debt into drug-fighting resources, Larco-Cox said. Peru and Bolivia grow about 80 per cent of the world coca supply while Colombia, a major cocaine-processing centre, has been the source of 80 per cent of the cocaine shipped to the US "We are not asking for more assistance — we have received plenty of help from your coun-Colombian President Virgilio Barco said after meeting US

crop, legalising the consumption 'If we were to deprive (the President George Bush in 'We cannot speak about solufarmers of coca growing) we gary a year ago. of drugs and converting foreign Poor countries share US concern about EEC market changes

VERSAILLES, France, Oct 1, (Reuter); Some of the world's poorest countries say European Economic Community plans for a single European market by 1992 threaten to add to the problems of their struggling populations.

Parliamentarians from 66 African.

Caribbean and Pacific (ACP) states, often at odds with Washington, share US con-cern that the post-1992 EEC will freeze out At a meeting in Versailles last week, they also expressed fears that money that could be used as much-needed development aid would be directed away from poor nations toward rejuvenated - and protected -EFC industries. The imminent completion of the single European market brings with it serious threats of new and perhaps grave imbalances for the ACP countries." the legislators said in a report released at a joint ACP-EEC legislative assembly. The former European colonies and the 12 community members are currently entering the final stage of negotiations over extending a 15-year-old treaty gover-ning trade between them.

The Lome convention, which expires next February, provides preferential access for ACP exports into the community and reimburses ACP producers for certain losses stemming from unusually large falls in the price of commodities and

ACP countries see Lome as the centrepiece of economic co-operation with the The ACP countries, mostly in Africa, include 32 of the very poorest nations, among them Ethiopia, Benin and Jamaica. An average ACP citizen earns $317 per year, compared to $11,475 in industrialised countries. In ACP countries 126 out of every 1,000 babies die, compared to 15 in developed countries. An ACP man can expect to live 49 years, compared to 72 years for a man in a developed nation.

In a speech designed to assuage ACP fears, EEC Commission vice-president Manuel Marin conceded that 1992 could aggravate ACP economic crises and debt

French national assembly president Laurent Fabius said 1992 should not jeopardise ACP trade privileges. But he acknowledged: "It will be difficult." ACP concerns have been heightened by a fall in their share of EEC imports to below six per cent from nine per cent in 1970. The EEC absorbs about 70 per cent of ACP exports, excluding oil. After raucous debate in the sumptuous surroundings of the Versailles Palace, the joint assembly adopted a resolution urging the EEC to guarantee market access to the developing countries' imports. It also recommended that the next Lome convention reimburse ACP countries if their share of EEC agricultural imports falls as a result of the 1992 community

Twenty commodities account for over 85 per cent of the ACP export earnings, and one or two products dominate the economies of most of the nations.

Falls in the prices of coffee and cocoa have hit many ACP countries, including the Ivory Coast, Senegal and Ghana.

The assembly urged the EEC to give continued preferential treatment to ACP banana exports, to accord free and unlimited access for ACP rum and to improve trade terms for ACP rice. in the Lome talks, ACP nations are pushing for a dramatic increase in EEC aid over the next five years. The current accord has provided about $8.5 billion over five

EEC officials agreed an increase was due, but discouraged ACP hopes of a dramatic rise. "Development aid has often been wasted," said assembly co-president Leo Tindemans of Belgium. "The key to development is not always the amount of

KD rate firm against dollar

Gulf Bank weekly market review

BASED on last week's opening middle market FX rates, the KD exchange rate was higher against the dollar ending the work at 296.82 file compared with its week before last closing of 299.53 fils. The KD was lower against the found sterling, ending the week at 478.47 fils compared with its week before last closing of 473.11 fils.

of 473.11 file.

The KD was lower against the DM ending the week at 157.30 file compared with its week before last closing of 154.20 file. The KD was also lower against the SFR ending the week at 181.54 file compared with its week before last closing of 178.03 file, according to Gulf Bank weekly market report.

The KD was higher against the Jordanian dinar ending the week at 427.06 file compared with its week before last closing of 431.60 file. The KD was higher against all other GCC currencies compared to the week before last rares.

As to the KD money market, short term interbank offer rates traded relatively lower over the week. One-month interbank rates traded over the week within 18.37 per cent - 8.50 per cent range compared with 8.31 per cent - 8.56 per cent range the week before last.

While 3-month interbank rates traded within 8.43 per cent - 8.56 per cent range compared with 8.43 per cent - 8.50 per cent range for longer periods traded within a higher range of 8.50 per cent - 8.52 per cent for both 6 and 12 months respectively.

World stock markets

World stock markets

Wall Street stock prices for most part of the week traded mix although the overall performance was relatively higher compared to previous week's prices. Buying in the stock market was mainly concentrated in the blue chips shares, as well as short covering, while selling was beavily visible in the technology using which was triggered by IBM's surprise announcement of lower third quarter extraores. The Dow Jones Industrial Average opened the week at 26,50 points and closed the week at 2693 points, recording a gain of 17 points over the previous week's closing of 2676.

Share prices of the London Stock Exchange last week moved lower, and prices plunged in the mid part of the week below the FTSE key support level of 23000 since the market finally decided it was time for a setback. Market participants for a long time have been looking for a real consolidation period ever since this run began back in June. The FTSE-100 opened the week at 2359.6 points and closed lower at 2399.4 recording a loss of 72.7 points over the previous week's closing of 2372.1.

US dollar The dollar traded sharply lower over the week reaching its lower for the month especially against the yen and the pound sterling. The release of the G-1 statement coupled with concentrated central banks intervention was the main reason for pushing the dollar lower.

The Group of Seven industrialised nations who met in Washington DC last weekend announced their opposition to a stronger dollar, and backed that statement up with surprisingly strong and persistent concerted selling. The G-7 agreed that a rise of the dollar above current levels or an excessive decline could adversely affect prospects for the world economy and accordingly agreed to cu-operate closely in the exchange markets.

Although the G-7 officials said they have no targets of the dollar's lower levels, however it is believed the G-7 would be happy to see a stable dollar around the 135 yen and 1.85 marks.

It is believed that 11 central banks have joined in the assault on the dollar. For example, Bank of Japan sold dollars heavily in Tokyo, while the US Federal Reserve and the Bank of Canada also intervened heavily in Tokyo by selling dollars for the yen. Even the Fed sold dollars for marks and pound sterling Pound sterling The pound opened the week against the dollar at $1.6170 and closed higher at $1.6195/05, compared to its week before last closing of $1.5710/20. The pound gained momentum following intense speculation in the money market regarding an increase in UK hase rates from 14 per cent. However, UK Chancellor of the Exchequer Nigel Lawson said British interest rates would have to stay high because of the government's fight against inflation. Lawson also said commenting on the latest British trade figures that UK current account deficit would come down in due course but it would be a slow process. UK current account deficit for the month of August recorded $2 billion against a market forecast of $1.5 billion. The August figures are the third

Japanese yen

The yen opened the week against the dollar at 142.05/15 yen and closed the week sharply higher at 139.05/15 yen compared to its week before last closing at 145.90/10 yen. Bank of Japan has been quite active over the week in selling dollars for the yen, and for the whole month of September the total amoung of dollar sales intervention by BOJ has been estimated around $3 billion (equal to 430 billion yen).

Iapan August unemployment (on an unadjusted basis) totalled 1.4 million persons, against 1.32 million the previous month and 1.57 million a year earlier.

Overall employment in August climbed by 1.2 million or 2 per cent from a year earlier to 61.93 million, while August employment in the manufacturing sector rose 4.1 per cent to 14.75 million which is the third consecutive month it has increased by more 500,000 per sons.

Japan's retail sales rose 8 per cent in August from a year earlier to 1.415 billion yen. According to the Ministry of International Trade and Industry, department sales in August increased 8 per cent from a year earlier to 679.1 billion yea. while supermarket sales jumped 7.9 per cent to 735.7 billion yen. In July retail sales were 8.7 per cent from a year earlier.

Deutsche mark The mark opened the week against the dollar at 1.9020/30 marks and closed the week sharply higher at 1.8725/35 marks compared to its week before last closing of 1.9515/25 marks. The mark's bullishness was aided by several factors, mainly, the dollar fail due to G-7 announcement, Bundesbank intervention to the money market through selling marks for dollars, and finally expectation of a W. German interest rates rise.

Talk of higher W. German interest rates has resurfaced over and over again recently. Bundesbank president Karl Otto Poehl revived speculation over W. German interest rates when he said it was right to question if W. German interest rates structure was appropriate for the level of expansion within the economy, bence avoiding future inflationary threats. W. German cost of living rose (on provisional basis) 0.2 per cent for the month of September and 3.1 per cent on a year-to-year basis, according to the W. German Federal Statistics Office. Cost of living for the month of August recorded a negative 0.1 per cent on monthly basis and 2.9 per cent on a year-to-

The French franc opened the week against the USS at 6.4470/00 FFR and closed the week higher at 6.3545/75 FFR, compared to its week before last closing of 6.5970/00 FFR. The Swiss franc opened the week against the dollar at 1.6470/80 SFR and close the week higher at 1.6210/20 SFR, compared to its week before last closing of 1.6910/30 SFR.

Precious metals Precious metals prices over the previous week continued to move higher mainly due to the fall of the dollar. Gold prices remained fundamentally firm but has been unable to breach the $370 resistance level, established earlier this week. while silver prices were holding a tight 3 cents range over most part of the week.

Gold bullion prices opened the week at 366.75/365.25 S/oz, and closed higher at 366.10/366.60 $/oz, recording a gain of 2.65 $/oz over the previous week's closing of 364.75/365.25 $/oz.

Silver bullion prices opened the week at 5.30/5.32 $/oz and closed higher at

5.28/5.30 S/oz, recording a gain of 3 cents over the previous week's closing of

Platinum prices opened the week at 484/485 $/oz and closed higher at 492.50/493 $/oz, recording a gain of 13 $/oz over the previous week 's closing of 479/480

SHIPS DISCHARGING AT SHUWAIKH PORT AS ON 1/10/89

SHIPPING MOVEMENTS

Ships Name Agent Sagar Shaheen Tel. No. Atlantic Express 2432692 Vera Khoruzhaya Alrashed 2422026 17 Sagar Shaheen ISA Barge 309 2432692 Serifos 2441860 SHIPS EXPECTED AT SHUWAIKH PORT ETA Ships Name Agent Tel. No. Norasia Arabia Ville D'Oman Emad Shpg 4841807 4745533 Yaas Avdeevka Al Rashed 2422026 DISCHARGING AT SHUAIBA PORT Agent ISA B.No. Ships Name Tel. No. Ingenious 2441860 Capetan Alexandros Algh Barwil 4842988 Agean Dolphin Algh Barwil United Shpg 4842988 Camellia Estrella 2457958 SHIPS EXPECTED AT SHUAIBA PORT Ships Name Ivan Pereverzey Agent RSMS Tel. No. 2/10 2423642 Rhein Express M.A.Bahar 2433881 2441860 Gur Master Algh. Barwil RSMS Hyandai No. 8 4842988 6/10 Sea Jade 2423642 Compiled by: Alghanim Barwil Shipping Co. Will, Tel: 4842988/4843988 ext. 3828/3646 Fax No. 4845712, TLX 22084 BARWIL KT TLX 30894 SLS KT.

ARAB@TIMES MA Classifieds

BOODAI

CARGO

International Freight

Forwarder

★ World-wide door to door

Tel 4837650

RAJU STUDIO

Al-Mo對 Complex, Murqab

Give film before 12.00 noo.

for printing & developing and Give one film for printing &

mlargement 20x25 cm FREE

Studio Al Wataniya

FOR RENT

Villas, half villas

and flats

with swimming pool

Tel: 2401908 - 2407677

2403260

The All

Real Estate

(Raje Studio) Shop No.11

Mz. floor, Souk Ai Wataniya

get on the same day evening.

developing and get an

★ Customs Clearance

* Air-Sea-Trucking

* Packing-Forwarding

service

FOR RENT

Big villas, small villas in manv Bia flat in Solwe with swimming pool --- KD 500/- (with E&W)

2 Br flats in Salmiya ---

KD 250/-

Stores & offices Messilah Beach Real Estate Tel: 2401858-2408510

DIOOR TO DOOR EATID

IIGAYA

PHILIPPINES 483-9009 22 483-9889 * FAST-RELIABLE *

GOODNEWS TAXI

Opening a branch in Abu Halifa

AL SAADAH TAXI TEL: 3728855, 3721116

3963107

.

4:5

1 1 1 1

ENTS

1-1 1.5

AUTO ASSIST ↔ 24 Hr. Towing & Repair Service ONE YEAR Car - KD 7 only

Comm. Vehicle — KD 15 only SOOF St. # 2444486 AL RAI & 4730733 Ext 250/258

Best airfreight rates and most convenient routes

484-6009

Oh. No! This can't be mine!

I should have called Alghanim...

No one does it better. The biggest IATA Freight agent in Kuwait.

Alghanim ea Freight Air Packing

Customer Services Tel. 4745533

Murgab 1412595/2416891

Gazali Street with 3 bedrooms, and sitting

2. New shop, for rent. KD200/-, 21 sq. mt.

Hawalli 2 bedrooms, with sitting room, central A/C. KD200/-

Contact Tel. 2423944

ACCOMMODATION

Available

SALMIYA, Amman Street, near Al Reshid Hospital, One room for two bachelors/spinsters to share with a family. Tele. Fernandes 5627309 after 2 pm. (AT2-49629-3)

For Rent

MISHPIF, one deluxe flat with two bedrooms, one saloon, two baths and one kitchen, CAC and central seriel for TV. Rent KD 260 with water and electricity. Tele 5380381, res. 4715243 off.

(AT3-49636-3) DASMAN. One flat in a villa, CAC with 3 bedrooms, 1 sitting room, 1 dining room, 1 store room, 1 beth and kitchen. Tele. 2408549, 9 am -

(AT2-49608-3)

FOR SALE

Boats

22 FT, 198 inboard, recently reconditioned with road trailor. ski, safety equipment. Tele. 5722147, 6- 10 pm only. (AT2-49626-3)

FOR RENT

Villas, half villas, flats, complete buildings, offices in all areas in Kuwait with or without swimming pool

atar Real Estate Tele, 2406592. 2406593

WANTED

DISTRIBUTOR

For natural fruit juice filled in

Tetra brik packs in 250ml. in

Holder of distribution facilities

WANTED

First-class tailoring cutter (male or female) and tailors

for a tailoring workshop at Farwaniya.

Tel. 4763582

Abdullah Ai Ajmi

of dry foods.

Please contact: Marketing Manager Th: 34015 Julica EM,

Fac: 971-3-865208

most popular flavours from

FOR RENT

Villas, half villas, buildings and flats with or without swimming pool. AL GANDOL

Al Ibrahim

Taxi

Tel. 2400013.

2400014, 2400015

Forwaniya branch

Tel. 4745600,

4745900

GENERAL

SERVICE

for all your shifting with transportation, painting, wall

We are at your service, with skilled workers. We are also buving and selling furniture.

papering carpet & villa cleaning.

Contact: Mr Stanley

Tel: 4748877

Al Mowasim Trag.

CARPET

CLEANING

Sofa and General

Cleaning at your premises!

Contact

GULF DAWN

Tel. 5624725

REAL ESTATE Tel. 2452199 2452198

AL-SAQIYA FOR RENT

bothrooms — 750/-Holl villa 3 bedrooms, very large hall, 2 bathroom, ground floor, inclusive W/E--400/-Mishrif — haif villa, 5 bedrooms, saloon, 3 battrooms — 450/-Salwa — 3 bedrooms, saloon inclusive

Tel. 2656297 - 2658365 - 2621391 Mohummed Shibada

EUROPEAN made bedroom set and dining table with 4 chairs in very good condition, available for sale. Tele. 2402012, 8 am - 4 pm. (AT2-49607-3)

Cars

Furniture

NISSAN Liberta 1985, red, 4 door. automatic, AC, 72,000 kms, sunroof in good condition. KD950 or by instalments. Tele. 2401908. (AT2-49624-3)

CHEVROLET Suburban 1984, good condition. Will be sold by sealed bids only. Bidding closes 3 pm on October 25. Tele. 2424151. ext 286, 9 am - 3 pm. (Sat-Wed

(AT2-49605-3) BUICK Le-Sabre 1979, excellent mechanical/body condition, KD590. Tele. 5715236, for appoin-(AT2-49620-3)

'85, automatic, blue, in good condition. KD2000 ono, cash. Tele. 5716003, 9071712, after 5 pm. NISSAN Liberta, 1983 model,

TOYOTA Crown Supersaloon

AC, automatic, cream colour. AC, automatic, cream calcula, insured upto Sept 1990. KD450. cash. Tele. Jahangeer, 2563846. 8.30 am - 12.30 pm, 4 - 9 pm. (AT2-49616-3)

FOR TOWING AND REPAIRING CARS FROM ANY PLACE. QUICK EFFICIENT SERVICE.

CONTACT: 🕿 5740881

TO LET

in Salmiya Fully furnished or unfurnished one bedroom flats

Call 2422407 from 4.30 to 8.30 pm

2451489. (AT2-49624-3) TOYOTA Hiace '88 model, 10 seater, white 41,000 kms, in NISSAN Stanza, 1984, grey, AC, automatic, sunroof, 74,000 kms.

insured up to Sept 1990, one owner in good condition. KD850

cash or instalments. Tele.

excellent condition. Tele. (AT2-49581-3)

NISSAN 280 ZX, 1983, white, T. roof, in very good condition. KD1800. Tele. Ali Reda, 5613836. 7 - 10.30 pm. (AT2-49634-3)

TOYOTA Cressida GL, '83 model, fully automatic, black, 4 doors, AC, 66,575 kms, sunroof in excellent condition. Highest offer, cash or by instalments. Tele.

(AT2-49556-3) Miscellaneous

PROGRAMMABLE calculator TI-59, with printer, HVAC and plumbing design programmes for sale. Tele. 2422188.

(AT2-49606-3) 2" ELECTRIC guitar's: 1 Gibson 'SG"U.S.A with hardshall case. KD150, 1 "Ibanaz U.S.A, KD120. 1"Amplifier 50 watt, KD40, 6 guitar effect's with digital delay. KD100. Tele Hamad 4879813.

(AT1-49600-3) النقيب وخطار 🗨 📉 Al-Nageeb & Khattar

> IBA KAMI KAPAG CARGO ANG PINAG - USAPAN DOOR TO DOOR PHILIPPINES

484-6009 🖈

WANTED For high class ladies salon

Assistant-cum-Manicurist Pis call 'Karen the Becutifui.'

in Salmiya.

Scissors 5711270/ 5711260

Settlements Assistant

A leading investment company has an opening for a person with 2-5 years' experience in FX settlements. Knowledge of securities settlements will be an advantage. Salary negotiable depending on Detailed CV to be sent within 7 days.

Attn.: Treasury P.O. Box 23982, 13100 Safat, Kuwait

THE ALL REAL ESTATE

Villas, half villas, flats, with or without swimming pool & furnitures

Tel: 2401908, 2451489 2407677, 2451476

Fax: 2403260

IBM monochrome monitor 12" high resolution for sale. Tele. Husain, 5625538, 5610391. (AT2-49603-3)

MOVING: appliances up to 11 months old, large palm and 4 other large plants, furniture. Tele. 5715236, viewing on Sat, 12-8 pm. Sun by appintment only

(AT2-49621-3) 2 BEDROOM apartment for sale in Thana, Bornbay. Area 770 square feet. If wanted tele. Newton Fernandes, 4314104 after 4

(AT2-49622-3) LADIES, those worn clothes piled up in your closet can become cash. We will collect and pay. Tele. 2633756, 9 am - 1 pm, 4 - 9 (AT2-AAA-HU-3) NATIONAL video mixer, model VS-100 with gin camera, three months old. Tele. Rebhi, 2634384. (AT2-49614-2)

PETS

PERSIAN cats, in assorted colours, six weeks old, house trained, very cute and friendly for sale. Tele. 5741154. (AT2-49627-3)

SERVICES

Tuition

by a trained teacher in a CAC apartment, behind Burgan H.O. Sharq. Tele 2422757. (AT1-49582-3) Baby Sitting

NURSERY training for kids given

AVAILABLE with an Indian lady in the morning and evening, opp. Palestine Embassy, behind Tunis Street, near 'Canary.' Tele. Street, 1155. 2667347, 2 - 8 pm. (AT2-49613-3) old baby 4 to 5 days a week from 7 am.to 2.30 pm. Tele. after 3 pm (AT3-49647-3)

A FRENCH mother seeks qualified European or American lady to look after her 10-month-

Transport

REQUIRED from Salmiya to the Kuwait International Hotel and back, 9.30 am - 1.30 pm, 4.30 - 8.30 pm. Tele. 5654910, after 5 pm. (AT2-49631-3)

WANTED

ADULT windsurfer/accessories.

(AT2-49620-3)

SITUATIONS

Vacant

MAID required Filipina or Sri Lanken for a family. Must have transferable visa. Tele 5639256 after 2

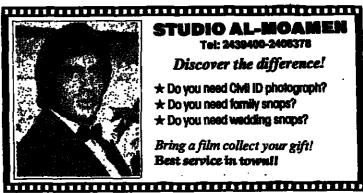

(AT1-49601-3)

Wanted

BRITISH national (female), seeks part-time job. Fully experienced in accounts - manual/computerised, costing and office administration. Tele Mrs Smith, 3710770 ext-55, 8-6 pm.

(AT1-49579-3) MAID/Housekeeper, Sir Lankan, 8 years experience in Kuwait with transferable visa, seeking job with an American or European family. Tele. 5315246, 7.30 am - 7.30 pm.

(AT2-49635-2) Bangladeshi H.S.C, experienced as a clerk/storekeeper with a knowledge of filing, typing, telex and Wordstar, holder of transferable visa, seeks job immediately. Tele. Asad 3983114, 3987178 time 2-10 pm. (AT3-49637-3)

STUDIO AL-MOAMEN Tel: 2439400-2406378 Discover the difference!

★ Do you need Civil ID photograph?

★ Do you need family snaps? ★ Do you need wedding snaps?

Bring a film collect your gift! Best service in town!!

Brand new building for rent (complete)

At a good location in palma with elevator, 7 big apartments having 3 bedrooms, 3 bathrooms, saloon, dining room attached kitchen with mulhaq. Best for diplomats or company.

Contact on 5658114 Morning 11.00 - 1.00 Evening 6.00 - 9.00

SAGAR ... SAGAR ... SAGAR? YES! SAGAR REFRESHMENT A pure vegetarian paradise

GUJARATHI & SOUTH INDIAN DISHES ★ Pay a visit & find new varieties ★ Your satisfaction is our goal

Mubarak Ai Kabir St., Comm. Area No. 9 Block 4, Shop No. 29 Near Abdul Aziz Al Rashed - Xerox

SCUBA DIVING COURSES

Registration starting now For Saturday, October 7th

At Al Boom for Diving & Marine Equipment Co. Behind Al Qabas newspaper Contact Mark Tel: 4830474/4830570

New in

Opal glass

glass ovenware from Argentina

tableware and

Wide range good quality. shock and heat resistant, lively modern designs. attractive, practical, economical.

town? Check the classified pages of the Arab Times for used cars, boats. furniture and electronics. The bargains will amaze you.

FOR RENT

1. New flats, Farwaniya, room.

Rent KD210/- per month.

3. New flats in Maidan

WANTED

An experienced

Engineer

In the field of marble

work, pricing, installation, supervision.

Minimum experience 3 years.

Tel. 4815120/4846720

SPORTS

Marseille go to top of table

PARIS, Oct 1, (Reuter): French dou-ble winners Marseille returned to the top of the table yesterday after strug-gling to overcome the determined resistance of bottom club Brest, reduced to 10 men in the second half.

Marseille did all the attacking at their Stade Velodrome but finally settled for a 75th minute goal from substitute Abdoulaye Diallo for a 1-0 win over Brest whose Senegalese defender Racine Kane had been sent off eight minutes earlier.

The Mediterranean club replaced Bordeaux as League leaders after the south-western side were held 1-1 by Paris St Germain thanks to a late penalty for the home team.

Bordeaux seemed to be heading for an excellent victory over third-placed PSG when West German Klaus Allofs scored in the 59th minnte for the dominant visitors.

But Argentine international Gabriel Calderon equalised from the spot three minutes from time after veteran Yugoslav midfielder Safet Susic was pulled down.

Both leading clubs have 18 points but Marseille have a superior goal difference and a game in hand. Sochaux, who recorded a 4-2 win in Nice, moved up to third place above PSG on goal difference, two points behind the top two.

Big-spending Marseille's 100 per cent home record seemed in danger for a long time against a Brest side who had not taken a point or scored a goal in their previous six away games Midfielder Franck Sauzee hit the est and forwards Jean-Pierre Papin, Enzo Francescoli and Chris Waddle all went close before Senegalese striker Diallo finally nodded home a Waddle corner.

Brest's keeper Claude Barrable had defied the Marseille attack with a string of superb saves.

Nice, for whom Luxembourg striker Robby Langers notched his 10th goal to join Papin as League top scorer, suffered their first home defeat of the season against the on-form Sochaux side for whom Algerian forward Cherif Oudjani and Yugoslav sweeper Faruk Had-zibegic were on target.

ACROSS

1 Yesterday's

5 So-so grade

8 Monticello.

for one

15 Deed

16 Early

roast today

14 Canal of song harpsichord

18 Quality checker

at the Mint?

17 Nothing, in 20 Lab heater

22 Comucopia

23 Peer Gynt's

24 TV star Bob

Jacob —

32 Doctrines

29 "The Greatest"

30 Seas, in Paris

36 Barrie's Peter

37 Short jackets

39 Embankment

40 Italian beach

resort 42 Young oysters 44 Noted western lawman

47 Parts of QEDs

45 Foe

49 Favorite

50 Seractios

53 Explorer

52 Green land

Johnson 54 Network 56 Roman --58 ABA member 61 Spring 63 — monster

64 Wandering

67 King of the

71 Sal of song

72 River duck

73 Chargers

Huns

70 Inactive

Social reforme

mother

Cadiz

Resuits Monace Caen Toulon

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

74 Fr. holy woman

1 Coop dweller rattlesnake

6 Old French coin

9 Long-eared dog

5 Nightclubs

7 Engrave

8 — de corps

season...

England

measure

24 Port of S Italy

25 Hollywood's

13 To be, in Caen

11 Handle

19 Hebrew

21 Appoint

May

26 Figure of speech

12 River of N

75 Being: Lat.

DOWN

2 Parsegian

3 Small

Moor

28 Snick's

31 Trap

38 Blot.

companion

33 Diminishes quickly

Mother --

41 Actor Sharif

46 Capitulated

48 Large hauler,

55 Musician's must

57 Fill with pride

58 Amo, --. amat

62 Sty dwellers

write-up word

65 Wedding

66 A Turner

68 — Vegas

69 Martinique,

for short

51 Makes tea

59 Try out

60 Story

43 Contest

35 Of a membrane

34 Nobelist

World Cup striker repays Robson's faith in him

Lineker returns to form in style

LONDON, Oct 1, (Reuter): England's premier World Cup striker Gary Lineker made Bobby Robson and Terry Venables two of the most delighted soccer managers in the country with a timely and dazzling hattrick yesterday.

Lineker's goals fired Totten-ham to a 3-2 First Division home win against Queen's Park Rangers underlining national man-ager Robson's faith in him and winning the acclaim of his club boss Venables, who signed him from Barcelona last June.

The triple strike ended Lineker's struggle for goals since his S2.3 million move from the Spanish First Division giants to Tot-tenham, for whom he had scored only once in his previous six League games.

Despite such poor form, Robson recently gave Lineker a public vote of confidence, saying he was nearly always able to score for his country even though he was not producing goals at club level. His hat-trick must further hearten the England chief ahead of his team's final World Cup qualifying match in Poland

With Tottenham making a wretched start to the season, goals by Lineker were even more pressing for Venables, whose side were next to bottom of the 20-team Division before yesterday's games.

Lineker, top scorer with six goals in the 1986 World Cup finals in Mexico, had hinted at improved fortunes with his first strike for Tottenham the previous weekend, and returned to his devastating best to destroy London rivals Rangers.
"Gary was terrific," enthused

Venables after his star signing had hit an 87th-minute winner to complete his hat-trick. "In the first half he looked as good as Rangers' player-manager

Trevor Francis, the former England forward, said: "Gary Lineker was the difference between the two sides. He was too good for (defender) Paul Parker. "Gary got a lift scoring last week and like all goalscorers, once you've scored you can't wait for the next game. I was worried before the game that it against today."

Lineker produced the outstanding individual performance on a day when four First Division clubs - Chelsea, Millwall, Arsenal and Everton --- failed to seize the chance to take over as leaders from Liverpool, whose scheduled match with Manchester United was put back until later in the year to be televised

Chelsea fought an uncom-promising goalless home draw with champions Arsenal, while Millwall slumped 1-0 at home to Norwich and Everton suffered a surprise 2-1 defeat at Crystal Palace, who were overwhelmed 9-0 by Liverpool recently.

Palace's success was their most impressive since being promoted to Division One this season, but manager Steve Coppell said his players were still not satisfied. 'It is a game we won, but the players at the moment haven't really got a lot of satisfaction from it because of the way we were just hanging on at the end," said former England and ManNevertheless Coppell said ninth-placed Palace were gaining confidence, and added: "I am lucky in that the players I have got can be knocked down and will bounce back again."

Scottish Premier League Cel-tic, who beat Yugoslavs Partizan Belgrade 5-4 in midweek but went out of the European Cup Winners' Cup on the away goals rule, recovered their nerve to hold leaders Aberdeen to a 1-1

> Standings English League

	P W	D	L	F	A	Pts
I innernani	7 4	3	Ð	19	3	15
Liverpool Chelsea		: :	•	"	=	::
Chelsea	8 4	د ٠	1	13	- 1	13
Arsenal	7 4	2		11	- 5	14
Norwich	8 3	5		12	7	14
		1	×	::	44	17
Millwall	8 4		- 4	14	14	14
Everton	8 4	i	3	12	11	13
	8 4	Ī	7	7	9	13
Coventry	2 7
Southampton	8 3	3		IJ	Į÷	14
Crystal P	2 3	1 2	- 3	7	15	11
Manchester C	- E -	: 7	ā	12	11	īā
	 	: :	- 7		•:
OPR	8 3	: 3	3	ä	7	9
QPR Notts Forest	90 90 90 90 90 90 90 90 90 90 90 90 90 9	3	3	9	9	9
	8 3	3	- 5	á	ā	9
Aston Villa			•	9	¥	7
Luton	8 2	! 3	3	- 6	7	9
Wimbledon	8 1	3	2	8 6 7	9	8

4		•	_	•	••	_
-b	8	3	5	0	12	7	14
11	8	3	5	2	14	7 12 11	14
	8	4	1	3	12	11	13
_ '5'v	8	4	1	3	7	8	13
motos	8	3	3	2	13	14	12
P	ž	3	ž	3	7	14 15	11
th h ll ry mpton i P ester C	$0 00 00 00 00 00 00 00 00 00 00 00 00 7 7	44333515151-11771		ā	13	1117997981415	īō
LJUL C	Ē	5	ī	í	- 8	7	-
-	ĕ	ī	1	ĩ	š	هٔ	99998887
COLEX	9	•	-	-			-
Forest Villa	8	2	3	3	8	9	9
	8	2	3	3	6	7	9
edon	8	1	5	2	7	9	8
	Ř	2	2	ã	5	8	Ř
_	=	=	Ξ		-=		=
ham.	7	4	ž	3	10	14	ď
ham ester U	7	3	Ţ	4	13	เร	7

Chelsea's Dickens (left) and Arsenal's Richardson jump to head the ball. (Reuter wirephoto)

Al Malab overcome Al Kuwait for trophy

AL MALAB of Tunisia won the first Arab Cup Winners Championship after beating Al Kuwait Club of Kuwait 6-5 in a penalty shoot-out after both the normal and extra time failed to produce

Each team had scored 4 goals out of the first five penalties.

Al Kuwait goalkeeper Ahmad Al Amir provided his club with an opportunity to clinch the title when he stopped a penalty and the score was 3-2 for Al Kuwait. However Salah Al Hasawi, top striker of Al Kuwait club and Kuwait national team, missed his kick. The two clubs went on to hit one penalty kick each to decide the fate of the match and Jamal Deyab of Al Kuwait missed his kick while Tunisian player Balakhdar successfully converted his shot. In an earlier match, Al Rasheed of Iraq took the third position after beating Hilal of Sudan 3-2. Laith Hussain of Al Rasheed took the top scorer award, Ahmad Al Amir of Al Kuwait got the best goalkeeper award. Al Hashemi of Al Malah was named the best player of the the tournament and Al Rasheed defender, Karım Alawi won the best "clean play" award.

lan Cook of Norwich City crashes in a tackle against Millwall defender lan Dawes. (Reuter wirephoto)

GOREN BRIDGE

BY CHARLES GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF

WATCH YOUR STEP! Both vulnerable. South deals. NORTH ♦ AQJ1076 WEST EAST ♠ 9863 ★ K 10 4 ♥ Q 10 5 ♥ J984 ♦ 4 2 ♦ K 5 3 ♣ Q J 10 SOUTH ★ A 5 2 ▽ A K 7 3 ◇98 # A K 8 4 The bidding: South West 1 💠 Pass 10 Pass

Pass

2 NT

Pass Pass Opening lead: Nine of 4 There is a disease that strikes most bridge players at regular intervals. It is an affliction of flying fingers. Instead of thinking about a play, reflex takes over and a card hits the table in no time flat. This malady is usually followed by a severe case of contrition. Although North-South were using a 16-18 point no trump range, South judged the hand to be stronger than its count because of the plethora of aces and kings, so he opened one club and then jumped to two no trump. North did not think the hand would stretch to slam, and settled for the no-trump game. Little did he realize even that might be too high!

3 NT

Pass

Declarer covered West's lead of the nine of spades with the jack, and East started a fine defense by withholding the king. After crossing to the king of clubs, declarer ran the nine of diamonds. East continued the good work by holding up the king of diamonds. When declarer repeated the finesse, East won and reverted to a club. Declarer found he had no way to reach all those good diamonds in dummy, and ended up down two tricks.

The contract was lost by hasty play to the first trick. Observe the difference if declarer simply plays low from dummy and wins in hand with the ace. Now, holding up the king of diamonds won't help. Declarer can force an entry to dummy by leading to the table's queen-jack of spades. As a result, the defenders collect only one spade and one diamond, and declarer romps home with two overtricks. Making the right play at trick one swings four tricks!

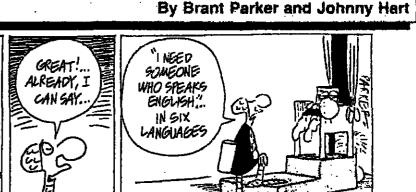

HOW ARE YOUR BERLITZ LESSONS

COMING ALONG, RODNEY?

Grounded Alan Dickens of Chelsea is squeezed out of the action by Arsenal's Tony Adams (left) and Kevin

Richardson (Reuter wirephoto)

SOMEONE WHO SPEAKS ENGLISH! IN SIX LANGUAGES

HEY, WHOSTHE HE'S ONE OF THOSE NEW GUY ON THE BODY BUILDERS. BEACH?

By Johnny Hart KIND OF OVERDID IT ON THE ANTENNAE, I'D SAY.

YOUR STARS

Aries (March 20 - April 18)

You will be better able to make up your mind. Make sure you do not spend so much that it worries you. Try to use just a little more commonsense. Be moderate.

Avoid trying to do what is to all intents and purposes impossible.

You will be somewhat more vuinlittle more faith in yourself without being over-confident. Be generous.

Gemini (May 20 - June 20) A good idea will help you to deal with a problem that has suddenly cropped up. You should not try to do more than one thing at a time. You will not succeed in getting something for nothing. Be reliable.

Cancer (June 21 - July 21)

You should not try to avoid the responsibility for your actions. Make sure you do not ignore a new development. Do not rely on others doing exactly what you would wish them to do. Be polite.

Leo (July 22 - Aug 21)

You should be prepared to face up to the consequences of your actions. Do not expect others to put yours before their interests. Do not neglect a small infection. Be more

You will have some unusual problems but also the resources to deal with them. You will feel like doing something different, but you must not forget your chores. You still have a lot to learn. Be attentive

Libra (Sept 22 - Oct. 22)

You will be in good form but too inclined to act on the spur of the moment. You will see more clearly what is ahead of you. You should restrain a tendency to overreact. Be Scorpic (Oct 23 - Nov. 21) You will be able to make a few changes for the better. Your lucky numbers are 2 and 35. You will have to make several attempts before you hit upon the right solution. Do not seek to rest on your

You will be better able to hus band your resources. Make sure you do not get into a mess - if you do it will slow down everything. Do not permit yourself to be distract-

You will find it rather difficult to concentrate but must make every effort to do so. Try to avoid doing anything you are not quite sure about. If others do not treat you fairly try to take it in your stride. Be

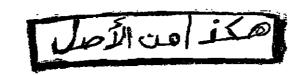

You will discover how better to do something you have to do all the time. Try to have a good laugh at yourself. And do not regret what might have been - too late for that, Be tactful.

Make sure you get enough none too violent exercise. Be considerate.

"Whaddyer mean, 'Don't get mad at him'? He bought a diamond necklace for his girlfriend with my credit card!"

Answer to previous puzzle:

Shammal finishes in second place

Red Viking sails to victory

RED VIKING in her first race of 1989, put together the right combination of tactics and crew skill to comprehensively beat all opposition and win the 1989 UASC Maritime Race on Friday. She claimed line honours and first position on corrected

The race was sailed in near perfect conditions. Steady 6-10 knot northerly winds and calm seas gave all yachts the chance to perform well. The course was set as an eight-leg triangle-sausagetriangle with a specified threehour time limit.

A fleet of nine boats went out in front of the Shaab Marina to begin pre-start manoeuvers. The race started at 10.00 am; Shammal got herself into an excellent position and crossed the line beating towards the windward mark with high boat speed. Red Viking and Good Kompany were in close pursuit.

The majority of the fleet preferred to move offshore on a port tack. Red Viking and Shammal chose to take an inshore line and were rewarded by closing on the mark first. Danat made up good time to just nudge out Shammal at the mark. Viking, under Skipper John Waters, established a big lead and raced to the wing under spinnaker.

With Viking powering towards ODM (start line) the battle for second was close as Shammal, Gambit and Danat

Red Viking (left) and Danat fly their spinnakers. (Photos by rounded wing together. The for-mer two boats gybed their spin-nakers and sailed off down the shy reach leg.

Why Not overtook Good Kompany on the second leg and round wing just in front Both these boats were sailing good races, being in close quarters to their bigger sisters. Magic Flute and Whispering were battling it out at the rear of the field.

Unfortunately, Red Viking misinterpreted the pre-race briefing and sailed the fourth leg toward the wing mark instead of the wind mark. The fight for first place was now between Gambit and Danat which rounded the wind-mark first and headed back to ODM. Viking staged an excellent recovery and rounded third. This leg was another spin-naker run; Gambit rounded first then Danat and Red Viking. The race was now down to the final triangle — Viking tacked towards the windward mark on her preferred inshore line. Gambit and Danat went offshore only to find Viking's tactics once again triumphed. Incredibly, she rounded the mark about 2 minutes in front of Gambit. Shammal was closing on Danat and Why Not and Good Kompany supremacy a few minutes further

Red Viking rounded wing with a big lead and decided to sail the final leg under Genoa. Gambit gybed her spinnaker and made a final effort for line honours. She managed to almost draw level with Viking but in the end failed by 44 seconds as Viking crossed the line victorious, knowing she had completely outclassed the opposition. About a minute further back, Shammal and Danat fought a brilliant dual for third place; Shammal under spinnaker just managed to sail sufficiently high to slide over the line with Danat's bow threatening her transom. Fourth to cross the line about five minutes later was Why Not. Good Kompany finished two minutes further affield.

The corrected time results after factoring in the handicap numbers were as follows: 1. Red

Viking 2. Shammal. 3. Why Not 4. Gambit 5. Good Kompany Kosa officials yesterday than-ked the UASC for sponsoring its 1989 Maritime Race and for generally supporting the sport of sailing in Kuwait.

Next week is a lay day as far as racing is concerned but the majority of the Kosa fleet are intending to sail to Messilah where it will anchor offshore to picnic and enjoy the Windsurfing Regatta.

Shammal on her way to second place

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 1, (Reuter): Third seeded Brad Gilbert of the United States and unseeded Anders

Jarryd of Sweden both came from behind yesterday to reach the singles final of the $415,000 San Francisco

Gilbert beat unseeded New

Zealander Kelly Evernden, conqueror of second seed Michael

Chang on Friday, 4-6 6-1 7-6 and

Jarryd upset fifth seeded American Kevin Curren, 3-6 7-6 7-5 to reach

Gilbert will be making his seventh appearance in a final this eyar. He has won four titles in 1989, including three in a row in August, a feat which has propelled him to a career high

Gilbert and Evernden stayed even in the first set until 4-4 when Gilbert played a loose service game as the New Zealander used his fierce groundstrokes to snatch the break.

At 5-4, Evernden served out the first set, winning it 6-4 with an overhead smash. Gibert took the early break to lead 2-0 in the second set as the New Zealander began to crum-ranking of sixth in the world.

Grand Prix tournament.

Jarryd and Gilbert

fight back for wins

had a lot of good serves on the big points," Gilbert said.

not a factor later in the match.

attributing Gilbert's victory to his serve. "He served big the whole match," Evernden said. "Every time he got to deuce, he just banged in a

Jarryd also played with confidence to upset Curren in two hours and 37 minutes. Jarryd twice allowed leads to slip away before clinching the

The Swede, who is struggling to regain the singles form that took him to as high as fifth in the world in 1985

after a semifinal finish at Wim-bledon, began shakily, dropping serve in the first game of the match.

"Evernden said his sickness was

Cobb takes Tennessee to victory over Auburn NEW YORK, Oct 1, (AP): One year ago, Reggie Cobb had the worst day of his college rushing career against Auburn. Yesterday, he had his best, leading 12th-ranked Tennessee to a 21-14 victory over the fourth-ranked Tigers.

Cobb, held to 12 yards rushing in a loss to Auburn last year, ran for a career-high 225 yards, including a 79-yard touchdown run. He is the first back to hit the 100-yard mark against Auburn in 25 regular season games.

"I don't think people are yet giving us credit for being a good team." Cobb said, "but each game we should be convincing

Pittsburgh 31 Pittsburgh's Ed Frazier kicked a 42-yard field goal as time expired to cap a 22-point comeback in the last 9:09.

No. 11 Southern Cal 18, No. 19 Washington St. 17

Freshman Todd Marinovich passed to Gary Wellman for a 2point conversion with four seconds left, lifting Southern Cal over Washington State in the Pacific-10. The visiting Trojans (3-1) mounted an 18-play, 91-yard scoring drive in the last 3:31, capped by Marinovich's 2-yard touchdown pass to tailback Ricky Ervins.

No. 13 Alabama 20, Vanderbilt

Cornerback John Mangum halted a Vanderbilt rally with an interception at the 16-yard line, and the Crimson Tide held off the Commodores in the Southeastern Conference. Alabama (3-0) led 20-0 before Vanderbilt began its comeback.

No. 14 Houston 65, Temple 7 Houston quarterback Andre Ware, directing college football's highest scoring offense, threw yesterday for a Southwest Conference record seven touchdowns - three to Emmanuel

it of the second

Results

1. Notre Dame (4-0-0) beat Purdue 40-7. neat-Oct 7 at Stanford: 2. Miami, Florida. (4-0-0)-beat-Michigan State 28-20, next nexi: Oct 7 at Stanford: 2. Miami, Florida. (4-0-0): best Michigan State 28-20, next: Oct 7 vs Cincunsati.
3. Nebraska (4-0-0-) beat Oregon State 35-7, next: Oct 7 vs Cancinnati; 3. Nebraska (4-0-0) beat Oregon State 35-7, next: Oct 7 vs Kansas State, 4. Auburn (2-1-0) lost to No. 12 Tennessee 21-14, next: Oct 7 at Kentucky; 5. Colorado (4-0-0) beat Maryland (2-1-0) beat Maryland (1-1-0) lost to Duke 21-17, next: Oct 7 vs Virginia; 8. Arkansas (2-0-0) vs Texas-El Paso, next: Oct 7 vs Virginia Tech; 10. Pittsburgh, heat: Oct 7 vs Virginia Tech; 10. Pittsburgh (3-0-0) at No. 9 West Virginia, next: Oct 7 vs Temple; 11. Southern California (3-1-0) beat No. 19 Washington; 12. Tennessee (4-0-0) beat No. 4 Auburn 21-14, next: Oct 7 vs No. 23 Goorgia; (3. Alabams (3-0-0) beat Vanderbill 20-14, next: Oct 7 vs Middle Tennessee; 10. Okishoma (3-1-0) beat Ramas 45-0, next: Oct 7 vs No. 25 Florida State; 19. Washington State (2-1-0) did not play, next: Oct 7 vs No. 25 Florida State; 19. Washington State (4-1-0) lost to No. 11 Southern California; 21-17, next: Oct 7 vs No. 25 Florida State; 19. Washington State (4-1-0) lost to No. 11 Southern California; 22. Texas A-and-M (2-1-3) vs Southern Mississippi, next: Oct 7 at Ohio State; 21. Washington (2-2-0) beat Colorado State (4-2-1) did not play, next: Oct 7 at Texas Tech; 23. Georgia 21-18 No. 12 Tennessee; 24. Air Force (5-0-0) beat Colorado State (4-2-1) did not play, next: Oct 7 at Texas Tech; 23. Georgia 21-18 No. 12 Tennessee; 24. Air Force (5-0-0) beat Colorado State (4-2-1) did not play, next: Oct 7 at No. 25 Florida State; 19. Washington (2-2-0) did not play, next: Oct 7 at Oct 20 did not play, next: Oct 7 at No. 25 Florida State; 19. Washington (2-2-0) did not play, next: Oct 7 at No. 25 Florida State (2-2-0) did not play, next: Oct 7 at No. 25 Florida State (2-2-0) did not play, next: Oct 7 at No. 27 Texas A-and-M

Kasparov equals Fischer's record

TILBURG, Netherland, Oct 1, (AP):World champion Garry Kasparov of the Soviet Union equalled the rating record of his US predecessor Bobby Fischer when he defeated Icelandic grandmaster Johann Hjartarson in the penultimate round of the Fide ranking list will be publi-13th annual Interpolis Chess

Tournament yesterday. The victory, in 31 moves with the black pieces, boosted Kasparov's score to 11 points for an unbeaten tournament performance of nine wins and four draws so far. The magnificent result in the exceptionally Interpolis event means that the world champion, now rated at 2775 ELO-points on the international ranking list of the World Chess Federation (Fide), has bridged the ten-point gap separating him from the all-time high of 2785 ELO-points with which Fischer went into his famous Reykjavík title match against then world champion

Belgian wins

KILKENNY, Ireland, Oct 1,

(AP): Belgian cyclist Eric Vanderaerden sprinted to his third successive stage victory yesterday and increased his overall lead to 16 seconds in the Tour of Vanderaerden, a member of the Panasonic team, finished the 193-kilometre (120-mile) fourth stage from Cork to Kilkenny in 4 hours, 55 minutes, 1 second to edge compatriot Johan Museeum Another Belgian,

Etienne de Wilde, finished third,

and Ireland's Sean Kelly was ireiand.

amateurs. Boris Spassky of the Soviet Experts were less certain, as Union in 1972.

With one more round to go in the Tilburg chess spectacular, Kasparov is certain to break Fischer's record, provided of course, that he does not lose precious rating points in another tournament between now and January 1, 1990, when the new

The world champion himself felt there was little doubt he would manage to finish the Tilburg event with yet another victory to set a new rating mark of 2795 ELO-points. In tomorrows final round he will be pitted with white against Simen Agdestein, the 22-yearold Norwegian grandmaster who combines chess with a career as a soccer player, and who has qualified for his country's national soccer squad eight

"You can chalk that one up as a win. said Kasparov confide tly. "I never lose against said in a telephone interview.

Baskin said that Griffith Joyner's husband, Al Joyner.

the 1984 Olympic triple jump gold medallist, "has photographs of Florence when she was in full stride (in the 1984 Olympics, when she won the silver medal in the 200-metre dash) and publicized photos of her when she was in full stride in 1988."

"From the photos Al has, you can't tell the difference in Florence's makeup from 1984 to 1988, except for her

the 13th-round victory that brought the world champion alongside Fischer left much to be desired from a technical point of Hjartarson had the better play from the opening, a king's Indian, and might have come away with a draw after he wasted his initial advantage halfway through the middlegame. But after Kasparov turned down an offer to sign the peace. Hiartarson lost his nerve, committed a serious blunder at his 24th and was forced to surrender nine moves later in a hopeless position. Dutch grandmaster Genna Sosonko called it "the worst game of the tournament so far" and said Agdestine "might prove a tougher nut to crack than the world champion is expecting."

That may be true, but Adgestein's performance in yesterdays round was not one of his best

Playing white in a nimzoindian against Holland's Jeroen Piket, the Norwegian missed several opportunities to upper hand and then ended up in a lost position when he fumbled

Flo-Jo's manager slams press report hairdo, which is different," Baskin said. "Her legs and

NEW YORK, Oct 1, (AP): The business adviser for Florence Griffith Joyner questioned yesterday how the Germans could know that the thigh muscles of the triple Olympic gold medallist had expanded two inches (5 centimetres) in one year, as suggested in the magazine Stern.

"Since when have the East Germans ever been close enough to Flo-Jo to measure her thighs?" Gordon Baskin said in a releabone interview. body are virtually the same." On Thursday, Stern, a West German magazine, said that an East German report on the 1988 Seoul Olympics alleged there was evidence that Griffith Joyner used performance-enhancing drugs.

A week earlier, Stern published allegations by Darrell Robinson, the 1986 US champion at 400 metres, that he purchased growth hormones from Griffith Joyner.

Griffith Joyner, winner of 1988 Olympic golds in the 100-metre and 200-metre dashes and the 400-metre relay, denied Robinson's allegations and called him "a comput-

"Stern is now running to hide behind the East Germans with secret reports," Baskin said.

Navratilova outclasses Nagelsen

HAVERFORD, Pennsylvania, Oct i, (AP): Martina Navratilova defeated Betsy Nagelsen 6-2, 7-5 yesterday to win her third straight Kiss 100 Invitational.

Nagelson, who lost to Vavratilova in last year's final defeated Chris Evert in the semifinals Friday night. "I've learned this year not to look ahead, not to anticipate playing someone, and then having to play someone else." Navratilova said of the spoiled plans for a match with

Evert. "Obviously playing Chris it would be easier to get up for." After three consecutive service breaks to start the match, Navratilova never again allowed Nagelsen a break

In the second set, Nagelsen held serve until the ilth game, when Navratilova took command with a backhand passing shot, followed by a strong return which forced an error.

ble, later showing signs of nausea. After dropping the set 6-1, Evernden left the court. "I threw up," he explained later, attributing the problem to a Turkey sandwich. It took Evernden just a couple of games to recover in the third set and he matched Gilbert's serve and volley attack with booming passing shots, particularly off the backhand side, his strongest stroke. At 5-4, Evernden came close to breaking Gilbert, reaching deuce on the American's serve. But again, Gil-bert was rescued from danger by his big first serve and both players held serve until 6-6 and the nebreak.

Breaks were exchanged early in the tiebreak but Gilbert's competitive spirit prevailed as he forged ahead 5-2 after breaking Evernden for a 3-1 lead with a backhand pass. At 6-2, Gilbert broke Evernden again, taking the match with a forehand cross-

"I won the match early in the second set when I adjusted my game a bit," Gilbert said. "I decided I needed to get in sooner.

Gilbert said his serve was also important at the crucial moments. "I

Separatists toughen stance ahead of Games

1992 Olympics could be in jeopardy

BARCELONA, Spain, Oct 1, (Reuter): "Freedom for Catalunya," read the banner, in English, unfurled by young Catalan separatists at the start of last month's athletics World Cup in Barcelona's spanking new Olympic stadium.

Adding insult to injury on a day which was something of a trial run for the opening of the 1992 Olympic Games, they whistled in protest at guest of honour King Juan Carlos. A few days later, two civil guardsmen were injured in a bomb attack by the small separatist group Terra Lliure. Rumblings of separatism in Catalonia? Spain's highly prosperous northeastern region has its own language culture and customs and limited autonomy from Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez' socialist central government. "Almost no-one is looking for independence," Socialist leader Ramon Obiols told Reuters.

There is a little violence but I don't think I'm minimalising the problem if I say I don't think things are going in that direc-As happened in the Basque country, Catalan nationalism fell victim to centralism during Francisco Franco's 40-year dictatorship. In 1979, four-years after Franco's death, the region was granted local government. Catalonia recovered its national identity, in

Samaranch: worried politics getting in way of organmisation particular the hitherto repressed Catalan language, and the ren-aissance—combined with legendary Catalan pragmatism seemed to prevent the rise of a violent separatism like that of the Basque country.

While nationalism is a key issue in Catalan politics, few politicians and observers see separatism as a force which could either jeopardise the Olympics or in the long-term threaten the region's political or economic erability.

But the recent spate of separatist activities provided a new battleground in the continuous warof words between the conservative nationalists who run the regional government, or Generalitat, and the Socialists in Barcelona's city hall. Barcelona Mayor Pasqual

Maragall, a socialist, is at logger-heads with Generalitat President Jordi Pujol and his centre-right coalition Convergencia I Unio (CIU) over Olympic prepara-

So much so that International Olympic Committee President Juan Antonio Samaranch, worried politics were getting in the way of organisation, has urged the two sides "to drop rancour and join forces to work for Barcejona '92."

ensured nationalism would be a leading campaign issue for the October 29 general elections.

Maragall said Pujol's continuous gripes against the central government were in danger of turning a healthy sense of identity among Catalans into mands for independence. Rubbish, said the CIU, Catalonia is just demanding its Generalitat for the past nine years, calls Catalonia a country of six million, turns all issues into Catalan issues and makes constant demands for more autonomy and more money from

Pujol, who has headed the

He complains there is a "ceiling on self-government," that Madrid has failed to develop a statute of autonomy which was agreed merely as a starting point and has not provided the money Catalonia deserves as the country's richest region.

The Socialists reply that while the Generalitat grumbles, it sometimes spends money on unnecessary items.

At present, Pujol's line seems to absorb nationalist feeling and grass-roots support for separatism is minimal. Olympics.

Industrialised early and a leading beneficiary of Spain's 1960 tourist boom, Catalonia has six per cent of Spain's land area and 15 per cent of its population but cent of the country's industrial product. Terra Lliure (Free Land) has carried out more than 100 small bomb attacks in the last five years but not normally targetted people. An elderly woman was killed by mistake in 1987. But last week the group pled-ged to campaign up to the Olym-pics, which they see as an impositoughen their stance.

"Terra Lliure will attack any Olympic target," said Jordi Cort, a member of Terra Lliure serving an open prison sentence in connection with the group's activities.

tion of the Spanish state on Catalonia, and also seemed to

Cort told the Spanish magazine Cambio 16 he believed the attack on the civil guardsmen was 'ideal, 'adding' at least one of the guardsmen should have

Crida a La Solidaritat, a nonviolent separatist group, said it would step up activities in the run-up to 1992.

But a spokesman for the Madrid government in Bar-celona said Terra Liure has only four or five active members, with 12 in prison, and as such cannot be seen as a serious threat to the

They tended to use bombs "any chemistry student could put together," and their tactics were scored as amateur by the Basque separatist group ETA.

Federation Cup starts

TOKYO, Oct 1, (AP): Eight women's tennis teams - Poland, Indonesia. Yugoslavia, South Korea, Mexico, Thailand and the Philippines - won preliminary round matches today and advanced into the first round of the The first round starts tomorrow on the hard courts of the Ariake Colosseum.

A field of 40 nations, including those eliminated today, was competing for the championship in the women's version of the Davis Cup.

Indonesia won two singles and one double for a 3-0 victory over Malaysia. Other 3-0 winners were Yugoslavia over Jamaica, Poland over Singapore and

In matches decided 2-1, Mexico beat Taiwan, winning two singles and losing the doubles, China beat Luxembourg, winning one singles and the doubles; the Philippines beat Ireland, winning two singles, and Thailand beat Make, winning one singles and the doubles.

In tomorrow's first round matches, second-seeded Spain meets France, the sixth-seeded Soviet Union faces Switzerland, Italy plays New Zealand, Bulgaria takes on South Korea, Canada meets Brazil, Australia plays China, Argentina plays the Philippines and the Netherlands meets Yugoslavia.

First round matches start Tuesday for the top-seeded United States, led by Martina Navratilova, ranked No. 2 in the world, defending champion Czechoslovakia, and West Germany, headed by Steffi Graf, No. 1 in the world.

The Americans, also including Chris Evert, Zina Garrison and Pam Shriver, face Greece in the first round.

Czechoslovakia plays Belgium and West Germany meets Finland.

Blue Jays win American League East title

TORONTO, Oct 1, (Reuter): The Toronto Blue Jays came back from a 3-1 delicit with three runs in the eighth inning to beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 and win Major League baseball's American League East division yes-

Toronto, which also won the division in 1985. scored their last three runs on singles by ex-New York met Mookie Wilson and Fred McGriff and a sacrifice fly by George Bell, his 104th run batted in this year. Bell also drove in a run in the first inning.

Baltimore, which finished last in the division last year, took a 3-1 lead with two runs in the third inning on a double by Cal Ripken and a single by Randy Milligan. The Orioles added another run in the fourth inning.

Pitcher Dave Johnson allowed the Jays only two hits through seven innings yesterday. But when he fell behind in the count to Nelson Liriano in the eighth inning, Baltimore manager Frank Robinson replaced him with Kevin

Hickey, who walked Liriano and then walked Manny Lee. Hickey was replaced by Mark Williamson who surrendered the tying and winning runs. Williamson, now 10-5 for the season, was the Results Natural League Houston Astros

Chicago Cubs
Chicago Cubs
Philadelphia Phillies
O
Montreal Expos

New York Mets
San Diego Padres
1-Los Angeles Dodgers
2-Los Angeles Dodgers

Toronto Bine Jays
Kansas City Royals
Chicago White Sox
New York Yankoes
Texas Rangers
Seattle Mariners

SPORTS BRIEFS

Grand Prix

BORDEAUX, France, Oct 1, (Reuter): Result of the final of the $255,000 Bordeaux Men's Tennis Grand Prix (prefix number denotes seeding): 1-Ivan Lendl (Cze-choslovakia) beat 2-Emilio Sanchez (Spain) 6-2 6-2

Sicilian tennis

PALERMO, Sicily, Oct 1, (Reuter): Seventh seed Guillermo Perez-Rol-dan of Argentina won the $250,000 Sicilian International men's Grand Prix tennis tournament today beating fourth seed Paolo Cane of Italy 6-16-4 in the final.

Tallahassee golf

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct 1. (Reuter): Bill Britton shot a nine-under-par 63 for a three-round total of 200 to grab a four-shot lead after the third round of the $750,000 Tallahassee Classic golf tournament yes-

US triumph

AMPURIA BRAVA, Spain, Oct 1, (AP): The United States fought off a strong challenge from the Soviet Union yesterday to retain the title in the eight-way free fall sequential category at the eighth World Para-chute Relative Work Champion-

Volleyball title

CURITIBA, Brazil, Oct I, (AP): Brazil railied to beat Argentina in an epic battle yesterday to win the gold medal at the South American Volleyball Championships. The marathon match finally ended three hours after it began, with Brazil coming out ahead, 15-11, 12-15, 13-15, 15-13 and 15-10.

Woodbridge wins

BRISBANE, Australia, Oct 1, (AP): Australian Todd Woodbridge, a junior Wimbledon finalist this year, defeated American Scott Warner 7-6, 6-3 today in the final of a warmup tennis tournament for next week's $180,000 Queensland Open.

Cycle race

BOLOGNA, Italy, Oct 1, (UPI): Dimitri Konichev demonstrated the steady progress of Soviet cyclists in Italy yesterday by winning the 72nd Tour of Emilia cycle race, a one-day "autumn classic" staged over 231 kilometres through the Appenine

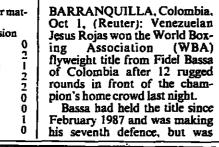

40 arrested

BLACKPOOL, England, Oct 1, (AP): Police arrested 40 soccer fans who harassed residents and vandalised two pubs yesterday in this resort town along the Irish Sea on the western coast of England, officials said. The arrests came mostly before an English Soccer League game bet-ween Blackpool and Birmingham.

Italian soccer

ROME, Oct 1, (Reuter): Soccer matches today:

	alia	ın First Division
Atlanta	l	Cesena	(
Bari	2	Ascoli	:
Bologna	I	Cremonese
Fiorentina	1	Udinese	:
Genoa	ì	Sampdoria	:
Verona	0	Lecce	(
Internazionale	3	Roma	(
Lazio	I	Juventus	i
Napoli	3	AC Milan	(

Senna wins Grand Prix

Prost finishes in third place

JEREZ, Spain, Oct 1, (Agencies): Brazilian world champion Ayrton Senna kept alive his hopes of retaining his title when he convincingly won the Spanish Grand Prix motor race today. Senna, in a McLaren, drove a faultless race from the lights to the chequered flag to claim his 20th career victory and collect the nine points he required to retain any chance of overhauling his French teammate Alain Prost in the championship.

Austrian Gerhard Berger was second in the only Ferrari permitted to enter the race following Briton Nigel Mansell's ban last

Berger came home 27 seconds behind Senna who broke the race lap record for the circuit on his way to victory.

Prost was third, adding one more point to his championship tally, to leave Senna needing to win both the remaining races in Japan and Australia to clinch the Frenchman Jean Alesi was fourth in a Tyrrell, ahead of Italian Riccardo Patrese in a Williams and Philippe Alliot of France who was sixth in a Lola.

The win was Senna's sixth this season and leaves him with 60 points in the championship. Prost has 76 points in the title race which only permits drivers to count their 11 best scoring

Senna: keeps title hopes alive

The Brazilian still has to win both the two remaining races in Japan and Australia to outsprint Prost to the world championship checkered flag. Senna got a clean start and went ahead of Berger's red racer going into the first bend. And although the lanky Austrian virtually tailgated the McLaren-Honda for the first 30 laps, Senna never looked anything but commanding on the way to his 20th Grand Prix vic-

"Obviously I'm very happy, although I had a few gearbox and break problems ... I got the win, that was the goal," said Senna after the race.

France's Jean Alesi made an impressive showing and brought his Tyrrell-Ford home into fourth, ahead of Riccardo Patrese's Williams-Renault.

The Lola-Lamborghini team secured its first ever championship point with Frenchman Philippe Alliot's sixth place. Results

Results of Sunday's Spanish Grand Prix motor race at the 4.22 kilometre (2.62 mile) Jerez circuit. the 14th race of the 16-event 1989

Race distance 73 laps (307.914 I. Ayrton Senna (Brazil) McLaren (winning time -- one hour 47 minutes 18.246 seconds, average speed 171.374 kph)

2. Gerhard Berger (Austria) Ferrari 27.051 seconds behind 3. Alain Prost (France) McLaren

4. Jean Alesi (France) Tyrrell one lap 5. Riccardo Patrese (Italy) Williams one lap 6. Philippe Alliot (France) Lolz one 7. Andrea de Cesaris (Italy) Dallara

8. Nelson Piquet (Brazil) Lotus two 9. Derek Warwick (Britain) Arrows two laps 10. Jonathan Palmer (Britain) Tyrrell two laps
Did not finish:

11. Eddie Cheever (US) Arrows 12 12. Emanuele Pirro (Italy) Benetton

14 laps 13. Alex Caffi (Italy) Dallara 18 laps 14. Martin Brundle (Britzin) Brabham 22 laps 15. Mauricio Gugelmin (Brazil)

March 26 laps
14. Luis Sala (Spain) Minardi 26 laps 17. Thierry Boutsen (Belgium) Williams 33 laps 18. Olivier Grouillard (France)

Ligier 39 laps 19. Pierluigi Martini (Italy) Minardi 20. Ivan Capelli (Italy) March 50 laps 21. J.J. Lehto (Finland) Onyx 53 laps 22. Piercario Ghinzani (Italy) Osella

23. Alessandro Nannini (Italy) Benetton 59 laps 24. Stefano Modena (Italy) Brabham 62 laps 25. Nicola Larini (Italy) Osella 67

laps
Did not start (failed to complete one lap): 26. Satoru Nakajima (Japan) Lotus Fastest Lap: Senna 1:25.779 record (average speed 177.022 kph)

Griffin triumphs

Eric Griffin (left) of the United States beat Rogefilo Marcello of Cuba to win the final of the light flywelph category at the World Amateur-Boxing Championships in Moscow on Saturday. (Reuter wirephoto)

Local Rugby

THIS weekend saw the second of Kuwait Nomads Rugby F.C. domestic fixtures of the season. The match was billed as a trial game and this was certainly reflected in the commitment and agres-

The Blues opened the scoring with a Richard Elliss penalty. Within two minutes the Whites had replied. A solid scrum saw Steve Hill break blind, pass on to Kelly and then to Harrison who dummied the cover defence and drove ten yards for his first try of the season. An Adams conversion gave the Whites a 6-3 lead.

The battle in the forwards was certainly intense and it was pleasing for captain Hill to see plenty of well produced second phase ball for the backs. Unfortunately, Elliss favoured the boot a little too often which gave his danger men, Ball and Laurent Sella, little chance to shine.

The Blues did manage to regain the lead although White mistakes were mainly to blame. A poor pass from Kelly was allowed to cause havor. No Blue player fell on the ball, poor recovery passes were thrown and it was left to Tony Sole to cap an impressive first half with a well-stolen try Elliss added the conversion to give the Blues a 9-6 lead.

Latest in Casual wear and Beachwear Fashion

New players to the Nomads used the trial to full effect. Gary Hill won some good ball in the line-out and winger Alau Wild had some fine attacking strikes. The best run of the day produced the winthe ball just inside the Blue's half. He outpared his opponent and when confronted with two covering defenders produced an aggressive drive which took. him through two tackles and under the posts for the best try of the day. Adams' conversion took the Whites into a 12-9 winning lead.

On this showing the selection committee will have plenty of talent to choose from for the forthcoming internationals. The established players are certainly not guaranteed a first team place Preparations now intensify as in 3 weeks Kuwait will be sending two full teams to compete in the Bahrain XV's, a tournament the Nomads have won for the last two years, and will be aiming for a unique three in a row.

The day was tinged with sadness as KNRFC said goodbye to Hugh MacArre and Paul Tyrell, two long serving members of the club. The Nomadiwish them all the best in the future.

ST ANDREWS, Scotland, Oct 1, (Reuter): Mark Calcavecchia, Tom Kite and Curtis Strange earned the United States the Dunhill Cup nations golf title for the first time in five attempts by beating Japan today.

Calcavecchia's second victory of the day over Hajime Meshiai in the final, which for the first time comprised six matches, proved to be the clinching point and the top-seeded Americans went on to win by 3-1/2 to 2-1/2.

Bassa had held the title since

They had taken a commanding 2-1/2 to 1/2 points lead in the three morning matches and needed just one point from the second set of three contests.

beaten on points by a tough, resilient Rojas who recorded his 18th victory in 20 professional fights that also included one

The fight, in stifling heat at an partisan spectators, began dramatically when Bassa slipped

Calcavecchia, the British Open champion, carded superb rounds of 67 and 66 over the renowned par-72 old course, beating Meshiai by one shot in the morning and by seven in the afternoon. But he managed to irritate a

Rojas grabs WBA title

section of the crowd at the 316yard 12th in the afternoon when he drove the huge double green which that hole shares with the

Finding himself 70 yards from the pin, Calcavecchia elected to chip rather than putt and took a large divot out of the green to the displeasure of watching spec-

"I just couldn't resist it," he

Mota triumphs

TOKYO, Oct 1, (AP): Rosa Mota of Portugal, the 1988 Seoul Olympic women's marathongold medalist, won a 10kilometre race in a suburban Tokyo park today.

Racing against five other indoor stadium in front of 12,000 foreign runners and more than 1,000 Japanese in the first Tokyo ladies mini-marathon, the 31year-old Mota finished in 32 minutes, 31 seconds.

END OF SEASON PRICES UNTIL 15/10/1989 Wateniya Building, Lower Level, Salmiya Opposite the Zahra Complex

Federation Cup

Steffi Graf of West Germany takes pictures with a Japanese made camera during the opening ceremony of the Federation Cup, women's team tennis championship, yesterday. Graf will appear in the first round tomorrow. (Reuter wirephoto). See Page 19

in the opening seconds and Rojas hit him when he was still kneeling. Dunhill bridge tourney

AS the name suggests, Dunhill started bridge competitions as an experiment in 1984 at the Indian Arts Circle at Sahniya. Most bridge players, being smokers, welcomed the idea of improving their game with the help of Dunhill. The period of the completion was 13 weeks.

The success of this competition made it an annual event and Dunhill started sponsoring this competition every year. Due to its popularity, the period of the competition was increased from 13 weeks to 17 weeks.

The company presents attractive prizes to the first five best players with lots of other prizes to most of the participants.

Between 1985 and 1987, the competitions were held at the Messilah Beach Hotel, but in 1988 the venue was shifted to the Hilton Hotel (now known as the Kuwait International Hotel).

The winners of the Dunhill trophy were: 1984 — Mr Ravinda Sapre 1985 — Mr Mukherjee & Dr Reddy

1986 --- Dr Szul

1987 — Mrs Pereira & Mr D'Souza

1988 — Mr Mamdoo Sabri

The tournament director in 1985 was Dr Parikh and subsequently Mr Ravindra Sapre. Mr Joseph Mathew has represented Dunhill during all the Dunhill are very happy to anounce that they will be sponsoring the tour-

The tournament will be held at the Messilah Beach Hotel from today at 7.45 pm and will continue every Monday for the next 17 weeks at the same time.

SAN JOSE, Calif., Oct 1, (Reuter): Beth Daniel extended her lead over Pat Bradley to three strokes by shooting a five-underpar 67 yesterday in the $325,000 San Jose Classic golf tournament.

Daniel started the day with a one-stroke lead over Bradley. who matched Daniel with a birdie on the first hole and collected another on the third. Daniel answered with four more birdies as Bradley battled a temperature and tremors which forced her to leave the course immediately after her finish and news conference.

"I feel fortunate to have had the good putting round I had today," said Daniel, who is 12 under par for the tournament. The greens are very damp and heel prints are pretty bad out there ... Pat and I have been paired together a lot lately and we seem to play well when that happens. I don't feel in command with a three-shot lead because there are a lot of birdies on this golf course.

Lenore Rittenhouse is in third after a second round of 69.

Just . . . Some of the finest brands of clothes lines.

ARAB @ TIMES

Published by: Dar Al-Seyassah Editor-in-Chief

Editorial Office: Airport Road, Shuwaikt. P.O. Box 2270. 13023 Safat, Kuwait.

Telex: 22332 KT

Advertising: 4816326/7

Annual Subscriptions: Individuals: kD 451. Companies and Official Departments KD 757- (Armaft charges extra tor overseas subscribers) Teb 4818149, 4831348

